CAPTURE ESCAPED CONVICTS

ANTI-ROOSEVELT DEMOS WILL HOLD BALANCE POWER

Band Combining With Republicans to Kill Court Bill More Influential.

WASHINGTON, (AP). Election losses which cut deeply into President Roosevelt's numerical majority in congress may give the balance of power on occasion to the small band of anti-administration democrats.

This group combined with republicans in 1937 to kill the president's court bill. A similar coalition in the house defeated the first wage-hour and the government reorganization program, both of which passed the senate by scant margins.

In the 1939 session the democrats will have a majority of about 20 senate seats and more than 40 house seats, but several times in the last two years fully that number of democrats has voted against the administration.

The house democrats will also lose the support of several progressive and farmer-labor members who frequently voted with them but who were defeated for re-election by republicans

Some of the anti-Roosevelt democrats in both chambers lost Tuesday along with administration supporters, but informal surveys showed that their strength, coupled with the increased republican forces, still could be an even more vital factor than heretofore.

Most politicians here agreed, for instance, that the government reorganization bill shelved by the house last year could not be enacted in the same form in 1939. Altho President Roosevelt is expected to resubmit the program, it may be changed sufficiently to meet more general congressional approval.

Rebellious democrats also may have considerable to say on the farm situation, on taxes, and on proposals to amend the Wagner labor act and social security laws. Their voices will be heard not only on the senate and house floors, but in committee rooms, where legislation is shaped for presentation to congress.

Republicans, too, will have a greater voice in the all-important committee debates, for membership is apportioned according to congressional strength. The republican ratio will grow particularly in the house.

For several sessions, the ratio of democrats to republicans on major house committees has been about 18 to 7. The new line-up may mean that proportion will be changed to 15 to 10 or 14 to 11.

FEARS SPREAD OF JAPAN

Lloyd George Warns They Will March to Burma.

LONDON. (AP). David Lloyd George, war time premier, characterizing Britain's foreign policy as always "complete surrender to the dictators," said Wednesday that as a result Japan intended to march to the boundaries of Burma.

"For the first time, he told the house of commons, "they are right on our frontier, a great, aggressive, military empire commanding millions of soldiers.

"It is a very grave event for the British empire. We have troubles in India which have revealed discontent with the concessions made and there are demands for greater concessions—for independence."

(The Japanese government in a statement Tuesday warned foreign powers of the extension of the zone of hostilities in China to Yunnan province, in the far southwest, bordering British Burma.)

Richard Austen Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, told commons that Britain would not approve Japan's plan to shut western powers out of China by forming a Chinese-Japanese-Manchoukuo economic and political bloc.

SURRENDER IS BLOCKED

Followers of Cedillo Will Not Accede.

MEXICO CITY. (AP). Negotiations for the surrender of Saturnino Cedillo, fallen army general who led a rebellion last May, were blocked because his followers would not surrender with him, the war department announced. Cedillo, former dominant political power in San Luis Potosi state, has been in hiding since his break with the government. Under negotiations carried on thru a physician, Dr. Lopez Salgado, President Cardenas agreed that if Cedillo surrendered he would be permitted to leave Mexico at once. Cedillo was said to be ill of a heart ailment.

He told the county medical association last night more U. S. navy men were victims of motorcycles and automobiles last year than of any disease or ailment.

VOTE FOR COUNTY AGENTS

Antelope Not Reported, Mail Vote Is Awaited.

With returns from but one county lacking, it appeared that 17 Nebraska counties voting upon the question of county tax support for agricultural extension work had carried. Antelope was the only county not reporting. Additional unofficial returns showed that the question carried in Brown, Rock, Cass and Thurston counties, in addition to the 14 reported upon earlier. Cass county voters gave agricultural extension a vote of confidence in keeping county support for the work. The other three have not been on a tax basis.

The mail vote is expected to decide the issue in Stanton, Sherman and Nuckolls counties. In counties where the vote failed, local funds must be raised by subscription or membership to carry on agricultural extension work, if it is to continue.

The Menace of Fascism

BRITISH TO BOOST ARMS EXPENDITURES

To Spend Billion on Planes —Paris Fears March on Lebrun Home.

By the Associated Press.

British Air Secretary Sir Kingsley Wood forecast a 40 percent boost in expenditures for aviation next year in Britain's speed-up of air rearmament. Sir Kingsley told commons air estimates would rise from £120,000,000 to £200,000,000 ($600,000,000 to $1,000,000,000).

Britain's colonial secretary rejected a suggestion that the United States be invited to attend the proposed conference between Arab Jewish leaders over the future of Palestine.

Malcolm MacDonald, secretary for colonies and for dominions, said in the house of commons that the British government was in communication with Egypt, Iraq, Syria, Yemen and Transjordan—Palestine's Arab-inhabited neighbors—about the conference

Prime Minister Chamberlain told commons that Germany's demands for colonies could not be considered "in isolation," indicating any solution must be part of a broader settlement.

Thousands of war veterans gathered in Paris awaiting signals for Armistice day demonstrations favoring a "public safety" government to rebuild France.

Interior Minister Albert Sarraut insisted on strong measures to discourage a threatened march on NAZIS HAIL VOTE IN U. S.

Berlin Paper Sees Rebuff of New Deal's Antifascism.

BERLIN. (Thursday) (AP). Captions such as "Against New Deal" and "Reverse for Roosevelt" headlined reports of U. S. elections in German morning newspapers.

The Berliner Tageblatt said, "A cold wave swept the spring hopes of the new deal."

"To us Germans it is especially interesting that the antifascist war cry injected so ruthlessly and tendentiously into the electoral campaign has collapsed before the traditional instinct of self preservation of the American people."

The paper said the result "may clear the air both in America and abroad."

LA GUARDIA CALLS FOR PROGRESSIVE MEETING

Asks Norris, La Follette and Murphy to Meet to Draft Program.

NEW YORK. (AP) A call for a conference of the nation's progressive political leaders to solidify their forces was sounded by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia. He proposed a meeting in Washington next week. Conceding Tuesday's national election results were "a black eye for the new deal," the mayor, one time republican and now a member of the American labor party, said he believed the damage could easily be repaired if progressives united on a "well-defined, clear, concise" program.

La Guardia said that progressives invited to the conference included Senator La Follette and Norris and Gov. Murphy, Michigan. Murphy was defeated for re-election by the republican resurgence.

"I believe one must be realistic about it and realize that the progressive forces in several of the

CONVICT WANTS OUT OF CUSTODY OF STATE

Says Time He Was Escaped Prisoner Should Not Be Counted.

Attorney for Glen H. Goodman, who is serving a ten year sentence for manslaughter at the penitentiary, submitted and argued Thursday his appeal from the refusal of the Lancaster county district court to release him on a writ of habeas corpus. The plaintiff in error contends that he should have been released Oct. 13, 1937 because of "good time." The state has contended that the plaintiff was absent from custody for a year and three months, and plaintiff denies there is commitment or other authority produced by the state to prove escape.

The appeal of Arthur and Jesse Kochenthal, executors of the estate of Sophia Lehman from the judgment of the district court of Douglas county in which they were awarded only $700 for their services from Aug. 21, 1934 to May, 1937, was argued and submitted to the supreme court Thursday. The executors of the estate had been allowed larger sums for handling the business of the estate but the beneficiaries contended that ordinary handling of real estate did not constitute "special" and extraordinary services, altho the executors pointed out that the unsettled times following 1929 had made the proper handling of the estate extremely difficult

DR. GOEBBELS ORDERS DEMONSTRATIONS STOP

Anti-Jewish Rioting in Germany and Austria Caused Night of Terror.

BERLIN. (UP). Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, has ordered anti-Jewish demonstrations in Germany to cease, it was announced officially.

Goebbels indicated new, official measures against Jews in retaliation for the assassination of a German embassy attache in Paris by a young Polish-German Jew.

Dr. Goebbels said Germany's "further answer to Jewry" would be given thru laws and decrees.

Nazi mobs surged thru the streets of cities and towns thruout the reich and Austria, beginning at midnight and lasting until mid-afternoon, in a systematic campaign of destruction

They were instructed by party officials not to start until midnight so as not to interfere with the celebration of the anniversary of the 1923 Munich beer cellar putsch.

Police made no effort to interfere as the mobs set fire to synagogs, smashed shop windows, demolished furniture and stocks of goods and manhandled Jews. Persons who expressed sympathy for the Jews were maltreated.

Nazi authorities began rounding up Jews thruout Germany and Austria after a night of terror during which mobs roamed the streets of cities and towns, wrecking Jewish shops and setting fire to Jewish synagogs, in vengeance for the fatal shooting of a German embassy secretary at Paris by a 17 year old Jew.

An official news agency dispatch announced that anti-Jewish out-

SEVEN WOUNDED WHEN SEIZED IN NASHVILLE FIGHT

Desperadoes Retaken and Officers Held as Hostages Also Shot.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP). One of the convicts who kidnaped two officials and escaped from the Tennessee penitentiary died of gun wounds, Millard Edmonds of Chattanooga died in the prison hospital where he and the five other prisoners were carried.

Deputy Warden C. C. Woods, seized in his office inside the prison walls, was wounded seriously either by the escaping inmates after they had fled penitentiary grounds in a truck or in a gun battle with officers. Little hope was held for his recovery. The other kidnaped officer also was wounded.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP). Seven desperate convicts who escaped from the state penitentiary after tying up three guards and taking two others along as hostages in a prison truck were recaptured an hour later after all had been seriously wounded.

The two officials taken with the prisoners also were wounded in a gun battle with state, county and city officers in the heart of Nashville and one of the guards left tied at the prison was found to be suffering from serious stab wounds.

M. A. Warren, assistant chief of the state highway patrol, said about 20 officers discovered the prison truck about a mile from the penitentiary and opened fire when the convicts kept going.

"We shot it out with them," he said, "and they stopped only when we shot them all down. I think their guns were emptied by that time."

Deputy Warden C. C. Woods and his assistant, Capt. H. Sampson, were wounded when the prisoners holding them were shot. They were taken to the prison hospital.

The stab wounds of Guard Strickland were serious. Guards Dick Smith and Tolley, also tied up, were not injured.

All seven wounded prisoners were loaded back into the prison truck and returned to the penitentiary where they were dumped out on the ground before being taken to the hospital for treatment of their wounds. All had buckshot wounds and some also had been hit by pistol bullets.

The prisoners involved in the escape included Lonnie Taylor and Rufus Guy, both participants in a former attempted break. Horace

Van Nuys Holds Lead Over Willis in Indiana Race for Election.

DES MOINES. (UP). Complete unofficial returns gave Senator Gillette, (d.), a 2,000 vote victory over his republican opponent, Lester J. Dickinson, in Tuesday's election. The vote was so close, however, that Dickinson probably will not be satisfied he is defeated unless the official state canvass, scheduled after Nov. 28, bears out the unofficial count.

Complete returns from the state's 2,447 precincts, as tabulated by the United Press, gave: Gillette 410,784; Dickinson 408,694; Gillette's plurality 2,070.

L. Call Dickinson, son and campaign manager of the defeated candidate, indicated that a recount would be demanded altho he said no decision would be reached until after the official canvass.

INDIANAPOLIS. (UP). With only 61 scattered precincts missing, Senator Van Nuys held a lead of 1,410 votes over Raymond E. Willis, republican newspaper editor, in their neck and neck race for election as senator.

With 3,811 of the state's 3,872 precincts tallied the vote stood: Van Nuys 768,804; Willis 767,394.

A flood of democratic votes in urban areas swung the tide to Van Nuys after Willis had held the lead since early Wednesday.

It was expected that Willis would pick up votes from rural areas as farmers cost a heavy protest against 30 cent corn prices and new deal farm policies.

NEW YORK. (AP). Dist. Atty. Thomas Dewey cut Gov. Herbert Lehman's final election plurality 230 votes to 67,330 Wednesday in complete returns from Lewis county, the last outstanding district.

The unofficial final total vote for governor was: Lehman 2,383,638, Dewey 2,316,308. The return from Lewis county was Lehman, 2,282; Dewey, 7,511.

GREATER ACTIVITIES IN CATTLE FEEDING

Abundance of Hay, Roughage and Increased Supply of Corn Is Cause.

There is a greater activity in cattle feeding business in Nebraska this season than there was last, due to the increased corn supplies and an abundance of hay and roughage, the Nebraska Co-Operative Crop and Livestock reporting service said in a bulletin Thursday.

Cattle feeding, due to drouth, has been heavily reduced in recent years. The bureau of animal industry shipments of stocker and feeder cattle to Nebraska points for the July-October period show an increase of 12 percent over the same period last year. Direct shipments also increased.

Low price corn, hay and feed and present good price for fat cattle have contributed largely to the condition but despite the present activity it is doubtful if the extent of feeding will reach half the normal number fed in the state.

For the United States as a whole the increase is due largely to the increased feeding in the western corn belt states as decrease is probably in the east part of that area. Shipments of stockers and feeders into the whole corn belt during the July-October period were about 2 percent larger than last year and the largest since 1931.

Such shipments into eastern corn belt states were 9 percent smaller than last year. West of the Mississippi are 13 percent larger than last but much below the average of years prior to 1934 and the fourth smallest on record.

BARTENDER NOT A LABORER

Court Says No Bar to Workmen's Compensation.

A bartender is not a common laborer, said Judge Eberly Thursday in a supreme court opinion upholding the judgment for workmen's compensation granted in Douglas county in favor of Thomas A. Micek against the Omaha steel works. While working on a federal aid bridge project near Columbus Feb. 14, 1933, he fell, suffering permanent injuries. He was earning $9 a week as a common laborer. Before going on work relief he had been a railroad bridge carpenter earning 68 cents an hour, but his hurts prevent him from returning to that form of employment.

The employer contended that as he has been employed for more than three years as a bartender at $17 a week, the finding of permanent disability is wrong. The court says tending bar excludes the necessity for hard manual labor, and the law is that disability is not restricted to such disability as impairs present earning power at the particular occupation, but embraces any loss of physical function which detracts from former efficiency in ordinary pursuits. The award is for $6 a week for 300 weeks and $4.50 a week for the remainder of his life. As the district court allowed $36 more of a doctor bill than it should plaintiff's attorney is not given a fee for services on appeal.

Judge Eberly says Micek is employed in a small business that provides many restful periods.

STATE STAYED WITH TRADITIONAL POLICY

Cochran Says "Pay as You Go Plan" Still Holds in Nebraska.

Governor Cochran, looking over hundreds of congratulatory telegrams and letters, Thursday morning remarked to reporters that he thought the election "the most important in my time."

"So closely tied to the candidates were the issues involved that it shows definitely that the state is not ready to depart from its old policies," the governor said. "I am thinking particularly now of the fixed old age pensions and the tax exemption matters. The sentiment of the state might affect us for generations.

"The state kept to the policy of 'pay as you go and gauge your expenditures by your ability to pay.'"

This, the governor declared, has been a reality and not a campaign promise so far as he is concerned.

"This should have some effect on the campaigns in the future," he continued. "It would be a terrible precedent to establish—that of bidding for public office by promising dollars and cents, bidding for election by what you will pay and it would destroy democratic government.

"In general, this has been an idea of the politicians and not of the people and applies all over the country," he stated.

He said he was glad the stockholders double liability amendment was carried and that the slot machine amendment was defeated; but felt that the superintendent of instruction should have been put on the board of educational lands and funds.

The governor will go to York on Armistice day to take part in ceremonies there in the morning.

ELECT 9 BICAMERAL MEN

Former Legislators to Serve in Second Unicameral.

When Nebraska's second unicameral legislature convenes for the first time Jan. 3, nine of its membership, elected Tuesday, will resume lawmaking duties altho not having served before with the single unit house. They are former members of the bicameral legislature.

Tuesday's election found 20 former legislators seeking election to the unicameral. Only 19 could have been elected, however, as 2 of the number battled each other in the 25th district, where Jay Hastings, Osceola, was elected over Ray Thomas of Clay Center. Six of the former two house legislators made successful bids against incumbents, while 11 conceded to present unicameral seat holders.

Legislators of former years elected to the unicameral body were:

Eighth district, Peter P. Gusowski, Omaha.
Eighteenth, James A. Reed, Lincoln.
Twenty-first, Jo Hastings Osceola.
Twenty-ninth, John F. Doyle, Greeley.
Thirtieth, A. M. Johnston, Doniphan.
Thirty-second, Dan Garber, Red Cloud.
Thirty-fourth, Fred A. Mueller, Kearney.
Thirty-eighth, C. R. Herrick, Curtis.

DISAGREE OVER ICE.

HONOLULU, (AP). Science and personal observation clashed Thursday over the reported presence of an iceberg in tropical waters 900 miles west of Honolulu. Capt. W. H. Barrows of the Pan-American seaplane, Philippine Clipper, reported the iceberg. "There're no icebergs in that area," retorted Lieut. Comm. J. H. Peters of the U. S. coast geodetic survey. "They must have mistaken an islet for an iceberg." Capt. Barrows, however, said half a dozen observers using binoculars all agreed the object was an iceberg.

Woman City Attorney and County Attorney Elect Has Case Here

Members of the state liquor commission Thursday were mildly surprised and rather pleased to have a case before them presented by a woman city attorney, a rather rare happening before the commission.

Miss Zelma D. Derry, young attractive brunet, who for the past year has been city attorney of Ogallala, represented the city in the application of D. A. Welsh for a beer license there. Mrs. Mary L. Bronson, licensee, had arranged to sell her place to Welsh provided the city council gave him a beer license. She moved to a smaller place. The council decided 3 to 5, not to grant the license and Welsh appealed. The liquor commission took the case under advisement.

Miss Derry also has another distinction. She passed the bar examinations in 1935 and has been in practice ever since. Tuesday, she was elected by the voters of Keith county for the office of county attorney. She is a republican and the only other woman county attorney in the state is Grace Ballard, Blair.

MUST RETURN MEN TO WORK

Street Car Company Also Ordered to Pay Bonus.

KANSAS CITY, (AP). The national labor relations board ordered ordered the Omaha & Council Bluffs railroad company to restore 240 employes to their former positions and pay them cash bonuses as high as $200 each, in an intermediate report filed Thursday. The restoration applies only to those employes who struck in April, 1935, and who have not found other regular and permanent jobs.

The company was given ten days to comply with the board's order, which also required that the company cease its relations with the company union complained of by the former employes. Each of the trainmen involved in the order is to be given $100 and two uniforms. All other employes restored to their jobs are to be paid $200.

The board held that the company was guilty of unfair labor practices as charged by the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes association, and affiliate of the A. F. of L. A hearing was held at Omaha from July 17 to Aug. 8 this year before R. N. Benham of Washington.

JAP POPULATION GAINS.

TOKYO, (AP). The population of Japan increased by 969,900 during 1937-38 despite the war with China, the cabinet bureau of statistics announced. The bureau listed population of Oct. 1 at 72,222,700. The population normally increases about 1,000,000 annually.

MRS. ROOSEVELT SPEAKS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP). Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt came here to address a state-wide conference of advisors of the national youth administration. Dr. James Ivory, director of the gathering, said the goal was a plan of unified community action for youth.

ADMIT 2 NEW MEMBERS

Two new members, Carl A. Danielson and John A. Hoehne, were officially welcomed at the Co-Operative club luncheon Thursday. The session was devoted to business matters.

APPEAL BEQUEST CASE.

Whether Dannebrog lodge No. 216 of the Danish Odd Fellows or the Dania Old People's home shall receive the $1,500 bequest of Jacob Jensen is the problem submitted to the supreme court. The will provided that the money should be paid the home within a year if operating, and if not, to be held for ten years and then paid to the lodge. The home is not now in operation and never has been established, the lodge claims. When it demanded the money the administrator reported he had paid it over to the home, when, in fact, the lodge asserts, he still has it. The administrator's report showing payment was set aside by the county court, and the district court dismissed the home's appeal. The ten years named in the will have passed.

GROW MORE SUGAR BEETS

North Loup Irrigation District Has Increase.

KEARNEY, Neb. (UP), E. H. Dunmire, chief engineer of the North Loup power and irrigation district, reported to the PWA power division that beet sugar production increased this year from 200 to 300 acres and that 98 carloads worth $30,000 were shipped from the Burwell neighborhood alone. The entire project will be completed Dec. 1, when Dunmire plans to retire. Chief Engineer George Johnson of Tri-County reported that steady progress is being made to get under way the work made possible by the recent allotment by PWA of $5,890,000. Johnson pointed out that two years time has been lost by litigation, but said the "full-steam ahead" order has been given.

TOO HOT FOR U. S. LINES

Prefer Fire to Carrying Man Without a Country."

NEW YORK. (AP). John Dolanchuk, "the man without a country," was also a man without a ship.

For the United States liner, President Roosevelt sailed for Europe without him Wednesday, refusing to recognize a deportation order issued by the department of labor.

Dolanchuk rode 17,500 miles on the ship's lines last year as an uninvited guest. Its officials refused to accept him for deportation on the grounds it was physically impossible to land him in another country.

Dolanchuk was born in Austrian territory later ceded to Rumania. Immigration officials said he had entered both Canada and the United States illegally, gone to Spain as a volunteer with the government forces, and later stowed away again for the United States. Courts have tried vainly to straighten out the rangle of his national status. England, France, Germany, Rumania—among other countries—have refused him entry. As immigration authorities puzzled over his case, Dolanchuk relaxed philosophically at his latest "home"—Ellis island.

The refusal to carry him left the ship line subject to a possible $1,000 fine, but officials apparently preferred to risk that rather than shuttle Dolanchuk across the ocean.

C. H. ZIEGENBEIN DIES

MEMPHIS, Neb.—C. H. Ziegenbein, 70, farmer near here, died Wednesday afternoon after an illness of about six weeks of pneumonia. He had farmed in the community more than 50 years. He leaves his wife, Martha Humboldt Ziegenbein, and eleven children: Harry of Lincoln, Dr. F. C. of Nebraska City, Mrs. C. C. Lillibridge of Crete, Mrs. Roy Owen of Memphis, Dr. O. H. WANT CLAIM DENIED.

Attorneys for the estate of Christian M. Skade, late of Dawson county, asked the supreme court in a brief filed Thursday, to affirm the disallowance by the district court of a claim for $12,300 filed by Hannah Edwards, a daughter. His two other daughters fought the claim. She based it on services performed at the family home after she had married under an express agreement that she would be paid. The period covered was 33 years. The other sisters said this would take all the estate, would nullify the provisions of his will for an equal distribution, and the major part of the claim is barred by the statute of limitations. Their attorneys contend that she failed by proof to overcome the strong presumption that such services were gratuitous, and that the fact that she had borrowed money from her father from time to time indicated he was not indebted to her.

TAKES SUBMISSION.

Submission was taken by the supreme court of the appeal of Fred P. Marconnit from an order of the railway commission modifying a previous order. The commission held that he was not entitled to operate a bus line between South Omaha and Fort Crook and found that Hedwig and Bernard Effenberger and Marie

CITY HALL NEWS.

Altho city hall officers will be closed thruout Friday, Armistice day, out-of-door activities will go on as usual. Street department work will be carried on in the ordinary way. Superintendent Myers said that those wanting off for the day will be excused but without pay. Paving contractors are taking advantage of this weather and with nine projects on the list for completion before winter sets in, will proceed Friday at full steam. The Cochran Construction company has curb and base in on Rose st., 16th to the alley west, also on Lake, 27th to Sheridan. The Abel Construction company is running the completed job on Starr, 44th to 46th.

Time was up Thursday on grace period allowed Lincoln car owners who had failed to have their vehicles tested at the municipal brake and light test station. The deadline actually came Nov. 1 but Director Venner allowed until the 10th. Cars without the initial stickers will now be tagged with owners requested to appear in municipal court. With most cars tested, business has fallen off at the station to a point where the director found it impractical to continue the operation of two lanes. He has cut down to one lane with the operating staff reduced from 12 to 7 until business picks up again. But 74 cars made first lane appearance Wednesday with a total of but 515 since Nov. 1. Total station receipts to date, $12,457. Altho several thousand Lincoln people were not registered for Tuesday's election, there has been little or no activity along that line since the registration books at the office of the city clerk reopened Wednesday morning. There have been exactly four customers, two new registrants and two changing their affiliation from democrat to republican

MARINE CORPS 163 YEARS

Army and Navy Toast Their Fellow Servicemen.

WASHINGTON. (AP). The army and navy toasted the marine corps on its 163rd birthday anniversary. Gen. Malin Craig, army chief of staff, wrote Maj. Gen. Thomas Holcomb, marine corps commandant, that the army has "profound admiration" for the service.

The navy's chief of staff, Adm. William D. Leahy, said the marines' "brilliant achievements" resulted from rigorous peacetime training. The marine corps was formed by the continental congress Nov. 10, 1775, authorizing two battalions to serve on land and sea.

COMPENSATION CASE.

In a brief filed Thursday by attorneys for Reuben Carlson it is asked that not only should the supreme court affirm the award to him against his employer, the Condon-Kiewit company, of $14.67 a week but that it should be increased to a basis of 65 percent of the compensation for the loss of both eyes. This is urged because the loss of vision in one makes for complete loss of stereoscopic vision, and 50 percent should be added as a penalty for deferring payments and litigating the matter for an additional time. The company appealed, asking for reduction to $6 a week. Carlson was a work relief employe, and the dispute as to the amount of weekly indemnity centers around the question of what were his base earnings while employed. He lost an eye when a flying bit of steel hit it while he was employed on the Loup River project as a drag line operator at 55 cents an hour.

ARABIAN AND JEWISH LEADERS DISAPPOINTED

Think Britain Fails to Offer Solution to 31 Months Strife.

JERUSALEM. (AP). Bitter disappointment was expressed by Arab and Jewish leaders alike over what they termed Great Britain's failure to offer any immediate solution to 31 months of Arab-Jewish strife. Jews called the British policy "fantastically ridiculous" and Arabs called it a "complete misnomer because it is no policy at all."

They referred to a project announced Wednesday of calling a London conference of Jewish and Arab leaders to compromise the dispute over Jewish immigration to the holy land and discarding as unworkable a plan to divine Palestine into Arab, Jewish and British corridor sections.

A wave of despair amounting to hopelessness swept over the holy land, inhabitants of which had expected the British government to show a path to peace before the now silent bells of Bethlehem herald another Christmas.

It was frequently said that the Arabs, Jews and Christians killed or wounded during what the British now call the Arab revolt sacrificed themselves in vain and that the $50,000,000 in property damage and $25,000,000 expended for the maintenance of an army went for nothing. In the violence of the past four months, 1,317 were killed and 1,141 wounded. About 20,000 British troops are attempting to quell the rebellion.

Neutral commentators believed the people of Palestine have not for years been so dependent.

They come from France, Germany, Italy, England and there are many American posters, also.

The $2,500 judgment secured in Madison county by Laura Dedeman against Claude Summers was upheld by the supreme court Thursday. She was riding in a car driven by her husband Dec. 15, 1936, when it collided at the top of a hill with Summers' car. Judge Day held that the court was committed to the doctrine that negligence on the part of a husband in driving an automobile cannot be imputed to his wife, riding with him, unless they were engaged in an enterprise giving the wife the power and duty to direct or assist in the operation and management of the car.

Voluntary bankruptcy petition of Elizabeth Ewing, Crete, manager of a ladies' ready-to-wear establishment, was filed Thursday in federal court. Bankrupt lists assets of $245 and debts of $1,444.09 of which $1,433.45 are unsecured. There are 20 unsecured items which include the following obligations: due J. P. Leveque Berkshire Hosiery company, $146.75; Dr. Bassett, Sac City, Ia., $137.70; Adolph Rozanek, for store rental, $160; M. H. The damage suit instituted in Keith county by Roy Welsh, Ogallala ranchman, against the Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation district, was dismissed by the supreme court Thursday in an opinion by Judge Rose. Welsh recovered judgment for $1,000, claiming that construction of the district's huge dam had resulted in covering part of his land with water and ice, and by reason of an ice jam flooded other parts. Welsh claimed $3,700 damages, and appealed along with the district. The district insisted it had properly constructed its works, and that the ice jam started in the North Platte river. The supreme court says the judgment is not sustained by the evidence, which preponderates in favor of defendant, and Welsh is not entitled either to a judgment or an injunction against repetition.

The supreme court held Thursday that the district court of Lancaster county was right in directing a verdict for Domestic Industries, Inc., sued by Hyman Zelen, Lincoln jobber, doing business as Western Electric Supply company, for damages on ground of breach of contract. This was the second appearance of the case in the high court. Zelen contracted to act as sales distributor of a line of refrigerators made by defendant, agreeing to buy 1,000 delivered in monthly quantities. Defendant cancelled the contract after two shipments had been made and no more ordered. The court says Zelen breached the contract himself when he failed to receive and pay for the number designated, and cannot recover damages. Even if the contract had been modified as Zelen claimed, Judge Carter says that the contract would not have been enforceable as the modified terms did not make it a binding contract but only an option cancellable at will.

BRITISH TO BOOST ARMS

the home of President Lebrun, part of what socialists and communists alike have warned were plans for a nationalist demonstration on the 20th anniversary of the armistice.

Spanish government armies reported advances toward Lerida and Fraga on the far northern Segre river front. But insurgents said all lost territory had been recaptured and reported gains in their drive to wipe out the government's Ebro river salient, 30 miles to the south.

A vanguard of Japan's army in Central China reached Yochow after an all night march. Capture of the railway town, 122 miles up the Yangtze river from captured Hankow, would pave the way for Japanese offensives toward Changsha, Hunan province capital, and a dozen important cities across Tungting lake.

and that synagogs were fired in most towns.

A canvass in mid-afternoon of various provincial cities thruout the reich, such as Hamburg, Frankfort, Cologne, Munich and Breslau brought a uniform story.

It was one of the burning of synagogs, complete destruction of shop windows, store equipment and goods; of violent outbursts against anyone in the crowds who sympathized with the Jews, and of police apathy. The crowds were allowed to wreak their vengeance unchecked.

As regards the arrests, the official news agency explained that owners of Jewish shops in many towns were taken into custody "for their own protection."

In Austria, a United Press dispatch said, it was estimated that from 2,000 to 3,000 Jews were arrested in Vienna alone, as part of a national roundup of Jews whose identification papers were not in order.

An American physician, Dr. Laurence K. Etter of Los Angeles, was arrested and held for two hours at a precinct police station here because he tried to take miniature motion pictures of smashed shops.

CALLS FOR MEETING

breaks occurred in countless towns states seemingly have been disintegrated," the mayor told a press conference.

"Eliminating New Jersey, where I do not think the question of progressivism enters at all, I am willing to admit that there has been a decided setback.

"You have a situation of supporters of progressive, humane, economic welfare legislation being opposed by the old line parties; you have candidates in the democratic party who are not sympathetic with progressive legislation, and you have progressive candidates in the republican party who do not agree with the control and management of the party, and the result is an increased strength to the forces of reaction.

"That means but one thing—that the progressive forces in this country have got to get together. It also means that labor must adjust its differences."

La Guardia said that the question of a new party composed of progressives depended "on the attitude the two parties take toward progressive legislation."

SEVEN CONVICTS WOUNDED

Woodruff, another who drove away, was serving a term for murder.

After overpowering the guards and taking their weapons the prisoners started out of the yard in the appropriated truck. When the guard on the outer gate attempted to stop them they threatened to kill Woods and Sampson and were allowed to go thru.

A general alarm immediately was sounded, putting state and city officers as well as prison guards on their trail.

Excitement spread thru the city in the wake of the sirens of the police cars. The gun battle took place on the edge of Centennial park, a partly business and partly residential section.

SHARP, STABBING PAINS GONE FROM ARMS, SHOULDERS

Many Days Lincoln Lady Should Have Been In Bed Her Suffering So Severe; Spent Many Sleepless Nights, Digestion Upset Too; Now Happy Over KruGon's Action.

"I have no hesitancy in recommending a meritous remedy like KruGon," said Mrs. J. J. Mahoney, 2037 Dudley Street, Lincoln, a respected local lady who has lived here for the past

MRS. J. J. MAHONEY.

forty years, recently in praising the KruGon to the Raymond Bauer Drug Co., N and 13th Streets, this city;

"I had been a lifelong sufferer from constipation," continued Mrs. Mahoney, "My body was terribly affected from the clogged condition of my bowels. I was bothered frequently with night risings until I could hardly get any rest at all. Pains through my back seldom ceased. Indigestion bothered me continually and I was in constant distress with gas and bloating regardless of my diet. Then those sharp, stabbing pains in my arms and shoulders developed and they were so severe they would almost cripple me. Many of my days should have been spent in bed I was in such a miserable condition. In past years I spent large amounts of money for medicines that did me no good at all. But in KruGon I was pleasantly surprised for it seemed to be ONE MEDICINE that I had been searching for."

"KruGon was different from anything I had ever taken before," continued Mrs. Mahoney, "I soon began to show improvement as KruGon gave me proper elimination of the intestinal poisons from my body. Those aches and pains seemed to leave at once and before I realized it I was eating good, sleeping throughout the nights without the least disturbance and feeling stronger each day. It is easy to understand now why so many people are glad to publicly praise such a remedy. I am sorry I did not learn of it many years ago."

And so it goes . . . another case right here in Lincoln where KruGon has proven its merit.

KruGon is sold by Raymond Bauer Drug Co., N & 13th Sts., Lincoln, and by leading druggists in surrounding towns.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 2 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, setting up nights, swellings, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FOOTHOLD IN WEST VIRGINIA

G. O. P. Unseats New Deal Congressman.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP). The industrialized northern West Virginia panhandle, making the first crack in democratic armor in six years, stood Wednesday night as the fence around which republicans will base their hopes for future gains.

Complete unofficial returns from the First congressional district showed A. C. "Andy" Schiffler, republican, victory by more than 10,000 votes over Representative Robert L. Ramsay, strong new deal supporter.

Democrats held a tight grip on the rest of West Virginia—returning five congressmen and giving Gov. Homer A. Hold the democratic legislature for which he asked. Republicans lost one of their six seats in the state senate because of a democratic turnover in the fourth district. However, the republican tide in the panhandle brought a gain of 10 seats in the house of delegates.

DO YOUR FANCY FOOT-WORK IN COMFORT!

NO MORE WEARY, TROUBLED SOLES for those who dance in wedge-heeled sandals! Women say this new construction brings comfort they didn't believe possible. And that's just what women say, too, about Modess. This sanitary napkin is also constructed differently. Modess is made with a soft, fluffy filler—entirely different from napkins made of close-packed, papery layers. And women certainly appreciate the added comfort this brings.

NEW DEAL REBUKED.

Analysis of Tuesday's election results reveals a striking rebuke and setback for the new deal. Its permanent effects cannot be forecast now, altho it seems certain that the future of the new deal will be largely guided by a limit to which it may go, set by the voters themselves.

In Iowa, where Secretary Wallace had appealed to the voters in behalf of his farm policy, the state house population was changed from democratic to republican, the re-election of Senator Gillette was imperiled and support of new deal policies was withdrawn. The same is true in Kansas and South Dakota and Nebraska.

In Nebraska the striking survival of the new deal army of candidates was Gov. Cochran. The governor can give thanks to Omaha and Douglas county for his re-election. With only an even break in that county the governor would have been defeated. The surprising support for Charley Warner in outstate counties, that in the past have given democratic majorities, would have wiped out the governor's hopes for serving a third term.

In the east returns indicate reversal of voter opinion on national policies. Pennsylvania, sickened by Earle and Guffey and their political machine, nauseated by the misuse of federal funds, made a striking turn to the right and emphasized their disapproval of the president's choice. They administered a rebuke to the president himself for interference in state elections. In Ohio and Indiana and Illinois a similar trend toward republican support was made plain. In Michigan, where administration forces had done all they could for Murphy, Murphy was defeated.

Little was to be looked for from the solid south. It is still solidly democratic. The rebuke to the president administered in the primaries in the Carolinas and in Georgia was made more effective by the success of candidates the president had opposed for nomination.

Even the democratic victory in New York reflects no great amount of glory on the administration. Of course the president had supported Gov. Lehman. That was his only choice. New York is the president's home state, and naturally he was expected to speak. He could speak for no one but the man who had broken with him on important new deal issues. That man was elected by the preponderance of supporters in New York City, a number sufficient to overcome the republican upstate vote. In the rural districts of New York the sentiment was anti-administration and anti-Lehman.

The new deal will find little to cheer in 1938 election returns. It was a disastrous battle, fought over issues forced forward by the new deal. The plea for support of the new deal because of its laudable objectives, and in the face of its striking failure to reach those objectives, was not effective.

Reduced to cold figures Tuesday's election gave to the republicans 11 governors, 8 or more senators, and 70 congressmen, possibly more. This is merely preliminary to the real tug of war two years ahead of us.

PARTITION OF PALESTINE.

The British have indicated that they will drop any further attempt to force upon Palestine a plan devised for separating the various elements in the turbulent population. British statesmen concerned with the problem had worked out a plan for putting the Arabs in one area and the Jews in another and keeping a third portion as a mandate area under British control.

This plan was objected to violently by the Arabs. It met with no hearty reception from the Jews. And even the English have lost faith in it.

By abandoning any attempt to divide Palestine, the British will have removed the burr from under the saddle on the Arabs' back. These freedom loving men and desperate warriors do not like the British yoke, but even it is not nearly so unbearable as the partition plan which threatens to hopelessly subdivide the country over which they hope to regain control in time.

It has been since this plan was submitted that the revolt in Palestine has taken an extremely violent form. Driven by the fear of something they did not understand but which at best promised to perpetuate their present condition, the Arabs have made the maintenance of British control much more difficult.

Britain expects to make a new approach to the problem with conferences in London between representatives of the Arabs, the Jews and the British government. This course of action does not hold any great hope of solution, but at least it promises respite from the unfortunate situation pervailing.

BENEVOLENT DICTATOR.

Kemal Ataturk, who died after an extended illness, is sometimes referred to as the first modern dictator. He took over complete control of Turkey after the World war. For centuries Turkey had been an oriental despotism. When Ataturk took charge he was the dictator. He governed without check or hindrance.

But if Ataturk was the first of modern dictators, those who came after him have not followed his example with any degree of consistency. Ataturk has maintained himself as head of the Turkish state all these years and has enjoyed during this time, many of the privileges of a dictator, and yet he has had the welfare of his country in mind all the time. He has built up a governmental machine which promises to function with little friction now that he is dead. All the machinery of a republic is there and in working order.

The first thing Ataturk attempted was to modernize his country. From oriental despotism he transformed it into a respected modern republic. As a measure of the transformation, briefly stated, the change in the status of Turkish women alone need be cited. They have been taken out of the harem, given status as citizens, educated and freed of their veils.

Back in 1923 Kemal Ataturk became president of the republic he established. He has served four terms in that office, the fourth expiring next March. While Ataturk's personality has left its stamp everywhere in Turkey, there is no reason why the government should not continue to function after his death. A national assembly has been in existence for years and the president of that body succeeds the dead leader.

If Kemal Ataturk was a despot and dictator, he was a benevolent one. His principal purpose was to establish representative government in Turkey and he accomplished that purpose to a large extent, altho he was handicapped by his own popularity and prominence. Ataturk was not avaricious for power. He felt no lust for empire.

If other modern dictators followed Ataturk in their rise to power, they forgot to follow his footsteps after they had achieved that first objective. They might examine his career with profit. Ataturk knew that he must someday die. So must the others. The Turkish leader prepared his country for the time when he could no longer guide. Other dictators are failing in this respect. They are showing little concern for their countries or their people in the event that their lives should be suddenly snuffed out.

The Chicago woman who acquired two husbands is having difficulty getting rid of one of them. The appellate court has denied a rehearing on its decision voiding a divorce decree. That leaves the lady with two husbands. Many a woman has acquired two and even more husbands, but it is considered best in this country, under our present laws, to acquire them one at a time. If higher courts are going to void divorce decrees, however, cases similar to the present one may arise from time to time and in the film colony some of the film stars may find themselves with anywhere from two to half a dozen husbands or wives.

Premier Chamberlain's conception of England's role in world affairs is little short of startling. He wants his country to be a "go-getter" for peace. That is an interesting conception. The idea of going after peace and maintaining a firm grip on it is somewhat new and has some merit, altho a better conception, perhaps, would be one of peace as the natural, normal condition of the world, a state which should be guarded against interruption, contamination and infection.

The British think that business has started upward at last. There is encouragement in that report, since while American prosperity is not contingent on British prosperity, the conditions which make for one are favorable to the other.

MORE OR LESS PERSONAL.

It may require the official count to make certain the result of the First district congressional race. In the unofficial returns George Heinke has an apparent majority of a little less than 400 in the district. Errors may be found in the hastily compiled returns and the mail vote is yet to be counted. Lancaster county alone has about 600 mail voters. That number may be more than doubled by the addition of the mail voters in other counties of the district. Republicans are confident that the mail vote will go largely for Heinke. With an even break there, assuming that the unofficial returns are approximately correct, Heinke is elected. On his election depends whether the republicans will have a majority of the Nebraska delegation in the lower house. Stefan defeated Edgar Howard by a heavy majority and Curtis appears to have overwhelmed Binderup in the Fourth. Heinke's election will mean three Nebraska republicans in the lower house. Coffee in the Fifth and McLaughlin in the Second, both democrats, have been returned.

Returns on the unicameral legislature indicate that approximately half of the members are legislators with past experience. Twenty of the members of the first unicameral have been re-elected. With such a large number of seasoned legislators the session should get off to a quick start when it meets in January next.

One of the anomalies of politics was again stressed in the recent election. The people of Nebraska take Senator George W. Norris at his word that he is the friend of the people and interested only in their welfare, but they do not accept his advice on matters of political selection. He strongly endorsed C. A. Sorensen for chief justice of the supreme court and Edgar Howard for congress in the Third district. Both men lost by large majorities.

The tremendous activity displayed by the democratic county committee in Lancaster county, which was well financed, was apparently without result. The majorities received by republican candidates were larger than in years. The result was anticipated by the politically wise, but nobody guessed any such a smashing victory would follow. The great horde of state house employes debouching from the state capitol at noon Saturday, when the order is "all out," is enough to dismay a stalwart republican.

A report from Villisca, Ia., the other day told of a 64 year old apple tree bearing 8 1-2 bushels of apples this year. Tree planters will hope that their work will last as long and bring as much benefit to humanity as this one tree has done. A Lincoln man reports having eaten an apple from an Indiana tree that had supplied his grandfather with fruit more than 60 years before.

The Hebron Register paragrapher, a woman, tells of a Thayer county woman riding in a friend's car, who said the speed did not seem excessive yet the speedometer said 80. She was looking at the radio dial.

The swine department at the state university has undertaken in a practical way to aid the movement for increasing livestock on farms of Nebraska, regarded as the surest way to bring prosperity back to the land owner. It has asked bankers to finance the purchase of gilts and boars by 4-H clubs and vocational agriculture departments. Indications are favorable to the success of the project, feed for the future being one of the question marks.

Mayor Kohler of Wahoo has issued a warning to car drivers to go slow on city streets, saying that "in this city where a person can travel clear across town in any direction in three minutes at 20 miles per hour, anyone appears foolish to risk killing or maiming a child in an effort to make up time." The council has ordered all bicycles off the sidewalks, forbids carrying a person in front and makes them subject to all traffic rules. Bicycles operated at night must carry lights. In Lincoln this regulation exists, but it is only occasionally observed.

FOOTNOTES.

Paramount is going to produce a film based on an imaginary invasion of the United States by foreign nations, according to one screen columnist. The story, tentatively and aptly called "Invasion," is being prepared by Capt. William F. Cox of the Chemical Welfare Division of the army and will depict what happens to a peaceful country when it is made the victim of a surprise attack. It is further reported that "Invasion" will be accorded an extravagant production boasting of the services of every star and featured player on the lot, and that it will be the most costly feature launched by that studio in ten years, writes Albert Benham of the National Council for Prevention of War.

While Paramount's efforts to capitalize on the recent war scare and on chaotic world conditions may be understandable, it is none the less alarming that so provocative a theme as the invasion of America has been chosen as the subject of a motion picture. Barely a month ago the film industry is supposed to have admitted that in the event of war in Europe "a tremendous responsibility for preserving the peace and neutrality of the United States would at once be thrown on the shoulders of the film business." One producer declared that before this country's entrance into the World war, movies had fanned public indignation into fever heat and had a tendency to glorify warfare in the eyes of fans.

Does the announced production of "Invasion" mean that Hollywood's recognition of the motion picture's responsibility for helping to keep this country at peace was just another yarn from the typewriter of an ambitious publicity man? There is a striking parallel between the contemplated invasion and a film which was offered to the public back in 1916. It was called "Womanhood, the Glory of a Nation," and it was the story of a theoretical invasion of America by an unnamed foe from across the ocean. Curiously enough, the uniforms and physical characteristics of the invaders were surprisingly like the Germans.

"Womanhood" was tremendously successful at the box office. A public whose resistance to war propaganda had long since been weakened by a cleverly executed campaign flocked to see the movie, and was swayed by its "drama" and was caught in the web of the "message" the picture carried. "Public indignation was fanned into fever heat"—to borrow the present day expression of the producer mentioned above. Students of the art of propaganda consider "Womanhood, the Glory of a Nation" as one of the most potent weapons of 1916 in guiding the sentiment of the American people toward participation in the World war.

It is not to be argued here whether the underlying purpose of "Invasion" will be to propagandize for support of this country's increasing its armament expenditures, or to kindle feelings of distrust against certain foreign powers. It is without question, however, that implications will be drawn from the picture by millions who see it—implications for which producers will disclaim any responsibility, but which nevertheless will have no constructive effect upon the future welfare and peace of this nation.

The function of the screen, says the film industry, is to entertain. The dramatization of this country's invasion, no matter how excitingly or thrillingly it is told, can hardly come under the realm of entertainment. Do not want the screen to repeat its performances of 1916 and 1917 or add to the increasing tensions in the world today?

WASHINGTON.—The American people have applied a corrective to the new deal. They have not repudiated its humanitarian purposes, but they have said, in effect, that its arbitrariness and extremes shall be curbed.

This is the outstanding trend of the national election, which can be justified by a careful examination of the results in many states with widely different interests.

To say that America has turned to conservatism is to ignore the fact that the victories in the republican ranks in many instances were won by younger men, not identified with old guard republicanism, and by candidates who openly expressed sympathy with the objectives of the new deal, tho disagreeing with its methods and administrative behavior. Impressions gained from a study of the returns can best be enumerated as follows:

1. Young men were swept into office. The very thing President Roosevelt decried in his radio talk about Thomas E. Dewey was accepted in other states as a good thing by the voters, who elected younger men for governor in states like Minnesota, Rhode Island, and Kansas.

2. The republican party does not need to change its name, but it has changed its leadership and as such will make a formidable opposition party at the polls in 1940.

3. The democrats lost heavily in the farm areas due to low farm prices and, likewise, lost substantially in the cities because the labor vote divided as a consequence of C. I. O.-A. F. of L. friction and discontent arising from economic losses to the workers growing out of sitdown strikes.

4. The Wagner labor act has not been repudiated, but there is a substantial sentiment manifest in Ohio and Michigan—the industrial midwest—for changes which will cut down the amount of labor strife. Senator Wagner's signal victory in New York, running way ahead of Gov. Lehman, cannot be interpreted as a dislike of the basic purposes of the law he sponsored.

5. The people still vote against corruption and machine rule. They dislike bureaucracy and hence struck a blow at the Hague machine in New Jersey, the Curley machine in Boston and the Guffey-Earle machine in Pennsylvania. The vote for Dewey in New York state was a remarkable demonstration of agreement with him on his fight against racketeers.

6. Dewey has by no means been removed as a 1940 presidential possibility. His defeat was due to resentment in New York City for his attacks on Tammany. His youth was an asset. Lehman's strength was the fact that he was not at heart a new deal extremist, but a man in whom he conservatives had even more confidence than they had in the ambitious district attorney.

7. The republicans have made remarkable progress toward vote-getting in 1940. Whereas they had only a few governorships, they today control 18 states in the north outside of the solid south, while the democrats have 19 in the north. Of the 19, three democratic governors are in such normally democratic states as Maryland, Kentucky, Oklahoma, so that, in the states with the big electoral votes, the republicans can now begin to furnish thru the state offices the beginnings of a rejuvenated party strength.

8. Figured on electoral votes, the republicans won states amounting to 220 electoral votes, whereas the democratic strength, including the solid south, would on the same basis be about 311 votes. This is a far different picture from that which confronted the republican party on the day after election two years ago, when all but two states gave their electoral votes to the new deal.

9. Democratic senators of the independent group who refused to accept Mr. Roosevelt's plan to "pack" the supreme court fared well on the whole, tho two or three of them were running neck and neck till the final count. These democrats unquestionably had republican support—a lesson to other democrats who come up for election in 1940. Senator Bulkley in Ohio, who supported the "packing" plan, was beaten by the very republicans who helped elect him six years ago.

10. The WPA vote was not as well organized this time. Fears of election watchers and their cameras, as well as of the warnings of the senate investigating committee that it might recommend unseating may have had something to do with it. For, if there were, as estimated, 40,000,000 persons at the polls, what has become of the other 5,000,000 who voted two years ago? They must have been the balance of power in the 1936 election, and many of them were in the low income groups who ordinarily do not vote unless transported to the polls or coerced.

11. If the final tally shows 75 republican seats gained, this, when added to the 88 republicans, makes a total of 163, but to this should be added the 100 independent democrats in the house, thus assuring about 263 votes against extreme measures of the new deal, which is a margin of 35 more than necessary. In the senate, the anti-new deal strength will be considerably augmented and an opposition much more aggressive than heretofore can be expected.

12. Effects on 1940 are likely to be made more clear after congress meets. President Roosevelt's cohorts will insist on drafting him on the theory that he alone can save the party from defeat. Mr. Roosevelt may be astute enough to turn aside in 1940 and try again in 1944, but the pressure from his own side may be more than he can overcome.

DR. BRADY'S HEALTH TALK.

Is Your Liver Sluggish.

From away back it has been the popular belief and common medical practice that a brisk saline cathartic is generally good for whatever ails the individual who is coming down with the cri. This idea probably arises from the quaint fancy that the liver is a willful, obstinate organ anyway and it soldiers on the job whenever it finds an excuse to behave that way; hence one must be ever vigilant and take a good dose of salts whenever one fears or suspects the liver may be a bit sluggish. On this basis my liver must be in a deplorable condition, for I haven't taken any kind of salts or other physic in a coon's age and I never shall unless a better doctor than I am makes me do so.

However, if the portal area—the great network of veins carrying blood from the stomach and intestine to the liver—is congested overfilled with blood, from any cause, there is more or less retarded flow and congestion in the veins carrying blood from the area of the mucous membrane of nose and throat into the great vein near the heart. This is one way in which overeating predisposes to chronic catarrh. It is true that a brisk saline cathartic momentarily relieves nose and throat congestion due to such portal engorgement, and it is probably for this reason that such physic seems to do good in some cases of acute cri and in some cases of chronic catarrh. But such relief is of short duration, for it is a matter of a few hours before the water removed from the blood in the portal area by a dose of salts is restored to the blood. Far better to stop the overeating, the hasty eating, in some instances to fast for a part of a day or a whole day or in chronic cases to correct the diet and the eating habits—these hygienic measures will give a lasting effect, and at the same time promote improvement in general health. Adequate daily exercise, active enough to make one puff and breathe hard for a while, is valuable for the same purpose. Even a few seconds devoted to rolling a dozen somersaults every morning first thing on getting out of bed, and the regular practice of belly breathing last thing every night, will do good where more vigorous exercise is not possible.

Too many victims of long standing or chronic nose, throat or bronichal troubles allow themselves to be beguiled by the notion that "catarrh" or "catarrhal trouble" is a specific disease. If it ever meant any particular malady or condition it has long since lost that meaning. Only charlatans of various non-descript schools and mail order nostrum mongers and trick food or diet specialists profess to know the cause and cure of "catarrh." Today the term "catarrh" or "catarrhal" only vaguely suggests inflammation of a mucous membrane, such as "catarrh" of the head, "catarrh of the bladder," "gastric catarrh," "catarrhal conjunctivitis."

THE PUBLIC MIND.

By Following Principles of Christ We Will Be of Most Service to Fellowmen.

LINCOLN.—In answer to W. H. LeBar's question, "What is the best way to love our neighbor," may I say that to love one's neighbor is to render him service when the occasion arises at all times; to forget oneself in the heat of activity for others. From past experience we know that when we are only thinking of ourselves we are not happy. Christ's life was an example of service. He exemplified kindness and service in the short time He was among men. He was never too busy to restore sight to the blind, to make the deaf hear, or to leave a kind word and give sinners new hope and ambition. In short, we can love our neighbor by following the principles that Christ taught, by being considerate of one another, by being patient and tolerate and giving the other fellow credit for knowing something. The principles taught by Christ are ever new. Nothing has ever been found that can improve on His teachings. Living his code of life will help us each day and in every walk of life. This is a seven day a week religion and will help us in obtaining more happiness out of life. Too many people think religion is dull and that to be religious one must go around with a long face and never laugh. This is all wrong. If religion doesn't help us in getting more happiness out of life what good is it? Without the comforting beliefs of religion life would seem pretty fruitless sometimes, and then religion gives one an opportunity to grow and develop. It has been found that when people go to church and take an active part in affairs they have much better personalities than those who always sit in the back row or who do not go at all. Why should we not go to church and have a religion when we have all to gain and nothing to lose?

POLITICAL PRESSURES IN REPORT RESISTED

Lehman and Poletti Refused to Use It in the Fight Against Dewey.

By Joseph Alsop, Robert Kintner.

Copyright by the NANA (The Lincoln Journal and other newspapers).

WASHINGTON. — The shamelessly political conduct of several federal agencies would make a long footnote to the history of the 1938 campaign. The 70 odd PWA projects announced in doubtful Minnesota on the eve of the voting; the flagrant doings of the WPA in states like Pennsylvania; some of the deceptively optimistic flapdoodle about the national defense progam—the list of topics worth investigating might be prolonged indefinitely.

But political shenanigans are an accepted habit of the agencies of the new deal, as they have been of most federal agencies since the time of Andrew Jackson. It is far more illuminating to examine an incident which wore the appearance of evil, yet was actually a proof that the government's executive branch can resist political pressures and temptations if it tries. That incident was the SEC's recent report on the Richard Whitney case.

Appearances and Accidents.

As will be recalled, part III of the report, issued Nov. 2, was strongly critical of J. P. Morgan & Co.'s relations with Richard Whitney and the New York stock exchange. Rumors were abroad at the time that the president would seize the report as a stick with which to beat Thomas E. Dewey, who failed to tackle Morgan in his presentation of the Whitney case. This was not contemplated. But it is true that men around the president strongly urged Gov. Herbert H. Lehman and Charles Poletti, the democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, to charge the youthful gang-buster with favoring big business on the ground of the SEC report. Both Lehman and Poletti refused, annoying their would-be advisers into whispers about their Wall st. connections.

On the face of it, therefore, the timing of the report does seem political in intention. Nevertheless, the report's story will demonstrate not only that the timing was accidental, but also that Chairman William O. Douglas of the SEC actually resisted considerable pressure to give the report a political twist.

The fact is that it was Douglas's original plan to publish the entire report on Aug. 15, before he left Washington for his summer vacation. Part I, including a factual survey of the Whitney case; part II, the SEC's recommendations for curative action by the stock exchange, and part III, which contained the criticism of Morgan, were all in virtually final form in the first weeks of August. Part III had been finished by the end of July, and then approved by the commission, altho, for the sake of peace, it was kept secret from the friends of business in the new deal.

On Aug. 1, Douglas called a conference to discuss the SEC recommendations for new exchange rules. Those present were Douglas, stock exchange President William McC. Martin, jr., Undersecretary of the Treasury John W. Hanes, and several other representatives of the exchange and the commission. Douglas announced that he was ready to publish the Whitney report on the 15th, but suggested that, before publication, he would like the exchange officials to make a commitment accepting the SEC recommendations. Young exchange president Martin replied that he was not authorized to make an immediate commitment, but promised to have the recommendations studied by his experts. Douglas therefore decided to defer publication of the report until the exchange had made up its mind.

On Douglas' return from his vacation, late in September, conferences were renewed, but the exchange commitment was not ready until some time in October. Martin agreed to present the commission recommendations to the entire governing board of the exchange at its meeting Oct. 16. In order to avoid a leak it was necessary for Douglas to publish the report immediately thereafter. As the report was in three parts, and issued serially, that caused part III, including the criticism of Morgan, to appear Nov. 2.

Resisted Pressures.

Thruout the whole negotiations, the part of the report attacking Morgan was never altered, and appeared finally as it had been written in July. Several excessively zealous new dealers demanded that Douglas append a severely annotated copy of Dewey's report on the Whitney case, which omitted criticism of Morgan. This Douglas flatly refused to do, on the grounds that it would seem political. For the same reasons, Douglas refused to subpoena Thomas W. Lamont after the Morgans had answered the SEC criticism. In fact, the SEC presented an example of non-political conduct which deserves, but will not receive, the compliment of wide imitation.

GALLUP POLL WAS ACCURATE

Election Returns Bear Out Its Predictions.

NEW YORK.—Nearly final returns from all parts of the country early Thursday morning revealed the striking accuracy of pre-election surveys conducted by Gallup's American Institute of Public Opinion in Sunday's Journal and Star.

The institute reported that the republicans were likely to gain 75 additional seats in the house of representatives making the division of seats approximately: Democrats, 264; republicans, 165; third parties, 6. Early Thursday with only five seats still in doubt, the actual division is democrats, 260; republicans, 166; third parties, 4.

The institute said the democrats would receive 54 percent of the total congressional vote thruout the country and republicans 46 percent. Late figures point to a democratic vote of 53 percent, a republican vote of 47 percent. In its only other surveys of Tuesday's elections the institute forecast the victories of Gov. Lehman and Senator Wagner within less than one half of 1 percent and forecast the election of Senator Mead in New York and the defeat of the $30-every-Thursday pension plan in California.

BABE IS VICTIM OF BLAST

New Orleans Tot's Body Taken From Ruins.

NEW ORLEANS. (UP). The charred body of a 2 year old baby was taken early Thursday from the ruins of two buildings destroyed by an explosion which shook a 20 square block section. Police did not believe there had been other deaths, tho the search of the ruins continued.

The explosion was caused by a gas leak which apparently filled the two story frame home of M. Sacco with fumes before it was set off. It and the building adjoining were immediately veiled in flames and both were destroyed, tho firemen prevented the fire from spreading.

Sacco, his wife, and their four children were not at home. The Legeaux family occupied the house next door. Elmo Legeaux, the baby, was burned to death. His sister, Olympe, 19, and a friend, Frank Petit, 19, were injured, but the rest of the family escaped unharmed.

The concussion from the explosion was so severe that persons living five blocks away were thrown out of bed.

Supreme Court Syllabi

The following opinions were filed by the court Nov. 10: Zelen vs. Domestic Industries Inc. Appeal, Lancaster. Affirmed. Carter, judge.

1. The rule that parol evidence is admissible to prove that contemporaneously with, or preliminary to, the execution of a written contract the parties entered into a distinct oral agreement as a condition on which the performance of the written contract is to depend does not apply where the written contract is unambiguous and complete in itself, and expresses a contractual consideration.

2. When the plaintiff has breached his contract with the defendant, the defendant may cancel the contract and treat it as void without subjecting himself to liability for damages.

3. A contract for the sale of goods must obligate the seller to deliver, and the buyer to accept, a definite quantity of the goods, or the contract is lacking in mutuality and therefore void.

Wife Can Recover.

Dederman vs. Summers. Appeal, Madison. Affirmed. Day, judge.

1. "Negligence on the part of a husband in driving an automobile cannot be imputed to his wife, who is riding with him, unless the parties are engaged in an enterprise giving the wife the power and duty to direct or to assist in the operation and management of the car." Stevens vs. Luther, 105 Neb. 184, 180 N. W. 87.

2. A verdict of a jury in a law action based on conflicting evidence will not be disturbed on appeal unless clearly wrong.

3. Physical facts dependent upon conflicting evidence do not demonstrate that verdict is so clearly wrong that it should be set aside.

Upholds an Award.

Micek vs. Omaha Steel Works. Appeal, Platte. Affirmed as modified. Eberly, judge.

1. The mere fact that after the injury the employee receives as wages a larger sum than his former remuneration does not necessarily preclude recovery of compensation under the terms of the Nebraska workmen's compensation statutes.

2. Evidence examined, and held to sustain the judgment of the district court, except as to the sum of $36, as to which amount such judgment is determined to be excessive.

Sale Price Not Too Low.

Weir vs. Smith. Appeal, Furnas. Affirmed. Eberly, judge.

"On appeal from an order confirming a judicial sale in a suit to foreclose a mortgage, confirmation will not be set aside for inadequacy of price, where it is not so low as to evidence fraud or as to otherwise invalidate the sale, and where the evidence does not prove that a resale would result in a better price." Commerce Trust company vs. Bradley, 125 Neb. 593, 251 N. W. 174.

Dismisses Damage Suit.

Welsh vs. Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District. Appeal, Keith. Reversed and dismissed. Rose, chief justice.

1. Evidence outlined in opinion held insufficient to prove that the diversion dam and reservoir of defendant in the North Platte river in Keith county caused an ice jam which overflowed lands of plaintiff.

2. "Cogent reasons and circumstances that strengthen the opinion of expert witnesses as to a scientific fact in issue and tend to weaken opposite expert opinions may determine the issue." Montgomery vs. Milldale Farm & Live Stock Improvement company, 124 Neb. 347, 246 N. W. 734; McGuire vs. Kansas City Bridge company, 132 Neb. 1, 270 N. W. 669.

Your Problems

BY MARY GORDON.

Dear Mary Gordon: I am considered an attractive girl, a sophomore in a college distant from my home. My family is not wealthy—all of us work to make ends meet; yet we live very comfortably and are respected in our community.

I am very much in love with a boy in my home town. He is my own age, 18, but is still in high school. He is from a nice family, has lots of friends, both girls and boys, is very witty and has an attractive personality. My only criticism of him is that he is slouchy in his attire.

I am afraid he will be peeved if I speak to him about his clothes. I don't know how to approach him on this subject.

My parents, tho they always have said they never will take a hand in selecting mates for their children, disapprove of this boy because he is so far behind in his schooling. It seems I can not go with anyone good enough for them, so to speak.

This boy's conduct proves that he loves me dearly. He is sincerely interested in what I do and shows me lots of attention when I'm home. But when I'm in school, he never writes. I suspect he is ashamed of his handwriting and his inability to manage an interesting letter. I have been dating him for three years, but for the past three months neither of us has had other dates. We seem to be made for each other.

I realize what an education means and I have begged him to finish high school and go on to college. He has promised to do this, but I fear his parents are disgusted with sending him to school as he hasn't been trying to profit by his opportunity.

If this boy loves me, would he write to me? Should I continue writing him now while I'm in school if he doesn't write to me? Am I right in insisting he continue his education? Should I forget him, try to interest myself in a man with more pride? Am I too young to be so deeply in love?—V. V. E.

A. Unwelcome as the news may be to you, slouchy clothes are usually a sign of a slovenly mind. This added to handwriting of which he is ashamed and inability to write an interesting letter, tho he is in high school, only prove the theory.

Certainly you should encourage him to continue in school but it is doubtful if he will profit by it unless he really wants to learn and to improve himself, not just please you. A young man feeling inferior to the girl he loves usually bends every effort toward overcoming that feeling.

You are both young to be thinking of marriage, especially the lad. Try to concentrate on your own work and life for a time and give him a chance to grow up.

CONSTIPATED! Gas Crowds Heart.

"For thirty years constipation caused me headaches and pains in the back. Awful gas bloating crowded my heart. Adlerika helped right away. Now I eat sausage, bananas, pie, anything I want and never felt better."—Mrs. Mabel Schott. Two things happen when you are constipated. FIRST: Accumulated wastes swell up bowels and press on nerves in the digestive tract. SECOND: Partly digested food starts to decay forming GAS, bringing on sour stomach, indigestion, and heartburn, bloating you up until you sometimes gasp for breath. Adlerika gives double relief with DOUBLE ACTION. Adlerika relieves STOMACH GAS almost at once. It often clears bowels in less than two hours. No griping, no after effects, just quick results. Recommended by many doctors for 35 years.

COCHRAN WINS THIRD TERM BY WIDE MARGIN

Heinke-Luckey Race in First District Is Close—Most Others Decided.

Nebraska republicans hummed a victory tune Wednesday night—with sour notes only where the melody skipped over the governorship they lost after a nip and tuck race.

Aside from Gov. R. L. Cochran, pulled thru largely by his Omaha strength, democrats retained their partisans in only two congressional seats, the secretary of state's office and the short term heutenant governorship

Everything else went to the republicans, returned to the strongholds from which the new deal ejected them several long terms ago.

The g.o.p. made its strength known outside state borders by picking up congressional seats now held by Representative Henry C. Luckey in the First district and Representative C. G. Binderup in the Third. Luckey was defeated only after a photo finish that narrowed republican George Heinke's victory margin to a few hundred votes.

Binderup went down to a resident of his own town, Carl T. Curtis of Minden, who surprised the "experts" with a great show of strength.

Representative Karl Stefan (r) of Norfolk, Charles F. McLaughlin (d) of Omaha and Harry B. Coffee (d) of Chadron, all incumbents, won easy re-eletcion.

Voters who rejected Robert G. Simmons in his previous republican bids for the U. S. senate chose him on a nonpartisan ticket as chief justice of the supreme court to succeed Charles A. Goss. Simmons had a wide margin over C. A. Sorensen, former attorney general.

In other state races, the contest for treasurer was the only one that looked close after the ballots started rolling in. Former Treasurer T. W. Bass (r) finally edged out Treasurer Walter H. Jensen (d).

Three Johnsons came thru to victory for the republicans. Ray C. Johnson won over Auditor William H. Price (d), Walter R. Johnson defeated Attorney General Richard C. Hunter (d) and W. E. Johnson captured the lieutenant governorship from Terry Carpenter (d), the running mate who previously opposed Governor Cochran's old age pension policies.

Harry R. Swanson, secretary of state, was the only full term democrat to join Cochran in the victory column. A close race with L. E. Marsh gave him some bad moments early in the tabulation, but Swanson later pulled away.

Duane T. Swanson (r) defeated Floyd L. Bollen for the six year term on the railyway commission.

It was a bad year for all the proposed constitutional amendments save the repeal of double liability on stockholders in failed state banks. That proposal won, after previous unsuccessful attempts to put it over.

The four companion measures embodying the short ballot plan failed badly, however, as did the scheme to license slot machines for added pension revenue.

State Superintendent Charles W. Taylor rolled up a big totat against Sarah T. Muir, the Lincoln teacher and former legislator who opposed him.

In the Fifth university regent district Stanley D. Long of Grand Island got a slight margin over Malcolm B. Wilcox of Holdrege. In the Sixth district, Frank M. Johnson, Lexington, topped Frank J. Taylor, St. Paul.

G. O. P. SEES SIGNS OF RETURN TO POWER

Sweeping Gains Fire Expectations of Leaders for Success in 1940.

By the Associated Press.

Republican gains in every broad section of the land, except the south, fired the expectations of party leaders for a successful 1940 presidential campaign, and brought predictions of a substantial opposition to new deal measures in congress. For Tuesday's balloting added 11 republicans to the roster of the nation's governors, increased the party's membership in the house by more than 70 and gave it at least eight additional votes in the senate.

But even these victories did not completely measure the extent of the republican advance. In several major contests which the republicans lost their party displayed much more strength than in recent years.

Some Democratic Offsets.

Against the republican triumphs there were offsets. One of these was a narrow democratic victory in the all important state of New York, which retained Herbert H. Lehman, democrat, in the governor's chair. In addition the democrats took California, which has had a republican governor for many years, and replaced the republican governor of North Dakota with one of their own party.

But while the democrats and the new deal lost much, they had much to lose. The results left the party securely in control of both house and senate, altho the republican gains vastly increased the potential effectiveness of a coalition of republicans and anti-new deal democrats.

Stock Market Responds.

The returns pushed the stock market into an energetic upward swing that produced new highs for the 1938 bull trend. And the bullish spirit was apparent, too, in gains for bonds and commodity prices, altho the latter were moderate.

Republican spokesmen were quick to make the most of their victory. Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan, whose stature as a presidential prospect seemed to increase with a republican victory in his state, said the election was an "amazing defeat for the Roosevelt party and program" and one that was "the more convincing because of the marvel that such a victory could be won against Santa Claus."

Former President Hoover issued a statement saying that a majority of the voters cast their ballots for anti-new dealers. He called the result "a protest" that "should enable the beginning of the end of this waste of public money, these policies of coercion, political corruption and undermining of representative government," he added:

"The reinvigorated republican party is now in position to join effectively with the anti-new deal democracy to check these policies in the congress and thereby contribute to restore employment and agriculture, to re-establish confidence in business, and above all to restore faith in America."

The results, in addition, stirred some political analysts to speculation whether the heavy Negro vote which went to the democrats in 1936 had been returned in large part to the republican party. It was recalled that Robert L. Vann, publisher of a Negro paper in Pittsburgh, and a man of indubitable influence among Negro voters, supported the president in 1936 and the republican ticket in Pennsylvania this year. The house's one Negro member, Arthur W. Mitchell of Illinois, a democrat, was returned to office.

Effect of Purge Effort.

Much interest centered upon the success or failure in the general election of conservative democrats whose renomination President Roosevelt opposed in last summer's party "purge" campaign. Those who survived the primary election came thru handily on Tuesday, Senator George in Georgia, Senator Smith in South Carolina and Senator Tydings in Maryland. The one who failed in the democratic primary, only to bob up with the republican nomination, Representative O'Connor of New York, chairman of the house rules committee, was beaten.

Another feature of the election which excited much comment was the defeat of third party governors in Wisconsin and Minnesota. In the former state, Philip La Follette, progressive, seeking a fourth term, was ousted by Julius P. Heil, republican. Governor Benson of Minnesota, a farmer-laborite, lost to Harold E. Stassen, a youthful republican.

Gain in Governorships.

In resume, the republicans elected their men to 17 governorships, 12 of them previously held by democrats and 2 by the minor parties. The democrats elected their candidates to 15 gubernatorial posts, including 3 previously held by republicans.

The republicans, in addition, were successful in 11 senatorial contests, involving 8 seats now held by democrats. The democrats elected 21 senators, 6 of whom are from the south.

New York drew top election interest for its gubernatorial contest between Lehman and Thomas E. Dewey, spectacular young racket buster. A big upstate plurality for Dewey was more than offset by a bigger New York City majority for Lehman, to give the latter the victory by some 70,000 votes out of the 4,700,000 that were cast.

For the reason, too, that Mr. Roosevelt had stepped into the Michigan situation, with a vigorous defense of Gov. Frank Murphy, democrat, and unstinted praise for his state administration, that state was a center of interest. Murphy's victorious rival was former Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, republican.

Ohio Changes Allegiance.

Ohio changed its allegiance from democratic to republican. It elected a republican governor, John W. Bricker, and a republican senator, Robert A. Taft. Bricker defeated Charles Sawyer, democrat, and Taft beat Senator Robert J. Bulkley, democrat, after a campaign based clearly upon the issue of the new deal. Taft's victory made him a presidential prospect, according to general opinion.

Massachusetts shifted, too, electing Leverett Saltonstall, republican, to the governorship and defeating James M. Curley, veteran democratic campaigner, who was trying for a political comeback.

Pennsylvania went republican, after four years of democratic rule. Judge Arthur H. James, republican, seized the gubernatorial position, beating Charles Alvin Jones, democrat. Gov. George H. Earle, democrat, lost to Sen. James J. Davis, republican, in a contest for the senate.

California, too, was a focal point for general interest. There the democrats were successful. Culbert L. Olson, democrat, ousted Gov. Frank F. Merriam, and Sheridan Downey, democrat, won a place in the senate over Philip Bancroft, republican. Olson is pledged to grant a pardon to Tom Mooney, labor leader and famed inmate of San Quentin prison. Downey was an early backer of the "$30 every Thursday" pension plan. This plan, on the ballot as a constitutional amendment, was apparently rejected.

SUES FOR INJURIES.

Suit for $20,000 was filed Wednesday in district court against F. E. Roth, sr., and F. E. Roth, jr., by Nellie Conway, mother of John Conway. The suit arises from a collision between the car driven by F. E. Roth, jr., and the motorcycle driven by John Conway at 51st and Adams sts., July 9. The plaintiff alleges carelessness on the part of Roth, charging that he was driving his car at an excessive rate of speed, and that severe personal injuries resulted.

20 OF THE 43 STATE SENATORS RE-ELECTED

11 of 32 Incumbents Seeking Office Again Are Defeated.

Unofficial election returns showed Wednesday night 20 of the 43 members of the first unicameral legislature had been returned to the 1939 term beginning Jan. 3. Twelve of the 32 incumbents seeking re-election were defeated on the basis of the tally. Those who appeared destined to come back for another fling at lawmaking are:

Fred Carsten, Avoca, Third district; John Adams Jr., Omaha, Fifth; Charles F. Tvrdik, Omaha, Seventh; Amos Thomas, Omaha, Ninth; Earnest A. BANKHEAD 'NOT SURPRISED'

Speaker Views Losses as 'Normal Reaction.'

JASPER, Ala. (AP). Speaker William B. Bankhead, re-elected by a 5 to 1 majority over a republican opponent, said Wednesday night defeat for some democrats in Tuesday's nationwide elections was a "normal reaction to five or six years of democratic administration."

"I am not surprised," Bankhead said, "I had anticipated before the election that there would be a considerable swingback in many sections. We couldn't hope to please everybody."

NUCKOLLS COUNTY CLEARED

Slot Machine Amendment Did Not Carry There.

NELSON, Neb. (AP). Citizens of Nuckolls county did not approve the slot machine amendment, as indicated in previous election tabulations.

The vote was 2,410 against and 763 for the measure. The previous total was given erroneously as 241 against and 763 for. The amendment did not carry in a single Nebraska county, returns showed.

WARNER MAKES STATEMENT

Wishes Cochran Successful Administration.

Charles J. Warner, republican candidate for governor, who was defeated by Governor Cochran, in a message to the winner said: "I extend to you my congratulations and best wishes for a successful administration."

Mr. Warner's statement to the press said:

"I appreciate the splendid vote given me in the state. The vote indicates that a farmer candidate is not yet acceptable to our metropolitan city. This attitude is, of course, a disappointment to me as well as to other farmers of Nebraska, but I rejoice in the fact that I carried the state outside of Omaha. I am gratified with the vote in my own community and in my own county. It is a source of satisfaction to be supported by the home folks.

"I wish for Governor Cochran a successful administration. It is our American way to wage our contest with what ability we have and when the contest is over to not only cheerfully accept the decision, but to join with those elected in an effort to achieve progress for the whole people. It will be my purpose to follow in that way."

PENSIONERS ARE UNDAUNTED

Talk of Special Election for $30 Every Thursday.

LOS ANGELES. (AP). Leaders of the $30 every Thursday pension plan, unwilling to concede defeat in spite of consistently adverse returns, started thinking of a special election Wednesday for another try. Sherman Bainbridge, director, said, "You can't laugh off a million voters. If the plan is defeated, we will consider ways and means of obtaining a special election."

TYDINGS SETS VOTE RECORD

Purgee Surpasses Roosevelt Mark in Maryland.

BALTIMORE, (AP). Senator Millard E. Tydings, democrat whom the new deal vainly tried to purge in the primary, set an all-time record for vote-getting in Maryland in Tuesday's general election.

In 1936, President Roosevelt received a majority of 158,000 to set a new high for the free state. But Tydings erased this mark by polling a majority of 164,348 over Oscar Leser, his republican opponent, with 1,023 of the state's 1,288 precincts reported.

REBUKES DEAN POUND.

WASHINGTON. (AP). Securities Commissioner Jerome Frank said Wednesday that Roscoe Pound, former dean of Harvard law school, had committed a "mischievous factual error" in picturing federal commissions as hostile to the courts. In a speech to the Georgetown university law Alumni club, Frank said, "the securities exchange commission, for instance, I can say from first hand knowledge, has no such hostility." Frank said that last July Dean Pound "launched a sharp attack" on federal commissions.

LABOR SEES HOPE IN REPUBLICAN STRENGTH

Believe Major Amendments to Be Made in the Wagner Act.

WASHINGTON. (AP). The American Federation of Labor counted on the sharp rise in republican congressional strength to help bring about major amendments in the Wagner labor act.

Federation officials interpreted many of the democratic casualties in senate and house as weakening the position of the C. I. O., which has insisted that no amendments to labor's "magna charta" are necessary.

The A. F. L. has contended that the national labor relations board, which administers the law, is biased is favor of the C. I. O. Recently the federation initiated a campaign against senate confirmation of the renomination of Donald W. Smith, board member, for a five year term.

William Green, A. F. L. president, said Wedensday night the election proved the nation was "sick and tired of the C. I. O.'s philosophy and tactics.

"The C. I. O. and its political dummy, labor's non-partisan league, were routed on all fronts," he declared.

"The voters turned against every candidate who gave aid or comfort to the C. I. O. leadership even in states where the C. I. O. concentrated its campaign."

The C. I. O. supported democratic candidates iln Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan where it has organized many industrial workers. Republicans won the major offices in all three states.

PRESIDENT ATATURK OF TURKEY IS DEAD

First Modern Dictator Succumbs to Work and Strenuous Relaxation.

ISTANBUL, Turkey. (UP). Kemal Ataturk, 58, father of the Turkish republic and its president since its inauguration in 1923, died. The government, which had feared that he could not recover after a relapse suffered Wednesday, at once proclaimed Abdul Halik Renda, president of the national assembly, provisional president in accordance with the constitution.

It was announced that the national assembly would elect a new president as provided by the constitution, to succeed Ataturk, whose fourth term would have expired March 1, 1938.

Among the first of the modern dictators, he had ruled Turkey since shortly after the World war. He raised it from an oriental despotism to a respected modern republic.

All social and public functions were canceled in mourning.

In his personal life he had defied all the rules. He drank, he gambled, he reveled.

Four months ago, his years of hard work for many hours each day followed by strenuous relaxation, caused his constitution to fail. He suffered a liver attack that had kept him intermittently bed ridden since.

METHODISTS GAIN MEMBERS

59,424 Listed as "Lost and Unaccounted For."

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP). The board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church reported Wednesday that during the past 12 months the church had gained 181,297 new members—an increase of slightly less than 1 percent. Bishop Frederick T. Keeney of Chicago, director of the church's million unit fellowship movement, said church records failed to account for 59,424 persons designated as "lost and unaccounted for."

Bishop Edgar Black of Detroit estimated the church had lost more than 3,000,000 members during the past 18 years thru "careless pruning of membership rolls."

No Turning

by Kathrn Bemis

"Mercy, Kay! Don't make an issue of it! Can't you see, darling, I'm relaxing?"

"Oh, Cora, how can you? I've—why I've been insulted by that detestable little Parker!"

"What?" Cora Millstrom bounced upright, the cotton dropping unheeded from her staring eyes. "The—the man—"

"Don't get excited. He simply but firmly refused me credit—really refused you credit—thru Miss Carr."

"Oh—that."

Cora Millstrom sank back to her pillow, her eyes ceilingward "I've been expecting it," she acknowledged, slowly.

"But—I don't understand. Why should we be treated so—so shabbily? Haven't we plenty of money?"

Her mother sat up again, courageously facing this too inquisitive daughter

"It seems not. Gordon Wayland says our income will last about six months, at the rate we're going—and as our attorney he should know." Cora Millstrom sighed again, fingered the cream lace rippling down the front of her peach satin negligee. "I hated to tell you, darling—but Gordon sold the Miami place last week and the Maine camp—and a few other pieces of property. Certain creditors had to be appeased."

The wide-eyed Kay faltered. "Then—then Cora—we're—why, we're stone broke. We must let the servants go, get into small quarters—economize."

Her mother's laugh was brittle. "Not yet, my dear. There's always Blare, you know. That's why I've been urging you to marry him."

Kay's face drained white. She stared at her mother in astonishment, tinged with desperation. All she could say was, "I—I see."

"There will be enough to manage the proper trousseau for you, child. You'll be married here in the home you've loved for so long. After that, if we let it go, it won't matter to you. You will have your own smart establishments—while I—oh, I'll camp somewhere along the line."

It crossed Kay's mind then that undoubtedly her mother could marry again, not insist upon her only child being sold to the highest bidder. Kay sensed that her mother did not intend to marry. A great load suddenly settled firmly on her frail young shoulders. It was she who was to recreate the family fortune.

She left her mother sitting there and walked slowly across the room to an open dormer window. She looked out on the new green of the long wide lawn rolling down to the road. Brown squirrels and robins and blue jays bobbed before her troubled gaze, building for new families in the gentle spring sunshine. The lilac hedge on the east was gay with lavender and white blooms, the century old maples and elms scattered about the yard were sprouting fresh green raiment. Stately tulips, outlining the front terrace, exactly match the villa's red tiled roof. All nature was building—building for happiness in a new sunshine.

Kay grit her teeth, turned to her mother. "Very well, dear. Now that I understand, I'll be reasonable about the Blare fortune—and Hennington, who goes with it. But—I really couldn't—love him."

"Love?" her mother shrugged nonchalantly. "That will come later. Hennington is such a dear man. Let me get this stuff off my face, darling—then we'll make plans. Ring for Drew, will you, dear?"

The sober faced Kay pushed a button for her mother's maid, then turned to leave the room. An unusual noise suddenly halted her. It was the peculiar sputtering that only a motor could make.

She wheeled swiftly and ran back to the window. An airplane was bolting down to earth like a huge dead bird. It was headed for the middle of the Millstrom's rolling front lawn!

"Quick, mother! Send Higgins, Sartin for help! That plane's in trouble!" cried Kay, dashing from the room.

She flew frantically downstairs, and out the front door to be greeted by a terrific crash.

Heedless of danger, she ran close to the flames, now threatening the plane's cabin, which lay splintered on the lawn.

She grabbed the arm of the plane's lone occupant, and tried to pull him out to safety. Sartin, the butler, reached her then, and together they got the unconscious man clear, barely an instant before the flames licked at the seat wheer he had been lying.

There was a thunderous explosion behind them as they carried the blond, viking type of man into the house. Kay shivered. A peculiar wave of thankfulness shot thru her. There was something about this man, whose head rested on her shoulder, that was somehow significant. It was as if he had been sent for her safekeeping—sent to her like a strangely precious sign out of the clear blue sky.

CHAPTER TWO.

With clanging bells, shrieking sirens and roaring motors, fire companies arrived and quickly extinguished the dangerous blaze on the Millstrom's front lawn, leaving a tangled mass of smoldering framework behind them.

Surgeons, coming and going, white-uniformed nurses and hushed activities followed in that order at the luxurious, 20-room house. Kay personally superintended the nursing of the injured man, refusing to allow him to be sent to a hospital.

Cora Millstrom was more than apprehnsive. She was about distracted. This thin-faced, long, lean young man, who had suffered a slight brain concussion and a broken leg, was developing into a menace. He was altogether too easy to look at and furthermore Kay was finding him vastly entertaining. All this had to happen just when Cora had at last persuaded Kay to marry Hennington Blare! Oh well, she would invite Hennington to dine with them on Sunday, give him a hint of his good fortune. He could arrange the rest.

The lilt in Kay's heart was suffocating. She had been so busy, so concerned with Charles Nourse, the viking god who had literally dropped at her feet, that nothing else mattered. She was with him one day in the sitting room of the blue guest suite, when she was brought back to realities. She had just pushed aside the heavy mauve window draperies so that he could see the long row of white hawthorn trees bordering one side of the lawn. She dropped on the stool beside his invalid chair.

With his large expressive gray eyes full upon her, he said, "Wonderful girl! This matter of your having saved my life—then merely to thank you—doesn't make it come out right."

She tried a light laugh but it stuck in her throat.

"Why should I be thanked? I did it on impulse—it was a duty. And saving lives is rather good sport. It's thrilling—romantic." Her cheeks had taken on a crimson glow. "But do look at those hawthorn blooms. They're never been so gorgeous."

Stubbornly he continued to gaze raptly at this bewitching girl with the friendly little nose, the eager little face uplifted to his.

"I've a rash, wicked impulse—to kiss you," he declared, grinning like an overgrown kid.

"Ingrate!" she reproved, trying to frown. "You'd take advantage of a lady who has—befriended you."

His gray eyes looked troubled. He sighed.

"That's true," he responded, on a note of discouragement. "To make it worse, you're the popular Miss Millstrom of the rotogravures. You're the dancing, flirting, beautiful, wealthy Miss Millstrom that the tabloids can't leave alone. It will be difficult—to forget you."

A sharp-edged pang of disappointment shot thru Kay.

"Forget me?" she whispered, her blue eyes widening.

"What else is there to do—gracefully?" he murmured.

His glance wandered over her head at the magnificence of this room. Until now, he had been bound to admire its crystal wall lights, its elegant green satin covered furniture, the priceless ivory Bokhara on the floor. He had been hoping his leg would soon allow him to stand in the blue and chrome shower, to shave before the scientifically lighted mirror. He couldn't give Kay anything like this. In fact, he couldn't give her anything—but love. And she would probably laugh at that.

Kay gulped, choked back a protest. Really, she mustn't throw herself at this man. If he were endeavoring to extricate himself from an awkward postion without hurting her feelings, she should assist rather than hinder him. It was plainly evident that she didn't register seriously with him.

She tossed her golden curls; managed airily, "But—but I should like you to remember me. I should like to have you for a—a friend—always."

He bit his lower lip, thinking he understood her embarrassment.

"Friend?" he got out, at last. "There is—someone of whom you're very fond?"

"No, no," she hastened to say. "I didn't mean—" She hesitated, sobered, remembering Hennington Blare. "That is—not exactly."

"Of course, I've got a job of a sort," he said, thinking aloud. "But a man who tests planes for a living is nothing to tie to—not for a girl like you."

She laid a hand over his on the arm of his chair. "But, Chuck," she began, her heart in her eyes, "I'm not—"

INSTITUTIONS GET SMUG

Bishop Says Would Be Well if Churches Destroyed.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP). The world would be better off, says Bishop Charles Wesley Flint of Atlanta, "If a hurricane or earthquake could destroy all our churches once a century. It would be a good thing to break up all the organizations in the local church—with the possible exception of the ladies aid—and start from scratch," he told the Methodist Episcopal board of bishops.

"Religious denominations, political parties and governments all get hardening of the arteries. A great idea strikes a man and he gathers a group about him. They organize an institution," he explained.

"For a while, the idea beomes a great cause to which men dedicate their lives. Then the people work the organization for the sake of the idea. In the next stage they work the organization for the sake of the organization. And, in the last stages of degeneration, the organization works the people for its own sake."

The board reported that during the past year the church had gained 181,297 new members, a little less than 1 percent.

YOU'RE t-i-r-e-d before the day's half over. You fall down on the jobs that other women over 40 seem to do so easily and well. Your nerves have gone to pieces. You haven't any appetite.

No wonder that your spirits sag, and then your figure. And that your face looks worn, lined, older than you really are.

So Unfair!

And yet it's so unfair. You aren't "old" at 40! You're entering the prime of life. Other women keep their youth, their energy . . . enjoy life. Why shouldn't you?

Only one thing may hold you back. You may need to get your digestive system in trim again . . . feel strength return, and nerves subside . . . until you find yourself one day feeling and looking like a different person.

What Science says . . .

For remember that early aging after 40 may often be due to these two common causes:

1. Lack of vitamins that are often needed at this time of life.
2. Poorer digestion after 40—that prevents many people from getting full value from the vitamins in foods they consume!

A simple food helps both these "after-40" troubles — Fleischmann's fresh Yeast. Eat it faithfully . . . and we promise you, not a miracle of rejuvenation, but a steady improvement of that run-down feeling due to lack of certain vitamins and slow digestion!

Especially Helpful After 40!

For Fleischmann's Yeast is rich in four vitamins that many people particularly need at middle age. And in addition this fresh yeast acts like a vitamin "booster" for people with a weak digestion. It provides vitamins in a helpful form and also aids in their assimilation by stimulating slow digestion.

And in this way Fleischmann's Yeast also helps you to get more nourishment from other foods . . . helps to give you better elimination.

Grocers everywhere have Fleischmann's Yeast. Try this tonic food so many people over 40 have found wonderfully helpful . . . Begin eating it today!

"I lacked the pep to enjoy myself after my work was done—was tired and subject to digestive upsets. I tried Fleischmann's Yeast. After I had been using it for a few weeks, my digestion improved and I didn't get tired easily any more."

Mary Asks How to Work Noel Into Program.

"THANK you for the invitation, Mary," I said, wrinkling my nose at her as she announced, after outlining her afternoon program for her brothers, "Of course, you're going with us." "And I shall be glad to accept. In fact, you couldn't keep me away."

She gave a short, little laugh of comprehension, for she knew that I was under compact with myself and Dicky never to leave her without my chaperonage, or, in the emergency of my enforced absence, that of Miss Whitlock, in order that we might foil any possible attempt on the part of her father-in-law to discredit her.

"I counted on that," she said pertly, adding quickly: "Well! I'd better be getting into something street-ish. You people are all dressed, but I'm in what is known as a 'quick change.' I'll be with you 'in t'ree shakes of a leetle sheep's tail.'"

The boys roared at her drawling imitation of Katie's favorite similie, and she whisked into her bedroom on the laugh. She returned in really creditable time, arrayed in a smart street suit of heather with touches of rust-red, and hat, bag and shoes of the same tint. A sable scarf gave the finishing touch to the ensemble.

Boys Thrilled.

"Gee!" Her brothers breathed the tribute together as their eyes went over her in prideful admiration.

"That's some swell outfit, Mary," Hank commented.

"And some swell girl inside of it!" Bill said, and Mary rushed at them as they stood together gazing at her, hugging them ecstatically and impartially.

"Thank a lot, darlings," she said. "I needed that to pep me up. And let me give you a little tip. If you can sling the blarney like that, you'll have the key to the heart of any woman you fancy. I didn't know you had it in you. I'm proud of you."

Tactfully she turned away from their palpable embarrassment, and looked me over critically.

"Auntie Madge, there's something wrong with the combination of your hair and your hat," she said. "I don't know what it is, but it doesn't click. Come over into my room and I'll try my luck with a few hairpins. Don't chew your fingernails, boys. We'll be right back."

I guessed her criticism was but a ruse to get me alone, and she confirmed my conjecture as soon as we were safely inside her door.

"Of course, you know that's all poppycock about your hair and your hat," she said, "and my humble apologies for even pretending a criticism before the boys. But I just had to see you, for I want to find out just how we're going to work Noel into this program. Poor darling! I suppose he's walking the floor, wondering why I don't put in an appearance."

"No, he isn't," I returned placidly. "Of course, he's longing to see you, but I made it very plain to him that he was 'to expect you when he saw you,' not before. He said he would put in the time catching up on some badly-needed sleep, so—"

Back to Hotel?

"So," she finished saucily, "my true love's pounding his ear instead of tearing his heartstrings into tatters. Well! 'tis better so, but that being the case, what's the matter with our coming back to the hotel after we get the boys off on the train, and putting in to hour or two on some hard licks for the play?"

"There's nothing the matter with it," I said, and was afraid that my voice held a note of sharpness. I had schemed and flouted Philip Veritzen's wishes in planning this visit of Mary to her husband, but while Noel was ecstatic with joy over the prospect of seeing her thus unexpectedly, she appeared perfectly willing to postpone the time of meeting in order to "get in some hard licks" on my play in which her father-in-law had promised her the leading role.

I could sympathize with her fear that Philip Vertizen meant to "double cross" her at some rehearsal before long, and could realize how fierce was her determination to do an answering "double cross" in the fashion I had planned for her. I meant to have her rehearse at first in the stilted, diabolically planned fashion in which he had drilled her and then, at the first hint that she had faced his dropping her from the cast, I had planned for her to break loose in the interpretation which I, as the author of the play, had deemed best for the role. But even tho I was flattered by her devotion to my program, I could not help feeling a sentimental disappointment at her attitude toward her coming reunion with her husband.

LAST THURSDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 21: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	?

You are South and hold:

♠ A K 8 4 3 ♥ K J ♦ 4 2 ♣ J 9 3 2

What call do you make now?

Answer: Three hearts. Average [and better] players continually "muff" this type of raise. After North rebids hearts South's K J become powerful support, and a heart game now appears probable. Merely to rebid spades would not be sufficiently encouraging to North. [Twenty-four points demerit for passing; 16 points demerit for two spades; 13 points demerit for four hearts; 30 points demerit for any other bid.]

Question 22: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	?

You are South and hold:

♠ 8 4 2 ♥ 7 5 3 ♦ A 5 ♣ A Q 9 8 5

What call do you make now?

Answer: Three hearts. Since partner has bid two suits you must show a preference, and your two and a half honor tricks, doubleton diamond, and three hearts demand more than the MERE preference that two hearts would now show. [Eighteen points demerit for two hearts; 26 points demerit for two no trump; 32 points demerit for any other call, including a pass.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: This hand came up at match-point duplicate with neither side vulnerable. The final bid was five diamonds by West and South doubled. North led the spade deuce; West played dummy's ace on this with the remark: 'Taking no chances.' He then led the six of diamonds and finessed the jack, losing to North's queen. Please advise what lead North then should have made. The difference of opinion occurred at this point."

I must say that West's remark as he put up the spade ace was entirely out of place. Obviously he wanted to give North the impression that he, declarer, did not have the spade king and thereby trap a spade continuation if the diamond finesse were to lose. Leaving ethics aside, however, North should not have fallen for the remark. The only holding by West that would have justified the remark as fact instead of fiction would have been a solid trump holding, i. e., declarer would have been in a position to put up the spade ace, draw trumps, and then discard his supposed spade loser or losers on the club suit. North's possession of the diamond queen ruled out this holding. Hence north should have known that the remark probably was unfounded. Moreover, South was virtually marked with the A-K of hearts for his double. Lastly, and most important, North should have called over the tournament director and insisted that West fully explain the meaning of his "taking no chances."

Health Talks

BY DR. HERMAN BUNDESEN.

President, Chicago Board of Health.

Since the development and use of the gastroscope (gas' tro-skop), an instrument consisting of a long tube and a small light with proper lenses, doctors have been able to see into the stomach. Many advances in the knowledge of diagnosis and treatment of stomach disorders have resulted. Particularly is this true with the diagnosis of gastritis, a disturbance which causes pain and distress in the stomach immediately after meals.

Before the gastroscope came into use, x-ray photographs of the stomachs of these patients were taken, but they appeared to reveal nothing abnormal. Since examinations have been made with the gastroscope, it has been possible to show that there are different kinds of gastritis or stomach inflammation.

The first is superficial catarrhal (su-per-fish-al kat-ar' al) gastritis, which occurs especially in young people between the ages of 20 and 40. The stomach membrane lining appears to be congested with flocks of mucus attached to it. There is an excess of secretion. The main symptom is pain in the abdomen which comes on immediately during eating. The taking of food or alkaline substances, such as baking soda, does not relieve the pain.

If this condition is allowed to continue, the lining membrane of the stomach may be permanently damaged, leading to what is known as atrophic (at-rof' ik) gastritis. In this condition there is also discomfort in the upper part of the abdomen, with a feeling of pressure, which the patient often says is due to gas in the stomach. In addition there are such symptoms as belching, sickness to the stomach and vomiting. This discomfort comes on immediatly after meals, and is not relieved by food or medicines. Loss of weight, loss of appetite and anemia are often present.

This condition seems to occur most frequently in persons between 40 and 60 years of age, and the symptoms generally continue over a long period of years.

A third type of gastritis is called hypertrophic (hi-per-trof'ik) gastritis. The lining of the stomach is redder than in the normal stomach. It appears thick with granular areas, showing a certain amount of hemorrhage. The stomach lining is mottled and looks like a cobblestone pavement. Persons with these symptoms may have pains immediately on eating, as well as sometimes after meals. Food or alkilis will at times relieve the pain, while at other times they do not. Sickness to the stomach and vomiting also are much more frequent in these patients than in those with ulcer. These persons usually are between 20 and 60 years of age.

When persons are suffering from such symptoms as pain in the abdomen, sickness to the stomach and vomiting, as well as loss of appetite, complete examination should be made, including x-rays of the stomach, bowel and gallbladder. If these examinations do not reveal any subnormal condition, the use of the gastroscope may be well worthwhile.

Goodnight Stories

BY MAX TRELL.

At that moment, Knarf and Hanid, the shadow children with the turned-about names, were surprised to hear a strange little voice. It seemed to come from inside the spring, under the dark, overhanging rock.

"Drink me! Drink me!" the voice said.

"Who are you?" Hanid asked, looking about her. Knarf crept forward and peered in the tiny cracks in the rocks where the water came trickling thru. But neither of the two shadow children could see anyone.

"Who are you, please?" Hanid called out in a louder voice.

"I'm the spring. Don't you see me? I'm right in front of you. I'm cool and fresh and clear. I'm good for thirsty mouths. Drink me."

But still the two shadows couldn't see anyone.

Then the voice said: "Can you make yourselves small?"

"Oh, yes! We can make ourselves any size we please," Hanid answered.

"If you make yourselves small, you'll be able to come in and visit us. We'll take you deep, deep into the rock. You'll see how the spring gets its water, and how it comes downthru the rock, and why it's cool and why it's clean."

Hanid turned to Knarf. "Shall we do as it says, Knarf? Do you think it will be all right?"

Knarf was very excited. "Of course! of course! Just think! We'll go all thru the spring. Oh! won't the children envy us when they find out where we've been? Yes, let's make ourselves small. Hurry, Hanid!"

Knarf Excited.

With that the shadow boy drew himself together and—whisht, he was as small and as thin as a blade of grass. The next moment Hanid did the same thing. Then they both looked about in surprise. The little trickle of water suddenly seemed like a great, strong stream, tumbling and falling over the rocks.

And all at once, from all the little cracks and hollows in the rocks, they saw little faces, like little drops of water: "Come in," cried the voices. "Come in! All the doors in the rocks are open!"

Want to Know Why You're Constipated?

Would you give a million to shake off that dull, dopey, played-out feeling that often comes with common constipation? Then stop a minute and think.

What have you had to eat this week? Just meat, bread, eggs, potatoes? Probably the reason you're constipated is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean how much you eat. It means a kind of food that isn't entirely digested, but leaves a soft, bulky mass in the intestines which helps a bowel movement.

What to do? Eat some Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. This crunchy toasted cereal is not only rich in "bulk"—it also contains both the intestinal tonic vitamin B, and iron.

Eat All-Bran every day and drink plenty of water. See if you don't get off your heels and on your toes! Kellogg's All-Bran is sold by every grocer.

High Honors to Six 4-H Members

Margaret Gardner. Marie Prochnow. Jack Paulson. Carol Kitzinger.

Harvey Finke. Margaret Anderson.

Six Nebraska farm boys and girls were named Thursday to receive high honors for outstanding achievements in 4-H club work.

Five of the group will receive trips to the National 4-H club congress at Chicago Nov. 26 to Dec. 2. They are Margaret Gardner, Johnson county; Marie Prochnow, Seward county; Margaret Anderson, Lancaster county; Jack Paulson, Douglas county; and Carol Kitzenger, Clay county. The sixth, Harvey Finke of Lancaster county, will be awarded a watch valued at $50.

Marie Prochnow, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Prochnow near Seward, was named state 4-H champion in canning. She has been active in 4-H work for six years, participating in 24 projects, including six canning projects where she canned a total of 2,623 quarts. She was leader of five projects and assistant leader of another.

Margaret Anderson, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Anderson, near Walton, has been in club work eight years. She will represent Nebraska as cooking champion. Her 4-H cooking achievements include 741 meals, 3,733 recipes and 60 loaves of bread. She has taken part in 24 projects, which included seven cooking projects, and was leader of one project, assistant of two others.

Jack Paulson, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Paulson, Valley, was awarded the state 4-H swine project championship. He was a member of the champion swine demonstration team at the 1936 Nebraska state fair, and of the second place dairy demonstration team in 1938. He was crowned king of the Fremont 4-H fair last August. In seven years of club work, he has taken part in 14 projects. All but three were livestock projects, including pigs, baby beeves, and dairying.

Margaret Gardner, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Gardner, near Tecumseh, is the third in her family to win a Chicago trip. She is state 4-H home economics champion. Last year her brother Charles won top national honors in crops judging at the Chicago 4-H congress; and in 1936 George, another brother, was state 4-H health champion. Margaret was a blue ribbon winner in the wool dress division of the state fair 4-H style show this fall. In her seven years of club work, she has participated in 12 projects. She was leader of a cooking club one year.

Carol Kitzinger, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Kitzinger, Harvard, was named state girl's room champion. A junior in the Harvard high school, she has been in 4-H work since 1934. Her club activities include such varied subjects as clothing, birds, sheep, room improvement and forestry. She won second place on a reading unit exhibited at the 1938 state fair, and second on a dressing unit at the 1937 fair. In addition, she has many county fair victories to her credit and takes part in such high school activities as band, chorus, Girl Reserve and dramatics club.

Harvey Finke, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Finke, Walton, named state meat animal project champion, won in the only division which does not carry a Chicago trip as its award. He will receive a watch instead. Harvey has one of the longest list of 4-H activities of any club member of the state. His brother Albert went to the national 4-H congress at Chicago in 1936 as state swine champion.

Easy on the eye—Easy to buy—on General Motors Terms

COMING at you, it looks like a million. Going away, it looks like good fortune you've missed.

A lot of fussy care went into the way it looks from the rear—you know, that's the angle from which it's oftenest seen.

Going or coming, it moves like a honey bee about its business. Better look quick if you want to see it—one sudden "swo-o-o-sh!" and it's gone!

How about it—is this stunning 1939 Buick really as lively as it looks? Well, just try it and see—you'll find it the car and the value of the year!

Maybe a bullet gets off faster. Maybe a rabbit can beat it on the jump or a skyliner lead it from point to point.

But you'll never want a highway cruiser that answers quicker to the green light's "go"—that slips more deftly through the holes in traffic—that with keener relish eats up the miles.

That bonnet houses a full complement of eight cylinders, and Dynaflash cylinders at that. All four wheels dance on BuiCoil springing of stout spiraled steel; no quiver or shiver shakes the luxurious body in its flight.

You'll see the world—lots of it—for this sightly Buick now parades the passing panorama through windows with up to 413 more square inches of outlook than before.

Other things you'll like: A gearshift out of knee-way. Front wheels that "bank" the curves for you. Brakes that stop on a dime—and leave nine cents change.

Go see this lovely lively traveler. Drive it—feel its magic yourself, first-hand.

You'll find it beautiful in action as in aspect—you'll go for the way it goes for you.

You'll find it obedient and willing, a car that holds its marks in cross-winds, bears sharp around curves without slide or slew.

In fine—we think you'll like all of it—from its looks to the way it lives up to them. Won't you try it out—and see?

M'LEMORE

Tennessee Has Its Rose Bowl Lesson

BY HENRY M'LEMORE.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (Copyright, 1938, U. P.). This is the home of the undefeated, untied University of Tennessee football team, but there are no Rose bowl jitters here.

Tennessee had that Pacific coast plague in 1929, and has been immune ever since. That was the year that McEver, Hackman, Dodd & Co. took the field against Kentucky in the last game of the season knowing that their coach, Maj. Bob Neyland, had an invitation to the bowl in his pocket, and that victory would make it binding.

More than one Knoxville citizen still is crying over what happened. Linen suits, bought for the expected trip to the coast, had to be turned over to the moths. Children, sent to grandma for safekeeping while mama and papa were in California, had to be recalled. Hundreds of staybehinds, who had been promised boxes of oranges, were disappointed.

Because Kentucky, with a team scarcely worth the sweaters on its back, up and tied Tennessee, and rendered void the bid to the biggest of all postseason games. That cured Tennessee. Since that time it has made a business of looking no farther than the next game, and the fact that it has only to hurdle Vanderbilt, Kentucky and Ole Miss to achieve a perfect season has not caused it to look toward the future thru Rose (bowl) colored glasses.

Vandy Is Next.

I saw Tennessee, conqueror of Alabama among others, work out Wednesday. As I walked down the field with Maj. Neyland I made a casual reference to the Rose bowl. He drew himself to his full West Point height, froze up like Washington at Valley Forge.

"Our next game," the major said, "is with Vanderbilt, and not on the Pacific coast."

GONZAGA COACH WINS 'LOW MOANING' PRIZE

SPOKANE, Wash. (UP). Mike J. Pecarovich, head coach at Gonzaga university, won $1,000 worth of athletic equipment for Gonzaga as first prize in a national "moan letter" contest for coaches.

The award is made annually by the Athletic Round Table and Pecarovich's letter was placed first by a majority of 11 sports editors of larger newspapers west of the Mississippi river.

The entry pictured Pecarovich as Moan Lowe, coach of Gonzaga at Shanghai. It told of the annual Rice bowl game with Hongkong, and how, on the final play, an opponent kicked the ball out of sight. But Sling Pig Hi, Gonzaga star, was ready for the catch. He caught the falling object and was away for 100 yards and the winning score, only to disappear in an explosion that wiped out the stadium. He had caught, Pecarovich wrote, a Japanese bomb.

FAIRBURY RESERVES WIN.

FAIRBURY.—Hand circled end for the only touchdown of the game as the Fairbury Reserves beat Deshler here, 7-0. Baker passed to Garcia for the extra point. The locals had a decided edge, with 13 first downs to 6 for the visitors.

BY GLENN TRUMP.

Twenty-two youngsters, the pick of the high schools of Lincoln and Omaha Central, will do their vote-casting Friday afternoon on the Omahans' football field.

Barring an upset later in the season, these two will elect the 1938 Nebraska prep gridiron ruler while one of the year's largest crowds looks on.

The game, the most attractive in the state on a classy Armistice day card, will attract many Red and Black backers, including the high school band and Peppers, girls pep club.

Both teams will enter the game with unsullied records. Coach Ralph Beechner's Lincoln invaders, a slight favorite, have been superior to seven teams to date, while Central has downed five and held Sioux City East, one of Iowa's elite, to a scoreless deadlock.

Listed among Lincoln's victims are representatives from Missouri, St. Joseph Central, and Iowa, Sioux City Central. The comparative records to date.

Lincoln		Central
21 St. Joe Central	6	19 Fremont 6
13 Crete	7	0 Sioux City East 0
28 Grand Island	0	18 Omaha South 14
19 S. C. Central	7	14 Omaha Tech 7
38 Beatrice	0	13 Abe Lincoln 12
18 Omaha South	7	47 Omaha North 0
32 Omaha Tech	0

Edge in Experience.

Lincoln, which has not dropped a game to Central since 1923, will have an edge in weight, records and reserve strength, while Central claims an advantage in experience and the fact it will be working on its own field.

The Capital City crew has a well rounded attack with triple threat Howard Debus as its spearhead. Debus, a well built 185 pounder, will be a constant threat with his deadly passing. Dean Jackson and Fred Metheny are both competent receivers while Melvin Kessler, a junior, has been rapidly improving.

On the ground, Don Hansen, Buddy King and Metheny will offer the Purple plenty of trouble. Hansen, safety man, has the knack of coming thru with lengthy runs when most needed, while King and Metheny are used mainly to ram into the line and pull the enemy's secondary up close.

Lincoln's forward wall is led by Jackson, Forrest Bachman, Eugene Irick and Joe Partington, fast charging lads.

Central will seek to match fire with fire, in Ernie Weekes, 160 pound back, Coach Frank Knapple has a sure fire runner who has yet to be stopped this year. Weekes also does a majority of the passing and punting. Against Omaha North he galloped on runs ranging from 25 to 38 yards five times for scores.

Charley Vecchio, 120 pounder, is the sparkplug of the backfield and an excellent field general, while Bob Moran and Frank Hronek complete the starting quartet. Louis Weiss, a regular, will see some action altho injuries will prevent him from starting.

Have Big Line.

The Eagles' line, averaging 184 pounds, is the largest in the state. The smallest lad, Howard Schuenberger, 160 pound tackle, is a formidable candidate for all state honors while Howard Westering, Leonard McDonald, Al Canfield and John Gnodsell are other standouts.

Lincoln's heavy backfield will give the Red and Black a slender weight advantage, however, 178 to 172.

Last year Debus' plunge for a touchdown in the second quarter provided Lincoln with a 6 to 0 win. Fred Metheny and Debus started for the Links while Portington and Hansen saw substitute service. Howard Schuenberger, Charley Vecchio and Ernie Weeks were in Central's kickoff lineup while Howard Westering, Leonard McDonald and Bob Moran were used later in the game.

The probable starting lineups, numbers and weights:

UNBEATEN ELEVENS RISK RECORDS THIS WEEK ON PREP GRID

Lincoln-Omaha Central Tops Program of High School Football.

AGS AT NORTH PLATTE

BY DALE M. JOHNS.

The grim reaper of undefeated high school football teams may have to hire extra help this week end to haul off his cargo of fallen hopes. At least half of the 28 unbeaten teams, 26 of which see action, are in serious danger of defeat. Bertrand has an open date and Winnebago finished its schedule last week.

Heading the attractive Armistice day program as football starts its stretch drive is the Lincoln high-Omaha Central engagement on the latter's field. Barring other upsets, the winner of this game will have a two-fisted hold on the 1938 mythical state championship. Neither has been defeated.

The day's second feature takes once beaten Curtis to undefeated North Platte's field in a highly important Southwest conference battle. By winning, the Aggies can spear themselves another circuit championship, while if North Platte wins, the Platters are almost certain to finish neck and neck with Gothenburg, whose clean record Cozad shoots at this week.

Entertaining Scottsbluff, Alliance will have its hands full to continue its unsullied record and retain the Western conference lead. Oshkosh also has a clean slate in Western league play but does not schedule enough loop games to be eligible for the title.

Three Other Top Notchers.

Three other contests between unbeaten teams grace the week's schedule. Valentine goes to Ainsworth in a North Central classic and the stiffest test to date for both elevens; Oxford entertains Orleans in a battle for Republican Valley conference honors, and O'Neill goes to Neligh.

Other undefeated elevens which may expect trouble are Aurora host to loop leading Central City in a scrap for Central Six laurels; Columbus, which travels to Kearney; Sarpent, on its journey to Callaway; York, when Hastings invades for their Mid-East clash, and Hebron, host to Superior in a Southern Blk Six battle.

Of the other unbeaten teams, Ord should have little trouble with Arcadia in their Loup Valley league contest, Bayard is a heavy favorite in its Western conference game with Bridgeport. Bethany is expected to defeat Havelock in a romp in their Greater Lincoln league engagement, Oshkosh has little more than workout with Dalton, Edgar is slated to add another South Central victory in its game with Clay Center; Tecumseh should be easy for Falls City in the Southeast conference, Pilger should get past Wisner, Silver Creek past Polk in their Goldenrod game, and Genoa past Wolbach.

Crete at Beatrice.

Outside the strain and struggle of maintaining clean records, highlights find Crete at Beatrice for another Mid-East fray; Wahoo at Ashland in the former's last game of the season; Chadron at Crawford in a Northwest classic, and Grand Island at Fairbury. The schedule:

BETHANY FAVORED OVER HAVELOCK IN LINCOLN LOOP TILT

Dale Bradley, Scoring 100 Points, Leads Maroon Offense.

AIDED BY ARMSTRONG

Coach Lyle Weyand's talented Bethany Maroons, rolling merrily along toward an undefeated season, encounter Havelock high's defending Greater Lincoln league champions in the local prep headliner Friday at Ballard field. The kickoff is booked for 3 p. m.

Headed by Dale Bradley, the now you see him—now you don't back, the Maroons will be top-heavy favorites. The two teams have not met a neutral opponent as yet, but Bethany has walked over seven straight impressive opponents while Havelock has been stumbling along with two victories, three defeats and a tie. The comparative records to date:

Bethany			Havelock
10	Hamburg, Ia.	0	0	Omaha Benson 7
27	Wahoo	7	0	Seward 0
48	David City	0	6	College View 0
13	Tecumseh	0	20	Auburn 0
13	Ashland	0	0	Creighton Pr. 18
49	Plattsmouth	6	0	York 14
6	Jackson	0

Directed by Bradley, Lowell Armstrong and Leo Hastings, three of the state's topnotch players, the Maroons have a brilliant offensive. Fronting a backfield of four formidable lads is a line that has allowed but 13 points this year.

Scores 100 Points.

Bradley has accounted for an even 100 points this year already. Armstrong, small but speedy, is an excellent receiver for the "Big Moose's" flips and also does his share of the ball lugging.

Besides hard hitting Hastings, the line mainstays are Eugene Collier, Mark Henderson and Bob Johnson.

An aerial attack with Kenneth McClure in the role of passer and either Lloyd Feezhausen, Dave Titterington or Bill Malone as receiver has been Havelock's forte. McClure, a 163 pounder, also does the punting and a majority of the ball lugging.

Defensive standouts have been Feezhausen, Bob DeBord and Bob Farrell.

Bethany will also have distinct edges in weight and experience. The Maroons will average 161 pounds per man to Havelock's 157, and hold a six pound advantage in the line.

Last year Havelock opened its loop season by threshing the Maroons, 26 to 0. Kenneth Carpenter tallied three times and McClure went across once and added one extra point.

How They'll Start.

Young, Johnson, Smith, E. Collier, Henderson, Bradley, Armstrong, Therien, Townsend, Martin and Snowaller saw service for Bethany last fall, as did DeBord, McClure, Bullock, Maxwell, Farrell and Chittham for Havelock. The probable lineups, numbers and weights:

No.	Bethany		Havelock	No.
25	Henderson	170	le.	155 Feezhausen 66
30	Collier	160	lt.	168 DeBord 21

GRAND ISLAND HOLDS WEIGHT EDGE IN GAME

Third City Invades Fairbury for Annual Tussle With Sloan's Team.

FAIRBURY.—Grand Island will have a substantial weight advantage over Fairbury when the two teams clash here Armistice afternoon, 15 pounds per man in the line and 10 in the backfield. In the three games played by the two teams in recent years, the Manderymen have won two and Fairbury one, but the Islanders have only a 20-19 edge in total points. Comparative scores against Hastings would point to a Jeff win, since the Tigers licked Grand Island 24-0, and edged Fairbury 24-20. However, the Third City crew was far from top strength against Hastings, due to injuries. A full strength lineup may confront the Sloan crew Friday, evening the odds.

PREPS SCRIMMAGE FOR WEEKEND TILTS

Bethany, Jackson, Havelock at Top Strength; One Viewman Injured.

Scrimmaging was on deck at every Greater Lincoln high school Wednesday afternoon as coaches prepped their youths for this Friday's all important league games.

Everything was working according to Hoyle at Bethany, Jackson and Havelock and it appeared that these clubs would be at full strength. Coach Teply at Havelock placed special emphasis on the importance of stopping Dale Bradley, Bethany's outstanding back, while Bethany was working on its pass defense, a department the Shoptowners will seek to bring victory.

Cardinal Dads Honored.

At Jackson, Coach Robson brushed up on both sides of the aerial game, offensive and defensive. Robson announced the College View game would be "dad's day" and all fathers of Cardinal players would be invited to watch the game from the sidelines.

Coach Chase sent his College View eleven thru blocking drills and signal practice, also, before calling it a day. Cloyd Richardson and Bob Morey checked out for the first time this week and Chase said both would be ready for Jackson. Lawrence Nolan was on the sidelines with an injured ankle, Bernard Clark, 140 pounder, taking over his first string guard position.

PLATTER ACE TACKLE SUFFERS LEG INJURY

NORTH PLATTE. — North Platte high school's chances to beat the Curtis Aggies in the Southwest conference's important football engagement here Armistice afternoon received a considerable jolt during scrimmage Monday when Arthur Lincoln, star tackle, pulled a muscle in the calf of the left leg.

A frantic effort was being made Tuesday to effect a treatment that might enable Lincoln to play while Coach Ivan Wilson looked over his reserve list for a suitable substitute.

Meanwhile, Mentor Wilson continued to drill his undefeated clubs on a defense designed to stop the fast Aggie running attack.

The biggest crowd in the history of North Platte high school football is expected to be attracted to the game.

Cathedral Plays St. Cecilia Team

Coach Kermit Yetter's Cathedral high six man football team will attempt to preserve its undefeated record and gain a repeat victory over St. Cecilia of Hastings Friday afternoon at Hastings. The game will precede the Hastings-Midland college N. C. A. C. tussle.

Earlier in the season, the Bluebirds romped off with a 47 to 0 win, scoring in every quarter.

To date Cathedral has won seven straight games, and scored 247 points to its opponent's 40 for an average of 35 per game to 7.

Since the defeat at the hands of the Bluebirds, St. Cecilia has captured two straight, downing St. Marys of Grand Island, 12 to 8, and Juniata, 60 to 12.

With Leon Willie, ace fullback, out of town, Cathedral will rely upon Jack Sweeney, hard hitting halfback, Caspar Fitzmaurice, fiery center; and Don Baker, pass catching end, for victory. Captain Jerry Goodwin, Bill Gould and Jim Elliott are St. Cecilia's standouts: The probable starting lineups:

Speaking of MOTOR OIL— Are YOU Using REFINOIL

Airplanes Use Refinoil

Thousands of Lincoln Motorists ARE using Refinoil exclusively. They say it's the best motor oil they have ever used. It last longer and lubricates better.

BY THE REFINOIL PROCESS, THIS MOTOR OIL BECOMES 100% LUBRICANT. NO GUM, NO SLUDGE, NO CARBON FORMING ELEMENTS. . . . MAKES YOUR MOTOR RUN SMOOTHER, GIVES LONGER SERVICE WITH LESS REPAIR BILLS AND LONGER LIFE FOR YOUR CAR.

THAT'S WHY BIG USERS OF MOTOR OIL PREFER REFINOIL

Bus Lines Use Refinoil

The U. S. Navy was first to adopt this oil produced by the Refinoil Process. They found it a superior motor lubricant for the Navy's costly airplane engines. Refinoil, they found, could withstand the terrific heat of high-speed airplane engines and gives POSITIVE lubrication in the constantly changing temperatures of long distance flying.

Thousands of Car Owners Use Refinoil

Nation's Leading Transport Companies Use Refinoil

Railroads Use Refinoil In Their Streamlined Trains

Following the Navy's discovery—Airlines started using this oil. Then Railroads found it the perfect lubricant for the expensive diesel motors of their streamlined trains. Oil chemists and leading lubrication engineers heard the amazing story of Refinoil . . . tested it in their laboratories . . . tested it again in actual road service . . . then adopted it for their great fleets of motor cars and trucks. Truck and Bus Lines also made tests . . . then THEY started using REFINOIL. Today, thousands of private car owners use Refinoil and nothing else. Each day brings MORE new users as one user tells another of the marvelous results he gets from Refinoil—the oil that lasts longer and lubricates better, yet costs only 12c a quart.

New Faces In Starting Lineups Of Pittsburgh And Nebraska Teams

I May Be Wrong

By John Bentley

Most of the accent has been placed on Marshall "Biggie" Goldberg and Dick Cassiano when the Pittsburgh team is mentioned but there's a chap who has been overlooked. This fellow is Harold "Curly" Stebbins, 195 pound halfback, who has had a big hand in defeating Nebraska the past two seasons.

Despite indications that Goldberg, not yet recovered from the hammering he took in the Fordham game, will not play, it is believed that if Pitt needs him badly, Mad Marshall will be in there.

The superfine timing of Pitt's offense is reflected most clearly by the plaint of the various defensive players.

"I just missed him!"

You'll hear that more after a Pitt game than in the ordinary battle. And that's exactly what the wily Dr. Jock Sutherland planned. The Pitt linemen on the side opposite from which the play hits, don't spend too much time checking their defensive men. They stay just long enough to force the defense to miss the ball carrier by about half a step; sometimes this is cut to a quarter of a step. Then they are off down the field to help mop up the secondary.

Pitt will run what appears from the stand to be the same identical plays several times, but the blocking assignments may be entirely different. The Panthers are able to switch these blocking assignments in the huddle, depending upon the type of play they happen to be up against. If a guard or tackle is over anxious he is handled quickly and effectively by a trap.

When you see these Panther plays diagrammed you find that there are not ten players ahead of the ball, as it appears. But there is always plenty of help when the toter manages to break thru the first line.

All this recalls that a couple of young fellows named George Seeman and Bob Mills, playing left end and left tackle respectively for the Huskers, are going to have a busy afternoon. Pitt's stoutest plays are aimed at these positions. If Seeman and Mills are able to do the job that Elmer Dohrmann and Fred Shirey did in Panther Hollow last autumn, it might be quite a ball game.

Any stigma attached to football scouting duties has vanished. W. H. Browne, who has camped on Pitt's trail for four games, was relating the hospitable manner in which he was received last Saturday at Pittsburgh. Along with other enemy diagram makers of the Panthers, he was taken on a tour of the Tower of Learning and entertained at the Faculty club. Football has advanced in that respect, at least.

When the followers of the teams decide that the fans in the other camp are fellow citizens and not a low type of ghoul occupying the same relative position as the "De-Mings" in Popeye the Sailor's personal rating sheet, then the game will have really advanced.

Morris Fisher thinks Fred Pralle, Kansas U. basketeer who finished his college career last season, is the best he's ever seen. . . . And Morrie has been around when it comes to basketball, having once played against Chuck Hyatt of Pittsburgh in 1930 when the Panther five won a 34 to 27 decision from the Huskers. . . .

This fellow Bob DeFruiter of Lexington has been hot as a pistol against the Husker varsity the last couple of workouts. . . He's been sliding up and down the line of scrimmage, finding openings that didn't appear to be there and banging far into the secondary before he could be brought down. . . He's a lad to tab for future reference. . . Transportation for grid scouts has picked up. Coach Browne leaving Pittsburgh at midnight Sunday in an air liner, and was here in time to lay his most recent findings before Biff Jones and the other members of the staff at 10 Sunday morning.

It's Lloyd "Bouly" Grimm now, June Bierbower hanging this nickname on the Omaha end . . . Johnny Howell batted a fourth quarter pass from the hands of Les McDonald last Sunday, to permit the Green Bay Packers to defeat the Chicago Bears . . . Because the Huskers haven't lost while wearing white jerseys since 1932 at Minneapolis, Miss Bierbower suggests that these "angelical trappings" be hauled out again Saturday . . . She thinks they may have had something to do with that win at K. U. . . .

SEVEN OF 22 WHO WERE PRESENT IN 1937 ANSWER CALL

Brock, Dodd and Callihan Only Huskers Back for Opening Kickoff.

REPORT GOLDBERG OUT

BY WALTER E. DOBBINS.

Only seven out of the 22 starters in the Panther-Cornhusker lineups of a year ago will line up for the initial kickoff in Memorial stadium Saturday in the 13th meeting between Pitt and Nebraska U.

Marshall "Biggie" Goldberg who handled the left halfback assignment for Jock Sutherland's tribe last fall has been switched to Frank Patrick's old fullback post this season but is reported to be definitely out as a starter Saturday

The Pittsburgh squad left late Wednesday night for Cornhuskerland and will arrive in Omaha, Friday, in time for a workout on the Creighton field.

Coach Sutherland's tentative starting eleven includes nine seniors and two juniors, Fullback Ben Kish and Halfback Dick Cassiano, being the second year performers.

Nebraska, with a fair sprinkling of veterans, will start three sophomores -- Forrest Behm, right tackle; Herman Rohrig, left halfback and Harry Hopp, quarterback.

Out to Redeem.

Pitt, having dropped from the No. 1 spot in the nation's football rankings as a result of its startling 20 to 10 upset by Carnegie Tech last Saturday, will be seeking to vindicate itself against the Scarlet.

Two years ago Pitt came west after having dropped a heartbreaking 7 to 0 game to Duquesne in the mud. At that time Coach Jock Sutherland said, "Our season ended with the Duquesne defeat."

Yet with the Huskers a slight favorite that season Pitt put on the steam and came from behind a 6 to 0 Husker advantage and soundly trounced Dana Bible's team, 19 to 6.

The Panthers went on to wallop Carnegie Tech, 31 to 14 and got the Rose bowl bid, knocking off Washington in the annual Pasadena classic, 21 to 0.

Whether Pitt has recovered from the shock of losing its first game to its intercity rival remains to be seen. For some unexplainable reason the Panthers have always been able to play some of their best football against the Huskers.

Unheard of backs and linemen have come to the front and stolen the show from some of their more illustrious teammates against the Huskers. Two years ago it was Fullback Arnold Greene who chalked up two touchdowns against the Huskers.

A few years back it was Walinchus; then Shedlosky and lastly Stapulis.

Pitt Big Favorite.

Nebraska, with only a victory over Kansas and a tie with Indiana to show this season, will enter Saturday's skirmish on the short end of the betting.

Some of the wise money says Pitt to win by three touchdowns.

Old Timers Resent Effort to Eliminate Point After Touchdown

BY JOHN LARONER.

Copyright by the NANA (The Lincoln Journal and other newspapers).

NEW YORK.—A few notes on football, which seems to have replaced the horse:

Nothing makes your old time drop kicking and place kicking star so sore as to hear coaches—Frank Thomas, of Alabama, for instance, and Joel Hunt of Georgia, and Bill Alexander, of Georgia Tech—recommend the repeal of the point after touchdown. The point after touchdown is very dear to the heart of every bona fide kicker.

"Why do they call it football?" the late Leroy Mills used to ask. "Take out the kick for point and you might as well play the game with dice, like parchesi."

This week Mr. Chas. Brickley, the old Harvard target kicker, rises again in defense of the man with the shoe.

"These fellows beef about the point after touchdown," says Mr. Brickley, "because they won't take time enough away from alumni banquets to develop a kicker. The point after touchdown is the easiest play to make in all football. A good kid, trained under pressure, should kick those things in his sleep.

"Practice helps, but the kid should practice in scrimmage, with a defensive line rushing him. That'll give him the nerve and poise he needs. The rest is easy."

Young Charles a Kicker.

Mr. Brickley is the anxious father of Chas. Brickley, jr., who used to come out between the halves of big football games when he was 12 years old and drop kick a hundred points in a hundred tries from the 15 yard line. At high school this season, Brickley cadet is batting .950, with 19 points in 20 kicks. His old man is afraid that drop kicking will call for a 15 yard penalty by the time young Charles reaches college.

But back in 1930 the Huskers held a better Panther team to a scoreless tie and repeated the performance in 1932.

Nebraska is in good physical condition for Saturday's battle. Fullback Edsel Wibbels, who has been devoting his time to field goal kicking the past two weeks, is the lone Husker casualty but the Wolbach sophomore has been out since the Iowa State game and has not figured in any of the past four contests.

Pitt's Marshall Goldberg is the most serious loss to Pitt altho Biggie may be able to play if needed. Walt Raskowski, first string tackle, reported on the injury list earlier in the week, will be available Saturday according to latest press dispatches from the Panther fort.

Armistice day ceremonies will be held at halftime honoring Nebraska's soldier dead.

Scouting assignments for the week sends Adolph Lewandowski to Bloomington for the Iowa-Indiana game and Chili Armstrong, assistant frosh mentor to Manhattan for the Iowa State-Kansas State battle. Coach Browne, who has been on the trail of Pitt for the last four Saturdays, will see Nebraska in action for the first time since the opener with Minnesota.

BIG SIX FOOTBALL CLUBS PREPARE FOR TWO CIRCUIT TESTS

By the Associated Press.

Coach Don Faurbt announced that 29 Missouri Tigers would make the trip to Oklahoma, leaving Thursday night. Wednesday's drill was on offense against Oklahoma defense. Roland Orf, end, who has been out with a fractured hand, returned and probably will be available Saturday.

Coach Wes Fry put his Kansas State Wildcats to improving their offense in a long workout in preparation for the Iowa State game.

A hint the Wildcats may take to the air Saturday was seen when Quarterbacks Jack Blanke and Melvin Seelye threw passes to ends and backs for good gains.

Sooners at Full Strength.

Oklahoma's Sooners will be at full strength for their Big Six grid battle with Missouri here Saturday, Trainer Ted Owen said after their workout.

Tackle Gil Duggan and Guard Jerry Bolton both have recovered completely from injuries and Bill Jennings, sophomore halfback, has recovered from a cold that kept him in bed earlier in the week. Defense against Missouri passes occupied the Sooners in most of the practice.

Kansas varsity men and reserves got a taste of George Washington university plays in scrimmage against the freshmen. Punting practice, with ends going down and tackling ball carriers, concluded the practice.

FINLAND SENDS BID TO OLYMPIC GAMES

NEW YORK (UP) Finland's official invitation to the United States for the XII Olympiad disclosed that the quadriennial competition in 1940 will be held July 20 to Aug. 4.

The American Olympic committee announced it would meet Dec 5 at New York to formally accept the invitation and to act upon other Olympic plans.

Coincident with the invitation, the American committee received the first entry for the games Donna Fox of New York, holder of the record for the St. Moritz course where the Olympic bobsled races are to be held, sent in his entry for the tryouts at Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 10-13, 1939. Fox, captain of the No. 1 American team that went to the 1936 Olympics in Germany, was prevented from competing by a severe back injury suffered in a spill during a practice run.

K. C. STAR PSYCHIC WITH ONE PICTURE

A man with an ability to look into the future or an uncanny knowledge of things to come is the member of the Star's sports department who printed pictures of a Nebraska football player and a Kansas athlete in the morning edition of the Star Saturday and wrote, the headline above:

"THEY'LL CLASH AT LAWRENCE TODAY."

The gentlemen he chose were the Cornhuskers' Charlie Brock and the Jayhawks' Mike Sinlanik.

COLLEGE VIEW PLAYS JACKSON HIGH ELEVEN

Both Greater Lincoln Teams Depend Upon Aerial Game.

College View and Jackson, a pair of suburban schools who thrive upon the forward pass, will collide in the Wesleyan bowl Friday afternoon in a Greater Lincoln league battle. The kickoff is slated for 3 p. m.

Supt. Mickle of Jackson announced it would be Dad's day with all fathers of Cardinal football players invited to watch the game from the sidelines.

Unless Bethany is the victim of a radical upset at the hands of Havelock, the Jackson-College View game will have little to do in deciding the ultimate victor of the league. Both teams have been beaten while the Maroons are coasting along undefeated.

On a comparative record, Coach Merritt Robson's twice beaten Cardinals should encounter little difficulty subduing the Southsiders, who won their first game last week at the expense of Milford. The season records to date:

College View.			Jackson.
0	Lincoln Res.	6	22 Wymore	7
7	Ashland	19	12 Beatrice	7
6	Tecumseh	19	0 Falls City	0
0	Havelock	6	8 Omaha North	12
7	Hebron	13	0 Crete	0
32	Milford	0	0 Bethany	6

Depend Upon Passes.

Jackson's hopes will be pinned on the passing of John Thompson and Marshall Nichart and Darrell Gurr's tumbling and Jim Owen are the usual receivers for Thompson and Nichart's flips. Dave Coulter, Owen Clark and Francis Hughes are the mainstays of Robinson's line.

A Keith Powell to Ed Nyden aerial combination has been practically the only reliable offense College View has offered as yet, Nyden, who stands six feet two, ranks as one of the state's best in the receiving department.

Howard Gottredson, hard running halfback; and Lee Lemmonds and Lawrence Nolan, excellent blocking guards, are the other Southside standouts.

College View will hold a slight six pound weight advantage per man, thanks mainly to 247 pound Floyd Richardson.

Bowmaster to Rhoades.

Last year, a Bowmaster to Rhoades pass gave Jackson a 7 to 0 victory. Nyden, Richardson, Powell, Marrow, Morey, P. Tudor, Noland and Roemich were in the College View lineup, while Hughes, Gunn, Thompson, Trumbo, Coulter, Currier, Sanders, Trumble, Johnson, Ray Bowmaster, Clark, Nichart, Owen and Wolfe saw service for the Cardinals. CULBERTSON, WAUNETA PACE FRENCHMAN LOOP

CULBERTSON, Neb.—Culbertson and Wauneta continued to set the pace in the Frenchman Valley grid race during the past week. Culbertson polished off Trenton, 21 to 0, after the lighter Trenton team had carried the ball deep into Culbertson territory during the first period. The Wauneta Bronks playing with three regulars out of the lineup took to the air and beat Grant 8 to 0, and North Platte ran over Imperial, 65 to 0, in the only non conference game played last week.

The only conference game scheduled for this week is the tussle between Wauneta and Imperial on the Wauneta rectangle. In non-conference games Culbertson goes to Colby, Kas., Trenton meets Indianola, and Grant plays Maldain.

In the conference six man race Palisade will meet Hayes Center in the deciding game for the six man title. Standings.

SAVAGE PRESSED TO WIN GRAPPLE BOUT

Zimbelman Makes It Tough for Steve; Lord Albert Fails to Show Up.

Wednesday night's rassle card at the fair grounds was a weird offering.

In the first place the semi-final came before the preliminary because Lord Albert Mills failed to show in his scheduled bout with the veteran Pat McGill. But weirdest of all was the astounding comeback of Slim Zimbelman in the final event, after Smiling Steve Savage had copped the first fall. Zimbleman tore into the grinning one with a vengeance and claimed the second fall, forcing the first three fall match of the new season.

Slim Is Irked.

Referee Joe Zikmund awarded the first fall to Savage who employed a double wrist lock to turn the trick in 12:47. Zimbelman, near the edge of the mat, thought he had been outside the ropes and griped considerably about the decision.

Between falls, Zimbleman vowed all sorts of vengeance and with the gong, made true his threats, pinning the Grinner in 7:28 with a body scissors.

The third fall was a honey, with both battlers out for the victory. It took Savage, making his debut here this season, 10:38 to lay a body block on his foe for the fall.

Marvin Jones defeated Ole Swenson in the semi-final in 13:15 and drew with McGill in the prelim.

HARDY NEARS CROWN IN LITTLE BLUE LEAGUE

HARDY, Neb.—Hardy is apparently headed for another Little Blue football league championship, for the third consecutive year. Alexandria, who has forfeited the Armistice day game to Hardy, gives Hardy a virtual clinch on the title.

Several other strong teams made their appearance in the league this year, namely, Hebron Academy, Carleton and Mahaska. Injuries handicapped Alexandria and Mahaska; Alexandria having Sharp and Davidson, senior lettermen out much of the season, and Mahaska losing Gossett, senior letterman for the season, in the first game and Livingston also a letterman, early in the season. He was Mahaska's leading ground gainer, as well as a good passer and punter being a left handed passer and left footed kicker. Carleton, a first year team has shown remarkable improvement in every game. Their team possesses speed, power and a good defense. Standings.

KRIEGER CHAMPION IN MOST OF STATES

NEW YORK. (UP). Middleweight champion everywhere except in his home state, Solly Krieger, and his Manager Hymie Caplin, mapped out a lengthy tour of the hinterlands after refusing to accept the New York athletic commission's plan for untangling the muddled situation in the 160 pound division.

Krieger is recognized by the National Boxing association as a result of his 15 round victory over Al Hostak in Seattle last week. The New York ring body refused him recognition and approved the Fred Apostoli-Young Corbett III match Nov. 18, as for the world crown. Krieger was given until Nov. 22 to agree to meet the winner.

"We're champion in 47 states," Caplin said. "We won the title in the ring, and now they get a couple of guys here from California and call it a championship fight. Looks to me like Apostoli and Corbett will be fighting for the New York state title."

Football Deaths Again Decrease

LAFAYETTE, Ind (AP). The number of deaths among high school, college, sand lot and athletic club football players for the first half of the season shows a decrease for the second straight year.

Preliminary figures compiled by Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood of Purdue university, who keeps an annual record for the American Football Coaches association and the N. C. A. A., showed 14 deaths directly attributable to football up until Nov. 7, compared with 16 for the same period last year.

Of the 14 fatalities, only 1 was reported from the colleges, 7 from high schools, 2 from athletic clubs and 4 from sandlots. Of 5 additional deaths indirectly due to football, 2 were reported by colleges, 2 by high schools, and 1 from an athletic club.

The only college fatality directly ascribed to football was that of Martin B. Morrow of Morgan Park Junior college, Chicago, who died Nov. 5 of cerebral hemorrhage. Skull fractures and internal injuries were the other chief causes of death among the 13 other fatalities directly due to football.

PERU IS GIVEN SLIGHT EDGE OVER NEBRASKA WESLEYAN IN CONTEST

Last Home Game for Ten of Dwight Thomas' Team Friday Night.

WHEELER USING FROSH

Coach Dwight Thomas' Nebraska Wesleyan team, one of those undeterminable off and on elevens, will attempt to wind up its home season Friday evening in the Uni Place bowl with a victory over favored Peru. Referee Max Roper will signal for the kickoff at 8 p. m.

It will be the last game in the Wesleyan bowl for ten Plainsmen seniors and Coach Dwight Thomas announced nine of these would get the starting call. All of the starters save Ends Bill Wilhelm and Don Williams are seniors. The other player slated to receive his diploma before next fall, John Lay, will see service at a tackle.

The comparative records give a slight edge to Coach A. G. Wheeler's invading Bobcats, who turned in impressive showings against Doane and Midland. Peru, however, lost to Kearney, which in turn bowed to Wesleyan. The season records to date:

Wesleyan		Peru.
0	Augustana	20 0 Marysville 33
14	York	0 12 Doane 13
12	Marysville	21 21 Midland 6
6	Kearney	0 6 Kearney 14
6	Midland	19 6 Wayne 12
6	Doane	19 7 Hastings 12

Wesleyan's strong points have been alertness, capitalizing upon enemy mistakes, and a passing attack. Thomas has four competent pitchers, Charley Burroughs, Neil Davis, Don Otto and Johnny Staten, and an excellent receiver, LaVaun Price.

Burroughs and Otto.

Burroughs and Otto have been the chief running threats with end runs, while Staten and Don Magnuson are usually in the plunging roles.

Bill Wilhelm, outstanding freshman end who is the pupil of Harold Gardner, 201 pound tackle, Martin Brasch, scrappy center; and Floyd Ralston, 175 pound guard, are the mainstays of the forward wall.

Coach Wheeler has been devoting much time to a Peru freshman eleven that has been seeing much service. "They have made mistakes but I hope it will pay dividents in the future" he says. Fifteen of the 27 squad members are yearlings.

A passing attack, Morton Campbell to Leonard Greathouse, and Campbell and Tommy Majors, hard runners, are the Bobcats main threats. Howard Dean, Acting Captain Delbert Nelson and John McIntire are Wheeler's most reliable linemen.

Dean and Nelson are former Lincoln lads. Dean winning many laurels as a member of Red and Black football and basketball teams. Robert Henderson, freshman back, will be out of the game due to an injury in the Hastings game.

Peru Wins Last Year.

Last year an underdog Peru eleven nudged Wesleyan, 7 to 6. Don Otto accounted for the Wesleyan score after an end run from the 5.

Nelson, Greathouse, Velvick, Greene, Mosley, Majors and Adams were in the Peru lineup while Van Ella, Lay, Branch, Williams, Davis, Ralston, Burroughs, Magnuson, Ripley, Otto, Price, Staten and Harrington saw service for Wesleyan. The probable starting lineups, numbers and weights

TWENTY YEARS LATER.

I can see them marching forward thru the rain and mud of France.
I can hear the eerie bugles as they start the last advance.
They were lean and young and vibrant—but the years have rolled away.
Now I find them somewhat pudgy—and a little bald or gray.

I can see the poppies crimson, that were then a deeper red
From the mangled veins that fed them from the wounded and the dead.
I can hear the great guns thunder as some crowling shell went by
And I saw the deep fires shining in their drift against the sky.

I wonder if the fallen knew, that from their golden dust,
Their khaki, matted with the clay, their rifles red with rust,
They'd reap an even richer crop of shining steel and shell,
Of killing gas and bayonets that flames the way to hell?

I've seen them sit and wait for dawn—that meant the end of life.
The final dream of mates and home—the final day of strife
And I wonder if they wandered, as they swept across the top,
Their dust would plant the harvest for an even richer crop?

I've seen them drawn and haggard as they gave their youth away
For some dim phantom of a dream that had no thought of pay.
A specter known as duty, underneath old glory's spread,
In a world where dreams have vanished—and the dreamers are the dead.

They broke the stout Contigny line, where Germans reeled and ran.
They drove them back at Soissons, and they stopped them at Sedan.
They paid the price in Argonne's depths—I wonder if they know
The crop their golden dust has raised to build a greater foe?

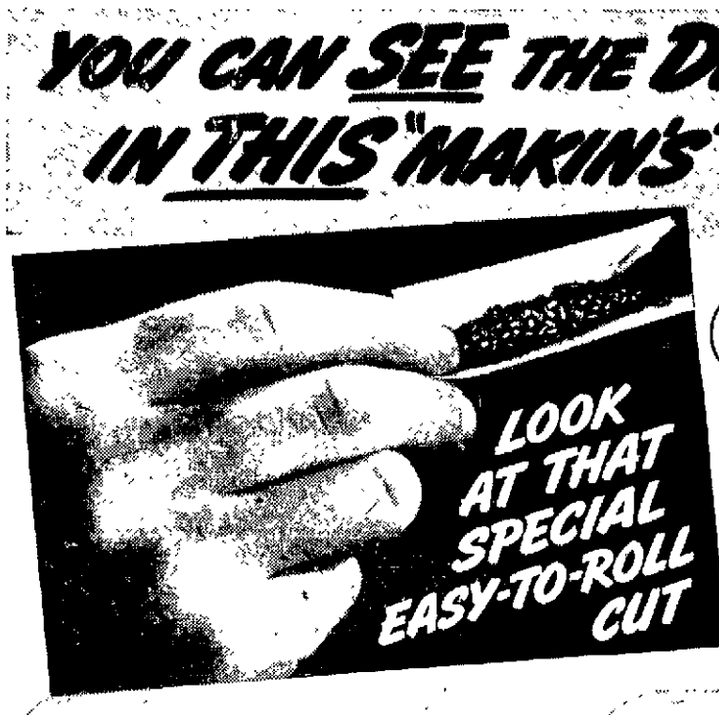
YOU CAN SEE THE DIFFERENCE IN THIS "MAKIN'S" TOBACCO!



FOR EASY HANDLING AND FIRM ROLLING, PRINCE ALBERT IS OUT IN FRONT— IT'S WAY AHEAD ON MILDNESS, YET IT'S GOT GOOD BODY—THE MELLOW RIPE KIND THAT HITS THE SPOT!

You'll agree with Burns Harrelson, Jr. (left) that Prince Albert rolls up easily and quickly. P. A. is specially cut—"crimp cut"—to roll fast and firm without blowing around, bunching, or wasteful spilling out the ends.

YOU CAN SMELL THE DIFFERENCE... your nose tells you that it's choice, ripe tobacco . . . . .

"Buck" Winstead (left) puts in a word or two: "Don't know which is more tempting—a whiff of Prince Albert in the tin, or that swell aroma from a P. A. 'makin's' smoke." Nature's lavish with the fragrance she puts into P. A. And that special cut assures slow burning—the pleasant aroma doesn't get "burnt out."

In pipes too! Prince Albert is a grand smoke, thanks to its ripe tobacco, special cut, and "no-bite" process. There's no other tobacco like P. A.

SO MILD...SO TASTY ...SO FRAGRANT

YOU CAN HEAR THE DIFFERENCE TOO
when you listen to what roll-your-owners say about Prince Albert

YOU JUST CAN'T TOP PRINCE ALBERT FOR RIPE, RICH-TASTING GOODNESS. A TIN OF P.A. ROLLS UP INTO AROUND 70 SMOOTH, EASY-GOING SMOKES THAT'RE MIGHTY FRIENDLY COMPANY

70 fine roll-your-own cigarettes in every 2-oz. tin of Prince Albert

J. A. ("Jack") Oakey (above, left) speaks up for Prince Albert's ripe, rich taste. No wonder, for P. A.'s better tobacco to begin with. It smokes so much milder and mellower without a bit of bite.

TRY P. A. THIS NO-RISK WAY

Roll yourself 30 swell cigarettes from Prince Albert. If you don't find them the finest, tastiest roll-your-own cigarettes you ever smoked, return the pocket tin with the rest of the tobacco in it to us at any time within a month from this date, and we will refund full purchase price, plus postage. (Signed) R. NEW YORK (AP) Altho scattered strong spots were present in Thursday's stock market post-election rallying power faded from many leaders under comparatively heavy profit taking Wall street's elation over Tuesday's ballot box results was still a supporting influence but many traders scampered to neutral territory on the theory Wednesday's broad upswing to the highest levels in more than a year called for some intermediate correction even if the advance is to be resumed later In addition another holiday Friday—Armistice day—when the exchange will be closed induced some lightening of commitments

Early extensive offerings jut the ticker tape behind during almost the first hour when 810,000 shares changed hands The decline was stemmed shortly thereafter and losses running to a point or so were reduced or transformed into gains of a's much There was another setback later but without any upturn in volume Losses running to a point or more predominated at the finish Transfers were around 2 200,000 shares

A few rails steels, farm implements and specialties were successful in contesting the reversal Motors coppers, aircrafts and rubbers lacked stamina

Propping steels was a further rise in mill operations at Pittsburgh and other centers A rise of 50 cents a ton in heavy melting steel scrap was reported Republic Steel developed individual popularity on word the company had appropriated $1 250 000 for plant improvements and expansion

The U S Steel corporation announced October shipments of finished products aggregated 663 282 tons an increase of 55 621 over September but 129 023 under October last year The total just about confirmed previous forecasts in the financial rector

Opening of the automobile show in New York Friday served to limit pressure on the motor shares as predictions were wide spread of extensive sales at the exposition

STEEL OUTPUT

NEW YORK (AP) The nation's current steel rate of around 61 percent of capacity is likely to continue throout the remainder of 1938 and even may climb a little higher Iron Age said Thursday in its weekly review of the steel industry The immediate outlook for steel operations is promising the publication said No slowdown in the month is indicated and in fact the rate may rise further during November and possibly December It seems probable the trade journal added that 1938 ingot output may be near 30 000 000 tons output in the first 10 months having been 21 123 872 tons

On the longer term future however the publication was less optimistic Unless there is a revival of private undertakings it is difficult to forecast a continuance of the present favorable trend in steel bookings and production beyond the time when settings of government financed projects reach a peak which probably will be about next March the organ said Aside from the automobile industry which is making rapid strides in getting back to a normal basis of operations there is no outstanding improvement in any important steel consuming channel Much of the current activity which has lifted ingot production this week to 61 per cent compared with an average output last month of 52 45 percent emanates from the automobile industry and government financed construction work Automobile companies are taking large shipments of steel and in some instances have asked for earlier delivery than were originally specified which accounts in part for the point rise in operations over last week

The Iron Age scrip composite price index now stands at $14 50 up 8 cents from last week

CORN STARS, WHEAT SLOWS

Former Is Peaked at 1 1-8 Cents Higher

CHICAGO—Corn became the star performer and pushing wheat into the background climbed 1⅛ cents a bushel, while wheat suffered slight setbacks Highest prices for corn since Sept. 30 were reached Rural offerings of corn were scarce, and numerous traders purchased corn futures against sales of wheat

At the close Chicago corn futures were ⅝@1⅛c higher compared with Wednesday's finish Dec 47⅛@47⅝c May 51¼@51⅜c wheat at ¼@⅝c decline Dec 63¾@63⅝c May 65⅝@65¾c, and oats unchanged to ⅜c up

GRAIN NOTES.

CHICAGO (AP) Broomhall says Liverpool wheat has made new low quotations the past seven days but the decline is less pronounced now that a good percentage of the distressed wheat arriving, is thought to have been picked up by importers The statistical position is somewhat steadier with farm stocks in Canada greatly reduced very little surplus wheat in Australia and no abundance of high grade wheat pressing at this time

Springlike weather thruout Europe has checked consumer demand for corn Cheap barley and rye continue to compete with corn B W Snow of Fuller Rodney & Redmond says agricultural production in Russia is now less per head of population than it was in pre war times He adds that there is no real surplus for export from Russia this year of any of the bread grains

LIVERPOOL WHEAT AND COTTON

LIVERPOOL (AP) Trading in cotton futures was confined chiefly to trade buying which absorbed light hedge selling Final quotations were 1 to 2 points up

Wheat futures eased after early firmness and closed ¼d to ⅝d net lower The market reacted on hedging sales higher temperatures in Argentine and smaller cash demand

BODY FOUND IN LAKE.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP). The body of Dr. John Henry Neff, 51, nationally known urologist of the University of Virginia medical faculty, was found Wednesday in Payne's lake near Charlottesville. His disappearance started a search in which 400 students, townsmen and faculty members joined. Officers found two sealed envelopes in the locked car.

LEAVES $15,000 ESTATE

Mrs. Louise Harrison Won Part of Husband's.

BLAIR, Neb.—Mrs. Louise Harrison, 74, widow of the late James N. Harrison, Herman grain dealer who died more than a year ago, left personal property estimated for probate purposes at $15,000, according to an estimate filed in Washington county court. Mrs. Harrison's husband bequeathed all but $6,900 of his estate, estimated at about $35,000, to the state superintendent of public instruction, for use of impoverished school districts. The will was contested by a niece, Miss Ada Harrison, and after County Judge John A. Carrigan had ruled that the man was competent when the instrument was drawn, attorneys announced a settlement, terms of which were not made public. Mrs. Harrison's heirs are a sister, Mrs. Josephine Hansen, Herman; and the following nephews and nieces: Alma and Floyd Ackerman, Herman; Clarence Ackerman, Dunning; Lucille Ackerman, Washington; George Ackerman, Tekamah, and Lesua Ackerman, Herman.

BRITISH PROMISES FAIL

Conflicting Pledges at Bottom of Palestine Troubles.

Two conflicting promises made by the British government are primarily responsible for the violent disturbances in Palestine, A. L. Miller, general secretary of the Jerusalem Y. M. C. A., told a group of Lincoln persons interested in association work, at the University club Wednesday evening. One promise, made to secure Arab aid in the World war as against the Turks, was that they would be allowed to set up a separate state in that section of the world. The other was to a Jewish chemist who had rendered valuable services in providing acetone for munitions making, that Palestine should be made a Jewish homeland.

Jewish immigration has been so heavy and Jewish competition, in view of greater financial resources and intelligence, so keen that the Arabs fear they will lose control of a country that has been theirs for several centuries. At present there are 900 thousand Arabs and 450 thousand Jews, with Jewish immigration increasing yearly. There are more people there now than the country will support, and economic conditions are extremely bad. Principal sources of income are citrus fruits and tourists. Overproduction of citrus fruits, due to entrance into the field of Jewish persons, has caused prices to fall, and tourists are no more.

Arabs will not join in co-operative efforts to settle the troubles, because so many of them are in concentration camps, unjustly immured, they say, and an atmosphere of intense hatred prevails. This is accentuated by the conduct of the children, the Jewish school pupils scorning the Arab and the Arab bitterly resenting the treatment.

Mr. Miller said the only hope of solution lies in co-operative effort. In the Y. M. C. A. Jewish and Arab boys belong to football teams and orchestras and work together without friction. The number of prescribed Jews in other countries is so much greater than the capacity of Palestine, only a part of which is cultivable, that it cannot possibly absorb all of them. Partitioning has failed, he said.

SCREEN GUILD IS TARGET

Extras Claim Million Dollars Unlawfully Spent.

LOS ANGELES. (AP). Charges that the Screen Actors guild since May, 1937, has collected from its members more than $1,000,000, "most of which has been unlawfully spent save approximately $100,000," were filed with the national labor relations board by three guild members. The petitioners, representing junior members of the guild, made up of extra players, are Edward Dahlen, Art Taylor and S. G. Larkin.

They charge the guild has taken in more than 6,500 members in excess of the number needed by the motion picture industry, and that the senior members and the producers have entered into a contract which deprives junior members of their lawful rights.

The petition names 34 studios, including the major concerns, as well as the Central Casting corporation, and asks the labor board to cancel the contract and stop the producers and senior members from bargaining.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND by EDWARD A. HUMAN

A FAMOUS PSYCHOLOGIST SAID, "AT THIRTY A MAN'S HABITS OF THOUGHT ARE SET LIKE PLASTER, NEVER TO BE RE-MOLDED." IS THIS TRUE? YOUR OPINION—
ARE THERE MORE VICES THAN VIRTUES IN THE HUMAN RACE? 2
ARE UNHAPPY WIVES MORE LIKELY THAN UNHAPPY HUSBANDS TO BRING SUIT FOR DIVORCE? YES OR NO— 3

1. When William James said this, a generation ago, little was known about adult psychology—or any psychology for that matter. But thousands of experiments since have shown that the mind can develop new habits—especially new attitudes—and learn new things about as readily at 60 or 70 as at 15 or 20. Old age offers no serious handicap to learning or doing anything you may wish to do. If you do not continue to learn, discover new possibilities in yourself, develop new attitudes, beliefs, hopes and skills as long as you live, it is your fault and not because your mind has lost any of its essential powers.

2. No, there are far more virtues. If this had not been the case the human race could never have progressed. Indeed, what is a vice? It is some form of manifestation of unfitness to survive. And if there had been greater unfitness than fitness in man's nature, he would have perished in the struggle with nature and other animals. Man has outstripped all other animals solely because his nature is essentially made up of virtues — courage, confidence, health, co-operativeness, tolerance, kindliness—above all intelligence.

3. Yes. A report of the census bureal shows that twice as many wives as husbands obtain divorces and that this relative proportion is increasing. It points out that one reason may be that the laws allow more legal grounds for a wife to obtain a divorce than for a husband. For example, "neglect to provide" would rarely be grounds for a husband to seek a divorce. Also cruelty, drunkenness and desertion furnish grounds for divorce far more frequently on the part of the husband than of the wife.

TARZAN AND THE ELEPHANT MEN

The shadowy figure of Troll crept closer to the trembling girl. "Be quiet!" he whispered; "I want to talk to you. You don't want to spend the rest of your life with Spike and a bunch of black savages up there in that valley where he's leading us to, do you?"

Gonfala did not answer, but Troll continued. "When he gets up there, he'll kill me—and then he'll have you in his power. I know him—he's that kind of a rat. Now, you come away with me. We'll take the big diamond, and beat it to Europe, to Paris."

The girl knew that hitherto her safety had been assured by the rivalry of the two villians. With either, she would be in peril. "I don't want to go anywhere with you. Get out, before I call Spike." "One squawk, and I'll wring your neck," Troll snarled.

At the same moment, Troll's hands reached out swiftly and seized her, groping for her neck, because he feared she might make good her threat. The unfortunate girl had time to voice a single scream. Then the ruffian's fingers tightened murderously on her throat.

DALADIER GIVEN NEW CHANCE FOR ECONOMIC PLANS

Fascist Articles Modified—Scotland Yard Probes Nazi Attempts.

By the Associated Press.

A slim majority of 74 votes among the chamber of deputies' 618 members gave Premier Daladier's government a new lease on life to carry on its economic program and resistance to Italy's colonial ambitions. After a riotous session, Daladier won over the solid opposition of socialists and communists.

From the more moderate tone of anti-French articles in the fascist press and the absence of new street demonstrations Italy's unofficial campaign for her "aspirations" in Tunisia seemed slackening.

The anti-Italian demonstrations spread westward from Tunisia to Algeria in France's Arab empire as French troops strengthened their guard on the Tunisian frontier facing Italian Libya.

Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, sailing for a vacation in the United States, declared "You can stop worrying about where to put the refugees now. That problem has been solved." The most pressing need, he said, was "co-operation for an international loan and, above all, a little co-operation from Hitler."

Huge illustrated posters appeared on nazi precinct headquarters in Berlin depicting British soldiers firing on Arabs and destroying Arab villages.

In Rome the authoritative editor, Virginio Gayda, voiced an Italian demand for a share in the control of the Suez canal after citing figures showing that Italian traffic thru the near east artery was second only to that of Great Britain.

LONDON, (UP). Scotland yard is investigating charges that efforts have been made in behalf of Germany to get British firms trading as Germancerns to "Aryanize" their staffs—to dismiss their Jewish employes.

BROKER'S ACCOUNT OF M'KESSON HEAD HELD

Public Hearing Opened at New York Into Fantastic Setup.

NEW YORK. (AP). Supreme Court Justice Steuer signed an order temporarily tying up cash and securities valued at approximately $100,000 in the brokerage account of Carol E. Coster, wife of F. Donald Coster, president of McKesson & Robbins, inc., $87,000,000 drug concern.

Atty. Gen. John J. Bennett, jr., announced the signing of the order shortly after he opened a public hearing into the financial affairs of the drug concern, described by a director as "so damned fantastic we still can't believe them." The firm seeks reorganization under the Chandler bankruptcy act.

Coster, a native of Washington, D. C., is 54. He holds the degrees of doctor of medicine and doctor of philosophy from Heidelberg university and practiced medicine in this city from 1912 to 1914. He became president of McKesson & Robbins in 1926. His home is in Fairfield, Conn.

Albert B. Ritts, senior accountant in the accounting firm of Price, Waterhouse & Co., told Asst. Atty. Gen. Ambrose V. McCall about an $18,000,000 item which purportedly represents crude drug stock on hand in various warehouses here and in Canada in accounts receivable from the sale of crude drug stock.

In statements to stock exchange officials, W. L. Cummings and J. F. Thompson, directors, expressed fear the McKesson-Robbins assets were overestimated by $10,000,000.

Cummings expressed fear the crude drugs department "might be just a hollow balloon, just a shell," and said they had the word of George E. Dietrich, assistant treasurer, "that the loss is in excess of $10,000,000."

The department made elaborate financial reports showing profits, Cummings said.

TITLE OFFICERS RETAINED

Official family of the state's abstractors, the Nebraska Title association, all were put back in office Saturday as Guy E. Johnson, Wahoo, was re-elected president. Others back in office are Leo J. Crosby, Omaha, vice president; Frank Grant, Lincoln, secretary-treasurer, and George M. Lathrop, Nebraska City, and Herman F. Buckow, Grand Island, directors. Other than the election, remaining activity in the closing session included a discussion of perfect abstracts and defective titles by Dean Foster of the University of Nebraska law college.

HEARING ON SUITS TO OUST MAGUIRE STARTED IN COURT

Argument Not Finished and Court Adjourns Until Monday at 9 a. m.

With District Judges Chappell, Shepherd, Broady and Polk sitting en banc in Judge Shepherd's court hearing on the quo-warranto suit and mandamus suit to oust John A. Maguire, municipal judge from office, and permit Edward C. Fisher, elected at the general election Nov. 8, to take bench, was begun Saturday morning. Argument had not been finished by Ass't. Atty. Gen. Overcash when the court adjourned at noon until Monday at 9 a. m.

The question at issue is whether there was a vacancy on the municipal bench to be filled or whether Maguire should serve as he contends until Jan. 1941 on his appointment by Gov. Cochran. The mandamus and quo warranto cases were consolidated. It is contended by the state that Maguire is illegally holding his office at the present time and that the vacancy existed and was to be filled at the general election. Maguire refused to relinquish his office.

Considerable of the evidence was stipulated but County Clerk Morgan was put on the stand to show election records and to show that there were no objections to Edward C. Fisher filing, nor of Wayne Landon, a defeated candidate; that Co. Atty. Towle and the attorney general furnished an opinion that there was a vacancy and Maguire filed an acceptance of nomination as did Fisher. Also that Maguire filed his election expenses after the primary but not after the general election. It was also shown that Morgan gave Fisher the certificate of election and that at no time were objections filed to the certificate by anyone, and that Maguire made no objections himself.

Maguire Filed Case.

These matters were put in evidence by Sterling Mutz who also called Ira Varhies, clerk of the district court, to show that on

B. & O. LIMITED WRECKED

Two Women Seriously Hurt in Ohio Derailment.

DEFIANCE, O. (AP). The Baltimore & Ohio railroad's eastbound Fort Pitt limited left the rails near here early Saturday, causing injuries to two women sufficiently serious to require hospital treatment. Many other passengers were treated for minor cuts and bruises at the scene of the accident near Holgate, ten miles east of here. The women were brought to a Defiance hospital by ambulance. Attendants said their condition was not serious. R. M. Shaw, who drove the ambulance to the wreck reported eight of the train's ten coaches were derailed. Some of these, he said, plunged deep into mud at the base of embankments. The ambulance operator said two engines which drew the limited remained on the tracks. "The steel cars sank almost five feet in the mud and many passengers were helped out thru windows," Shaw said. Nearly all passengers were taken to Deshler, about 25 miles east of here, and there boarded another eastbound train, Shaw said.

Those treated were Mrs. James Knowell, 40, of St. Paul, Minn.; Mrs. Michael Shaughnessy of Willard, O., and Mrs. Helen Rowland, 42, of Chicago. Mrs. Rowland was released a few hours later.

SAY TAX METHOD IS DISCRIMINATING AGAINST SCHOOLS

Teachers' Delegate Assembly Urged to Sponsor State Aid Bill.

The Nebraska State Teachers association committee on finance, revenue and taxation reported to the association's delegate assembly at the Lincoln Saturday that "the tax methods employed by Nebraska are a definite discrimination against the public schools," and proposed a state aid plan for education.

The committee, headed by Supt. F. E. Alder of O'Neill, recommended a plan "designed to supply a relatively large fraction of the funds required to support the public schools of the state, and financed by taxes not now used in Nebraska." The committee declared the local property tax is carrying an unfair share of the cost of government, that it is an antiquated form of taxation, and that it has failed "as a means of raising the funds necessary to provide the type of education we require."

It was charged that Nebraska's tax methods demonstrate "a failure to assume the attitude and responsibility toward education that a state should assume. In the matter of providing funds for education, Nebraska ranks definitely below every state adjacent to it except Missouri, and as a result, many of our best teachers are migrating to other states.

In proposing the state aid plan, Alder said, the committee had in mind such new tax forms as a state income tax, an excise tax or a sales tax, in the order named. Any new taxes would be collected by the state and apportioned to the counties and eventually to the school district, according to the number of pupils.

Alder's committee recommended that authorization be given for co-operation with the farm groups in framing a bill and sponsoring it in the 1939 legislature.

Teachers United.

Sarah T. Muir, head of the English department at Lincoln high school and chairman of the committee on legislation, presented a report which read, in part:

"It has been said of teachers in the past often times that they were not agreed about what the schools need. That could scarcely be said last year. It will not, we believe, be said this year. We have striking evidence that teachers are united in the belief that Nebraska schools have not been held at their true value...Better schools for the children of Nebraska is our watchword!"

A subcommittee on teachers retirement said the bill to be introduced in the next legislature is similar in many respects to the measure defeated in the last ses-

FEDERAL HEARING OVER TRI-COUNTY SUIT ENDS

Decision Regarding Injunction Expected to Be Given Monday.

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (UP) The federal court hearing into the tri-county public power district condemnation injunctionsuit ended here Saturday with completion of attorney's arguments. Federal Judge J. A. Donohoe, Omaha, who heard the case said he expected to hand down his decision on Monday.

The case was brought by some 30 Keith county landowners who questioned the right of the federal power commission to take jurisdiction over waters of the Platte river, thus throwing the question of damages for appropriation of their lands into federal courts.

Judge Donohoe is expected to rule on the following three points:

1. Whether congress has jurisdiction over the project on the grounds it will affect interstate commerce.

2. Whether the federal power commission findings are conclusive regarding the effects the project will have on navigation of the Missouri river, and whether the court can review that point from the evidences submitted, and,

3. If the court finds it can rule on the question, whether the project actually does or does not affect navigation.

Testimony during the hearing was contradictory, with experts of the federal government testifying control of Platte river waters is essential to the Missouri river navigation problem, and experts for the plaintiffs testifying to the contrary.

BOONE COUNTY IN WPA SLASH PROTEST

Stefan to Take Up Drouth Area Problem With State Head.

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP). Congressman Stefan said here he is being bombarded with protests against the slash in WPA rolls, and some county commissioners and county assistance directors are charging discrimination. Boone county officials sent protests to Stefan, claiming the Boone county reduction is nearly 20 percent of the case load, as compared to the state average of less than 10 percent. In Boone county, where there have been seven years of drouth the officials told Stefan 20 families have been left with no means of assistance.

Stefan has taken up the matter with the state administrator, and has protested against cuts in relief in the drouth sections of the Third congressional district.

"It seems rather strange and perhaps it is significant now that election is over," the congressman added, "that these cuts in relief are being made at a time when the cold weather is here and at a time when needy people are more in distress than they were during the summer months. This practice of throwing out needy people in cold weather is deplorable. It was known in the summer just how much money was on hand for relief. This money could easily have been budgeted by those responsible for its administration so that the needy could have been taken care of, now that the winter is here."

BURNHAM TALKS TO GROUP

P. T. A. Considers Bills That Concern Education.

At the state P. T. A. meeting Saturday morning at the Cornhusker A. L. Burnham, executive secretary of the Nebraska State Teachers association, spoke on problems before the legislature touching on education, including the bill that has been prepared on Teachers Retirement. He also talked of the subjects taken up for discussion at the Teachers Assembly this week, and made suggestions by which the P. T. A. might help in solving these problems. Plans of the work for the year by the committee chairmen were approved by officers of the state P. T. A. during the morning session.

Coaches of the Mid-East Athletic conference met for luncheon Saturday at the chamber of commerce to draft football schedules for the 1939 season. Robert Mickle of Jackson high is president of the group. High schools represented were: Beatrice, Crete, Fairbury, Hastings, York and Jackson.

HANGED IN WOMAN'S GARB

Ex-Brakeman's Body Found at Galesburg.

GALESBURG, Ill. (UP). The body of a man, clad in women's clothes and a long brunet wig, was found hanging by a chain in a cornfield. His hands were padlocked behind him.

The body was suspended by a dog leash from a low branch of a tree and sagged so low the knees brushed the ground.

Police, who at first believed it was murder, later theorized that the man might have stood under the branch, slipped the noose over his neck and then locked his hands behind him so he could not change his mind when he fell to his knees and the noose tightened. Police identified the victim as Gale Davison, 26, a former brakeman on the C. B. & Q. He was unmarried and had lived here with his mother. For several months he had some employment as a laborer.

U. S. IS CONCERNED BY NAZI OIL DEAL

Asks Daniels to Report on Mexicans Exchanging Oil for Machinery.

WASHINGTON. (AP). State department officials, concerned by reports that Mexico has arranged to barter oil to Germany for machinery and chemicals, asked Ambassador Josephus Daniels for a full report.

This government's interest arises from the fact that the oil was produced by wells seized from American-owned companies and no compensation has been given.

While there was no official comment, officials here were understood to take the attitude that the disposition of the oil was of extreme interest to this government so long as claims of the former American owners were unsatisfied.

President Cardenas of Mexico has recognized that country's obligation to pay and has invited the owners to discuss the question, but there has been no progress toward a settlement.

Mexico City dispatches said about $17,000,000 worth of oil was involved in the deal, completed thru W. R. Davis, New York oil man. Mexico, it was said, will receive some cash as well as German manufactures and supplies. Not all of the oil will go to the reich.

HUNT DICKSON IN NORTH

Said to Have Been in Minneapolis Barber Shop.

MINNEAPOLIS. (UP). Search for Benny Dickson, Kansas desperado, and his young wife, Estelle, centered here, after two barbers identified Dickson as the man who changed his clothes at the barber shop. He left his old clothing asking the barbers to burn it, and hurried away, after saying he was going "north."

GOODWILL INDUSTRIES OFFICER TALKS HERE

Dr. E. J. Helms, Secretary, Describes Work in the Post 20 Years.

Dr. E. J. Helms, executive secretary of the National Association of Goodwill Industries, told directors of the Lincoln organization at lunch Saturday that in the 20 years of its existence Goodwill Industries has taken in $48,375,648 and has distributed $31,649,146 in salaries and wages, mostly to the poor, handicapped, needy and old.

Of the total of 48 million, $40,318,477 came from reconditioned merchandise "out of the attics and cellars of altruistic people who have used our Goodwill bags." The remaining $8,057,172 has come from community chests and private donations.

In the 20 years there have been no failures in the organization, and buildings and equipment valued at nearly 4 million dollars are now owned. No accurate figures are available for the first ten years, Dr. Helms said, but in the past ten years work has been given to 395,013 different persons. The organization has in that period put 48,926 people on jobs outside Goodwill Industries. The present list of active contributors totals 1,625,410.

Dr. Helm said in August, which he described as one of the poorest months of the year for Goodwill work, approximately 3,000 were working for Goodwill Industries, divided as follows:

Blind, 72
Deaf, 150.
Defective speech, 22.
Orthopedic cases, 336.
Unemployables, 997.
Mental cases, 151.
Socially handicapped, 193
Other handicaps, 380
No handicaps, but unable find work, 477.

ROBBERS UNDER HEAVY BOND

Two Admit Raiding Fairfield State Bank.

LEBANON, O. (AP). Davis I. Cross, 29, Hamilton, Pa., and Coy Russell, 22, Houston, Tex., confessed participants in the $920 robbery last Nov. 16 of the Fairfield, Neb., State bank, were held on $25,000 bond each after pleading guilty to charges of kidnaping and armed robbery. They were charged in connection with the abduction and robbery of a state highway patrolman Thursday night, which led to their capture in flight. They signed confessions admitting the Fairfield robbery, Co. Atty. Dilatush said. The bank was robbed by two men who spent the previous night in jail, in the guise of hitchhikers.

COUNCIL IS STUDYING POWER CO-ORDINATION

Survey Undertaken to Determine if Any Feasible Move Along These Lines.

Altho the city council Friday closed the book on conferences concerning lease or purchase of the local distribution system of the Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power company if and when the Central Nebraska Public Power district takes over, there remains the matter of studies to determine if anything can be done that's feasible to accomplish co-ordination between the Central and the municipal distribution system and still permit operation as two separate systems.

A preliminary discussion was held Saturday at the city hall between Engineer Erickson, for the city, and George E. Johnson, for the Central Nebraska. The city has an excellent record of all that pertains to its system. Data will be submitted and compared.

The district proposed studies looking to co-ordination of facilities which, it professes to believe, may result in economies. The council, in its Friday statement to the effect that it will continue in the management of its affairs as heretofor, stated that it is naturally interested in economies and rate reduction and in avoiding uneconomic competition so far as is consistent with full protection of the city's interests and preservation of the identity of the respective ownerships of the properties.

Hands Are Full.

With the city now out of the picture the district will presumably have its hands full continuing negotiations with the Iowa-Nebraska for purchase of its properties and with eastern financial interests. If the Central succeeds

COMPARE UTILITIES WITH FASCIST STATE

Two Members of Congress Testify on TVA Benefits Before Committee.

WASHINGTON. (AP). Two members of congress compared private utilities with fascism before the TVA investigating committee.

Senator Schwartz, (d., Wyo.), a committee member, and Representative Rankin (d., Miss.), staunch TVA advocate who appeared as a witness, said there was a similarity.

Rankin, co-author of the TVA act, was testifying on TVA benefits when Schwartz interrupted to observe that some persons had suggested the TVA program "was socialistic."

"I wonder if the integration of private utilities is not a form of fascism?" the western senator asked.

"It is the most powerful and corrupt influence ever organized in a civilized country," Rankin replied.

"I've heard a lot of agitation recently about ragtail and bobtail communists in this country," Schwartz said. "I have not heard a word about fascists."

Launching into a broad attack on the utility industry, Rankin said its leaders had "attempted to intimidate the courts."

"They have bribed legislators directly and indirectly," he added. "They have attempted to intimidate the press in some sections. They have even tried to influence the churches."

PRESS WIRELESS STRIKE

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP). Charging that the Chicago management of the company has declined to negotiate an agreement ending "intolerable" conditions, 21 employes of Press Wireless, inc., a radio communications company, were on strike in San Francisco and Honolulu. The entire staff of 15 operators, transmitting and receiving engineers in the San Francisco office and six operators and messengers in Honolulu had joined the walkout.

PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE TO DISCUSS POLICY

Argentina Not to Permit Antipersecution Resolution Passed.

LIMA, Peru. (AP). The steering committee of the Pan-American conference accepted a Cuban resolution against "racial persecution" for consideration and decided to have it circulated among the delegates.

There were strong indications, however, that Argentina would not permit it to go thru the conference in its present form.

The resolution mentions no names. It was generally understood, however, to be aimed at Germany's anti-Semitic policies. It condemns "all religious and racial persecutions" as "opposed to the essential tenets of democracy" and calls upon all countries to uphold "the principles of tolerance and respect for human dignity."

In a closed meeting, the steering committee also decided to close the conference Dec. 27.

The delegates looked to Secy. Hull and the foreign ministers of Argentina and Peru for keynote speeches charting a course for the 21 republics of the western hemisphere.

Mexican and Argentine delegates, meanwhile, explored the possibility of committing the conference to an attempt to mediate the Spanish civil war.

Leaders of both delegations sounded out other representatives on a plan by which the warring factions would be asked to agree to end hostilities in Spain, which, to most American nations, is the mother country.

Secy. Hull speaks at 4 p. m. at the first plenary meeting of the conference.

PREDICT DEFEAT OF REORGANIZATION PLAN

Congress Wants Check on President, McNary Says; Norris Dissents.

WASHINGTON. (AP). Some of the senators who opposed the administration's reorganization bill in the last congress predicted the defeat of any new proposal to give President Roosevelt a free hand to reshuffle federal bureaus.

Senator McNary (r., Ore.) the minority leader, said, "Everyone is for reorganization if it will promote the efficiency of government and reduce the cost thereof. Everyone is willing to give a president power to abolish offices and bureaus and transfer and amalgamate the functions of bureaus.

"But in my opinion the majority of congress wants to have some control over arbitrary decisions by the president."

Senator Norris asserted it would be a "futile" reorganization bill which gave congress the power to review presidential decisions.

"In reshaping the bureaus," Norris said, "the president will have to step on a lot of toes. He will have to step on the bureaus themselves and on the members of congress who have pet bureaus.

"If congress is given the power to veto his actions, it will be just like a log-rolling rivers and harbors bill. One member would have a pet here, another there and a third there. Nothing would ever be accomplished.

"We have to delegate the authority to someone, and I can't see who else it could be besides the president."

The flames trapped six persons, three of them children, in the third floor apartment of Jack Parker, father of June, when gasoline from a power machine for removing wallpaper was ignited.

Requisition papers for Thomas Devine of Livermore, Ia., were signed by Gov. Cochran Saturday morning at the request of Co. Atty. Robert Fuhrman of Thurston county, who has charged Devine of writing an insufficient fund check in Thurston county. The amount of the check was $556.12.

Suit for $5,000 damages was filed in district court by Gladys Easley, as next friend for Ernest Cruder against Hazel E. Lyman, on account of an accident at 16th and G sts. on Nov. 18. Cruder, 16, was riding a bicycle and was hit by a car driven by the defendant, it is contended.

Caroline E. Meier filed suit in district court against the Royal Arcanum, a fraternal order, for $1,000 which she says is due from the order on an insurance policy covering the life of her husband, Jacob John Meier, who died Jan. 29, 1936. He belonged to the Weeping Water organization at the time he took out the policy.

Amos Jones, Negro, who says he is from Brilliant, O., was given 60 days in jail by District Judge Chappell Saturday. Jones said he had not been in trouble before but admitted carrying concealed weapons in the way of a gun he said he stole. Judge Chappell heard his plea of guilty several days ago but deferred sentence for investigation. They could find no former record against Jones.

The monthly bulletin of the city department of health issued for November showed 120 births in Lincoln compared to 84 deaths. The births included 61 boys and 59 girls. The death toll consisted of 44 men and 40 women. The report also showed that deaths increased by two as compared with the corresponding month in 1937. No deaths resulted from auto accidents.

Head tax collection needed for December state assistance payments totaled $75,000 at the close of business of the state treasurer's office Saturday. Assistance director Vandemoer has estimated that about $110,000 in head taxes will be needed by Dec. 15 to permit mailing of assistance checks without delay. Officials believed the remittances from the counties of the $2 tax will exceed that amount.

Jack Lee, 24, Portland, Ore., indicated with Val L. Wagner, latter still at large, for transporting, for immoral purposes, Mrs. Dolly Babb nee Dolly Elizabeth DeWeese from Rosebud, S. D., to Kearney, Neb., admitted guilt Saturday when arraigned before Federal Judge Munger and was given a year and a day at the federal reformatory at El Reno, Okl. The indictment contained two counts, conspiracy to violate the white slave act and actual violation. Lee told the court that he never before had been in trouble.

HEAR MAGUIRE DUSTER

Nov. 15, 1938 Maguire filed a petition in county court for probate of the will of Joseph R. Helms, who died May 16. This was done as a part of the state's contention of estoppel. A judge of the court is not permitted to practice law under the statutes and it was the contention of Mutz and Overcash that Maguire intended to give up any thought of contest and started to practice law. Maguire on the stand later denied this. Campaign literature used by Maguire in the campaigns was also submitted in evidence, the defense objecting to all of the evidence on the ground that it was incompetent and immaterial.

Judge Maguire was called to the stand by the defense and showed that he had a commission from the governor, dated Dec. 31, 1937 and had taken office about Jan. 2, 1938 and had served until restrained by the court in the present suit. Maguire said he was not practicing law, that Mr. Helm was a personal friend and that he had promised that he would look after his will in the county court and admitted filing it. He said he filed no other cases.

Atty. O. K. Perrin representing Maguire with Sam Zimmerman, said that if he did practice law it would not oust him from office. He would merely be subject to fine. Maguire said he felt that the matter of a vacancy should have been submitted in a declaratory judgment and talked to Barlow Nye, assistant attorney general about it. Nye thought that a vacancy existed. He thought the attorney general should not file the declaratory judgment suit but that it should be done "down below."

sion but differs in the following principal ways:

Regardless of age, teachers are eligible for retirement after 35 years of service in this state. This provision has been added to the qualifications for retirement formerly adopted.

All credit for prior service in other states has been eliminated.

State and county school officials may elect membership in the retirement system.

Membership is optional for all teachers under 25 years of age.

The cost of operating the system has been lowered from $15,000 to $10,000 a year.

The University of Nebraska is excluded.

Inadequate Preparation.

In a report of the committee on teacher training and certification, Secretary-Treasurer Archer L. Burnham suggested that the academic preparation of elementary and high school teachers calls for "critical scrutiny." He said in part: "Teachers too often go out to teach mathematics, for example, and perhaps science with little appreciation for the other fields of knowledge. Teachers teach language who have little appreciation for the phenomena of historical progress. Teachers teach history or other social studies who have little or no appreciation for the contribution of the sciences. He asked for the formulation of "a new conception of the academic and professional preparation of teachers in Nebraska schools."

Talks on Curriculum.

A question that has long been a hot spot of discussion was brought to the delegates' attention when Supt. Earle W. Wiltse of York presented the report of the committee on improvement of instruction. The report charged that the state "is not making any unified attack upon the problems of curriculum development."

The committee recommended a statewide program of curriculum development with the state superintendent of public instruction at the helm.

Some observers saw a subtle slap at the university-planned curriculum program in these words: "Building a curriculum must not only be a co-operative enterprise, but also a democratic one. The time is past when courses of study originate in the super mind of some expert, to be handed down in final form to teachers to be used in educating children. But on the contrary, it should originate in the classrooms and be kept in flexible form to allow for constant revision and improvement. It is important that this work be undertaken without additional delay if Nebraska is not to slip further in her educational ranking."

The committee report called upon the teachers of Nebraska to favor an increase in the budget of the state education office to provide the additional service. The general thought of the report was that the responsibility for curriculum development should be placed directly in the state office.

Three amendments to the N. S. T. A. constitution were proposed. The first provides for allowing high school and college students to become members of the association with the same status of associate members upon paying a fee of $1. The committee also proposed an extension of the increases in dues passed at the fall meetings to take in the upper salary brackets. The third proposed amendment provides that no member of the executive committee shall succeed himself in office.

Your Problems

BY MARY GORDON.

Dear Mary Gordon: Not long ago someone wrote you for advice about publishing a song. Your answer was to the effect that it is useless for anyone to try since the market is controlled by a few writers. I feel the injustice so keenly because I have written poetry all my life and have tried to get in but find it is all a graft. Why does the public submit to the type of song that are now being published? They are so inferior and last such a short time and they certainly are not inspiring.

I am wondering if the same thing is true in short story writing. I have written so many short stories and have sent them to so many different magazines. I have taken short story writing, made a study of it and yet I am unable to sell them. Usually I know they are not even read by the editor. Yet I feel they are just as good as a great many others I find in leading magazines.

I would be so glad for advice and would be glad to collaborate with anyone who would be able to help me, for I am very much in need and feel that my work has been in vain. Should I decide to have a collection of my poems or stories published in book form, could you advise me how to go about it? Would it incur a great expense? And would it be worthwhile? Thanking you for any help you can give me.—Anon.

A. Many successful authors first make their entry into the important magazines thru agents. But there are some whose stories sell just by sending them in to the publication office. Short story writing requires a knack as well as training and experience. Some never acquire it.

As to collaborating with someone, there are such offers published in writers' magazines. But I doubt if most of them would work out. There isn't much use in trying to have verse or stories published in book form, unless they first appear in a magazine. There are publishers who cater to what is known as "the vanity trade," that is, the writers pay over good money to have the books published. But it is an expensive process and one which surely cannot give much satisfaction to the writer. Nor is it profitable to him.

ACTED WITHOUT AUTHORITY

Lawyer Says Courts Can't Cancel Driver's Licenses.

A. B. Hauser, thru his attorney, sought reversal Saturday of his conviction in Lancaster county on a charge of drunken driving, the sentence of $60 being accompanied by forfeiture of license for a year. He says the evidence does not sustain the action of the court, and the case should also be ordered dismissed. His attorney says Hauser, being charged with two criminal offenses, was entitled to a jury trial, and the court erred in holding in effect that it was a civil action to recover a penalty.

Hauser is a plumber, and said all he had to drink the day of his arrest was one glass of beer. At the time of arrest he was not driving his truck, because it had gone into the ditch in trying to avoid another vehicle. Other witnesses whom he had contacted a short time before his arrest testified that he was sober then, and he says he could not have got drunk in the short time thereafter, because there were no liquor places in the section of the city where he was picked up, and he had no liquor in his truck. Therefore, the case fails for want of evidence.

Hauser's attorney challenges the power of the municipal or district court to revoke a driver's license. This authority is now vested in the director of motor vehicles and, taken from the courts. This new law, passed before Hauser's arrest, it is insisted, abrogated all municipal ordinances on that subject and deprived municipalities of power to pass them afterward. All that remains is a discretionary power to prohibit a person driving for a year.

CITY HALL NEWS.

Fifty-five merchants and residents operating or living on O street, between the Rock Island tracks and 23rd street, have petitioned the council for limited two hour parking, under police supervision, for that area. They show that, under present unlimited parking, trucks and other vehicles park for hours at a time, frequently for the entire day thus making it inconvenient and impossible for customers to secure parking accommodations near the places where they wish to trade. Petitioners point out that they all are taxpayers, paying in the aggregate more than certain other areas where parking is limited. They ask the same protection. The petition will be referred Monday to Director Venner. The latter said Saturday that he will be glad to cause a survey to be made in the area.

Protest to the requested re-zoning of the northwest corner of 17th and L for business, was received at the office of the city clerk Saturday from Victor Seymour as secretary of Lancaster lodge 54, A. F. & A. M., one of the principal stockholders of the New Masonic Temple association. The temple is located across the street. Business, complainant says, would decrease value of all properties in that immediate vicinity for residential usage. It is pointed out that there is no urgent demand for business there. Another protest was received from Electa chapter No. 6, Order of the Eastern Star, showing that the temple was built to get away from business. It is alleged that there are enough service stations and stores, some empty, without this addition. Previous protests had been received. Applicant has twice been turned down when making similar request.

Application by Breslow's Auto Wrecking Junk Yard, for junk dealer's license, a renewal at 100 West P street, was received Saturday at the city hall.

Thomas Boydston Saturday filed with the city clerk request for permit to operate a roller skating rink at 1918 O street.

in purchasing and becomes possessed of the local distribution system along with other Iowa-Nebraska properties, the city has indicated that, at the start at least, it will continue operating its municipal light plant in the same manner as tho the Iowa-Nebraska still were in business. Later on, if and when the Central is established here, councilmen will be willing to put their heads together with district heads to see what, if anything, can be worked out to the advantage of the consumer. This much has been indicated.

Power district and banking representatives, long in conference with councilmen, presumably wanted more than anything else a council commitment that in event of Central's supplanting the Iowa-Nebraska here, there will be no actual competition. Such a commitment, which the council declined to make, perhaps may have carried some weight in financial centers as to the underwriting of bonds. Neither did the council commit itself as to willingness to lease or buy the local distribution system in event the Central eventually becomes possessed.

BURNETTS HONORED BY UNIVERSITY FACULTY

Associates Praise Work of Chancellor Emeritus.

Chancellor Emeritus and Mrs. Burnett were the guests of honor at a university faculty dinner and reception held in the ballroom of the Student Union Friday night.

The speakers of the evening were unanimous in their praise of the efforts of the former chancellor and wished him the greatest of success in his new position, that of historian of the university. Chancellor C. S. Boucher, his successor, expressed the belief that Burnett's work will be a source of knowledge for the future historians who will attempt an account of the educational methods of the times. "The man who writes such a history," Boucher declared, "will rely on such sources as my predecessor will compile."

Stanley D. Long, president of the board of regents, traced the history of the Burnett regime from the time he assumed his duties as chancellor of the university in 1928 to the time this year, that because of ill health, he resigned his office.

Representing the agricultural college was Dean W. W. Burr, who cited the program of agricultural research developed and promoted by Burnett while he served the university. Others affirming the success of the guest of honor were Frank J. Taylor, regent, who attributed the building of the coliseum, girls' dormitory and the Student Union without use of the taxpayers' money, to the Burnett policy; Dr. C. W. M. Poynter, representing the college of medicine in Omaha; former regent, Earl Cline, and Dr. R. J. Pool of the faculty.

Of major interest also was the presentation of a sterling silver service to the Burnett's by the wife of the late Chancellor Avery, and a gold watch to Mr. Burnett. The stage was filled with flowers, which created a fitting background for the event.

EUROPEANS DESIRE PEACE

Dr. V. Royce West of the faculty of Omaha university told the members of Phi Delta Kappa, education fraternity, meeting at the Student Union Friday night, that the only hope of averting a war in Europe lies in the fact that the people of the countries desire peace.

Dr. West, who recently was an Associated Press correspondent in Germany and a contributor to a London paper, told and illustrated by means of German and Italian newspapers of the constant endeavors of the dictatorial heads to distort the news of the countries to such an extent as to depict the United States as a nation torn with internal strife.

He concluded by cautioning that the American citizen must realize the advantage he possesses in his right of free speech, freedom of the press and freedom of assembly, and to guard it to the last stand as essential of good government.

RAILROAD WINS SUIT.

Overgard, enineer, and Pearl Corning, Emma Raymond, in a suit for $31,000 damages, alleged that while riding as a guest with Pearl Corning the car was struck by a train injuring her.

CONLEY BOUND OVER.

James E. Conley of Nebraska City, freshman at the University of Nebraska, waived preliminary hearing on a forgery charge in municipal court Friday afternoon and was bound over to district court. He is charged with forging the name of Raymond Bailey on a postal money order. Conley is free under $2,500 bond.

FROM THE MORNING JOURNAL

TO OPERATE BUSINESS IN PUBLIC INTEREST

City Will Continue to Sell Own Current Until Better Prospect Certain.

According to a statement issued Friday by Mayor Copeland on behalf of the city council the city proposes to continue operating its own electric business in its present way unless and until a better way is ascertained.

The declaration of policy apparently takes note of the fact that the Central Nebraska public power and irrigation district is not yet in position to sell, lease or barter and that the city is not willing to change its tactics unless and until a more economical road is available. The council, in event of purchase by the Central Nebraska of Iowa-Nebraska properties, expect to look upon the new owner, in connection with local business, in the same manner as it has looked upon the Iowa-Nebraska as evidenced by the following statement from Mayor Copeland:

District representatives have made no attempt to purchase the Lincoln municipal plant. In connection with any understanding which may be reached in the future between the district and the city, a representative of the former said:

"If we don't play ball you always have your yardstick."

Council's Statement in Full.

The city council has completed conferences with representatives of the Nebraska Central Public Power and Irrigation district and its bond underwriters, concerning the proposed purchase by the district of the properties of the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power company in Lincoln. As a result of these conferences the council is convinced that purchase by the city of the distribution system direct from the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power company is impossible. While the district represents its willingness to permit such a purchase, the bond underwriters, due to financing requirements, are unwilling to undertake to market bonds which do not include the revenue from the Lincoln property.

The council has also considered the possibility of condemnation of the electric distribution facilities of the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power company within the city, and has determined that such a course is impracticable. Condemnation would require public approval of a large bond issue with which to purchase the distribution system and also would involve the payment of the purchase price to be determined by litigation which would undoubtedly include severance damages. Furthermore, the city's municipal light plant and distribution system sufficiently safeguard the people of Lincoln both as to service and rates.

The district has presented to the city a proposal permitting the city, at any time, at its option, to lease, or when a sale is permitted by law, to purchase the distribution facilities within the city to be acquired by the district on the lowest terms permitted under the bond indenture.

Whether the city will finally desire to avail itself of the district's offer will depend upon future developments and whether economies and rate reductions would result.

The district has further proposed the co-ordination of the facilities to be purchased by it with the municipal light plant and distribution system which the district will build, with a result of economies, and has suggested a study of the question. The city council has assured the district of its willingness to join with the district in any study to that end. The city is naturally interested in any possibility of effecting economies with possible rate reductions, and in avoiding uneconomic competition so far as is consistent with full protection of the city's interests and preservation of the identity of the separate ownership of the properties.

The proposal of the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation district submitted to the council, proposal carrying the signature of R. O. Canaday, secretary and general counsel:

The Proposition.

"The Central Nebraska public power and irrigation district proposes presently to acquire the electric properties of Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power company, located south of the Platte river in Nebraska, which include the Iowa-Nebraska electric properties in the city of Lincoln. The district has previously advised you that before acquiring these properties a representative of the district and representatives of the proposed underwriters of bonds to be issued would meet with the city council to discuss the acquisition. In pursuance of this advice, and in an endeavor to effect arrangements completely and adequately to protect the city's interests, a representative of the district and representatives of the proposed underwriters have met with representatives of the city.

"In order to secure to the consumers of electric energy in the city of Lincoln the greatest possible benefits of public ownership and of a successful operation of the properties proposed to be acquired by the district, and in order fully to protect the interests of the city, the district desires to present to the city council the following proposals:

"1. The district will, at any time at the option of the city (a) lease to the city the distribution facilities within the city acquired by the district, or (b) when permitted by the law, sell such facilities to the city, or (c) lease such distribution facilities to the city with an option to buy when permitted by law. Such sale or lease or combination of lease and sale will be made on the most favorable terms to the city permitted by the provisions of the proposed bond agreement between the district and the First National bank of the city of Lincoln, as trustee, under which the bonds of the district are to be issued to finance the acquisition. A copy of the proposed form of such agreement has been studied by your representatives during the past several days.

"2. The district proposes that immediately upon the acquisition of these properties by it, the present municipal system and the properties to be acquired by the district be co-ordinated and integrated insofar as practicable and consistent with the maintenance of the separate identities of the systems, with a view to effecting as rapidly as possible the savings to consumers arising from such operation.

"3. The district further proposes that the city and the district commence an immediate study of rates of both systems with a view to passing on to the consumers by way of rate reductions the economies that will be effected by co-operation between the city and district, and the economies that will be effected by replacing private ownership with public ownership and by substituting low cost power in both systems for power now produced in high cost plants.

"The district intends and desires fully to co-operate with the city and its officials to accomplish the objectives outlined above and respectfully requests the co-operation of the city council in this program."

SENIORS PRESENT PLAY

One of Most Successful Productions in Recent Years.

A full house in the Lincoln high school auditorium watched and laughed as the class of '39 presented their play, "Take My Advice," by Eliot Lester, Friday night. It was one of the most successful productions there in recent years.

The comedy deals with a father, played by Franklin White, and his wife, Ann McLaughlin, who cannot resist the sales talk of a good looking stock salesman, Richard Putney. Their 17 year old son, Jack Van Patten, who is infatuated with the town vamp, a woman of 25, played by Patricia Green, and their daughter, Dorothy Freeborn, who wants to go into drama under an actor, Tim Morse.

The son's professor in prep school, Harold Williams, comes to the home and straightens everything out, but only after much laughter and suspense to the cast and audience both.

All members of the cast, which technically had no leads, carried their parts exceptionally well. Dorothy Weirich and Jack Anderson sang three numbers between the first and second acts. The play was under the direction of Miss Jane Schaible, and the sponsors of the class of '39 are Miss Lillian Monia and Mrs. Bernice Tebbets.

FARMER "NOT SOLD DOWN THE RIVER"

Edminster Says Trade Agreement Plan Fundamental, Sound, Important.

The trade agreements program of the United States is a fundamental, sound and important contribution to the solution of the ills of agriculture, Lynn R. Edminster, special assistant to Secretary of State Hull, told the closing session of organized agriculture at the college of agriculture late Friday afternoon.

Edminster's talk was a feature of the general session on the finish up of the farm meetings which opened Monday. Appearing on the speaking platform with him were Chancellor Boucher of the University of Nebraska and Mrs. David Simms of Hastings. The Dawson county rural women's chorus sang several numbers.

"The program is not by itself a cure all for the ills of agriculture," said Edminster. "It does not promise a complete solution of the farm surplus problem. Without injury to domestic industry but rather while assisting it, the program benefits farmers as consumers by increasing the buyer power of the money income they get from the sale of their products. It deserves the loyal support of farmers here in Nebraska and in every state of the union."

Certainly it is far better for a domestic industry to have 95 percent of a good domestic market than 100 percent of a poor one, he emphasized.

Among concessions granted to Canada, Edminster stressed his discussion of such controversial items such as livestock and dairy products. Even tha enlarged quota on imports of Canadian cattle at the reduced rate would permit entry of only 1½ percent of our average annual slaughter of cattle and calves in this country, he asserted. Reduced duties on Canadian cream were subject both in the old and the new agreements with Canada to a quota restricting our imports to about one-fourth of 1 percent of domestic consumption, and under the old agreement less than one-seventh of this small quota came into the United States.

Continuing the analysis, he pointed out that following the first agreement with Canada, "Even in the year of largest importation the domestic cheddar cheese industry continued to hold nearly 98 percent of the domestic market.

Quotas restricting imports of whole milk to less than 1 percent of the production of U. S. regions where Canadian milk might compete go along with lowered duties on whole milk in the new Canadian agreement, he commented.

Chancellor Boucher of the university discussed "The University in the State's Development," on the Friday afternoon program. He asserted that organized agriculture is one of the most important activities of the entire university.

The chancellor characterized a study of current and probable future development of state institutions, launched last week by the state planning board, as one of the most important and far-reaching steps in the entire history of the state. Boucher asserted the University of Nebraska is one of only 17 state universities maintaining sufficiently high standards of graduate study, and research to retain membership in the Association of American Universities. He pointed out that the state and the university have a joint responsibility to continue this quality of work.

INJUNCTION GRANTED AGAINST CITY OF YORK

Federal Court Order Prevents City Going Ahead With Power Plant.

Following a hearing in federal court Friday, Judge Munger granted a temporary injunction preventing the city of York from proceeding with construction of a municipal power plant. The order, which was signed at request of the Iowa-Nebraska Light & Power company, will be effective until the power company's suit for a permanent injunction can be heard.

York officials, who had called for bids on power plant equipment estimated at $475,000 to be received Friday night, notified prospective bidders not to submit estimates "at this time."

Iowa-Nebraska asserts construction of the proposed York power system is illegal. The company charges in its complaint that York officials failed to follow the provisional statute and violated the requirement that the bonds be sold at not less than par or face value. It also contends that the city's procedure has prevented "open, free and competitive bidding."

In its petition for the injunction, the power company declared its investment at York totals more than $500,000.

The city previously had filed suit to compel Iowa-Nebraska to move its properties from the streets of York. It contended then that the power firm's franchise there is invalid.

BRITAIN STANDS BY DEMOCRACY IN WORLD

Anthony Eden Says His Country Prepared to Fight for Survival.

NEW YORK. (AP). Anthony Eden, former British foreign secretary, said Friday night that the world's democracies must summon all their energies to survive in a ruthless and challenging world.

Young, handsome and modestly self assured, Eden spoke before some 4,000 of the nation's business and financial leaders at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. The huge audience cheered him spontaneously on several occasions.

"It would indeed be the greatest irony in human history," he said, "if mankind were to allow all progress to be stifled by the setting up of a new form of idolatry, the worship of the state, to which all men must bow down, and to which they must sacrifice their freedom of faith, of speech, of worship. Yet such is now the doctrine in many lands, and it has passionate and ruthless devotees."

Eden's topic was "Democracy and the Modern World."

Here on Friendly Visit.

He stood on a tiered platform on which sat virtually every leader of American business. Flood lights from the balconies left him undismayed as he pursued his topic with a mixture of light comment and seriousness which captivated his audience. Describing himself as an "average Englishman here on a friendly visit" Eden said that the United States and Great Britain must show the way in the solution of the problems facing the world's democracies.

"Whatever else the world may have been made," he said, "it has plainly not been made safe for democracy. We are not calling for help to others, not seeking to lure others to pull our chestnuts from the fire," he said. "We have no such intention."

"We know that we are destined, in our land and in our time and in our generation to live in a period of emergency of which none can see the end," Eden said. "It thruout that testing time, however long or short it may be, we hold fast to our faith, cradle it in stone, and set steel to defend it, we can yet hand on our inheritance of freedom, intact to the generations that are to come."

Eden was cheered loudly when he said: "Man was not, in our view, made for the state. The state was made for man."

He drew laughter with: "We in Britain know full well that we are no paragons. If we happen to forget it a moment someone will be sure to remind us of it. We acknowledge, of course, that there are many chequered pages in our long history. One of our worst concerns are dealings with you 160 years ago."

Eden said that every political system, be it democratic or autocratic, must continually evolve "and in the last resource the survival of democracy must depend upon the faith which it inspires, and the results which, thru faith, it can achieve.

The Story of a World Dictator

CHAPTER SEVEN.

Father and Son.

For the interval the elder man answered nothing.

"I suppose," he resumed presently, "that some sort of mental renascence is possible. A sufficient renascence. I hope so. But I see very few signs of it. That adaption you talk about . . . There's a lot of unteachable stuff in humanity. Down here I've been watching a little section of mankind, bringing new individuals into the world, seeing the old ones drop out of it, seeing the insides and the undersides and the backsides of the creatures. Queer stuff and weak stuff, they are. Mean. A lot of malice in them. And also a sort of obduracy. Do you know that almost always they lie to me about themselves. Their doctor I am, and they lie to me Out of self-protective vanity—mostly. They come for advice and then they fake their facts and dodge their medicine."

"All of them?"

"Most. They vary. Their imaginations vary. And their go. Very widely. So widely that at times I seem to be dealing with different species of creature. But on the whole I don't see that renascence of will and understanding which is needed to head off catastrophe. No . . ."

He paused but his son remained silently attentive.

"Maybe it isn't altogether hopeless. Maybe there are different species in mankind—all mixed up. That idea seems to be getting about Dick. You must have heard of it. Maybe the real differences in men lie in the kinks of their brains. Scattered about among the silly multitudes there may be men of a different quality—with a different power of vision."

"A sort of anonymous unsuspected aristocrats?"

"Exactly."

"So you don't believe in democracy any longer?"

"I never did. Look at 'em! Do you?"

"I'd like to."

"But you don't."

"But during 40 years of practice," said the younger man, "hasn't there been a certain amount of general, all over, mental progress? More education, more books, more information? Not enough, I admit, but some. If only we were able to increase the tempo of that sort of thing? . . ."

The old man shook his head with a smile of unbelief.

"You haven't been watching a community for four full decades, Dick. I have My practice is a fair sample of mankind." . . . I have seen a sort of selfconfidence fading out of this world. Like a twilight. When I bought this practice everyone who came to me, every man Jack of them, felt he had a place in the world, that there were things he ought to do, and things he mustn't do. Maybe people were a little lower then, nearer the earth, but that was how things were. A normal man got along in a system he thought he understood. Now—

"Dick, people aren't nearly as straight in business as they were. They've ceased to feel that honesty is the best policy. They've found themselves put out of business by competition they think unfair. They try to get even by counter-cheating. And they aren't clever enough. They find the income they had counted on, their pay or what not, raided by taxation, shattered by currency manipulation and slumps, knocked to pieces by all this messing about with money, this inflation, deflation, and all the rest of it. Even the wage earners never know now what their money can buy. And more and more of them are pottering about with poor little parcels of stocks and shares, hunting after capital appreciation. That's the great phrase now. I've heard it three times from three separate people this past fortnight. There's ten men speculating in a small miserable way for one who knew his way to a broker 40 years ago. Ten do I say?—fifty! They lie awake at nights. They get chronic indigestion. They get neuraesthenia and neuritis. Some are frankly betting. These football pools are a sort of disease of vain hopes, social dropsy. The women bet. It was unheard of in the old days. There's hardly a man in my area, Dick, under 50, who finds any satisfaction in a job well done, or believes that it will secure him any sort of reward. Think of what that means in social stability . . .

"And the women I have to deal with, Dick, the younger women; they're all demoralized as we understand demoralization. They don't understand themselves. There was a certain amount of sly adultery and still slyer fornication going on then, but it didn't disturb the even surface of things. It was just healthy incontinence. . . . Chastity now is out of fashion. Children are an encumbrance. The women want, or feel they ought to want, a sort of gadding-about amusement and a man has to pay for it. They sell themselves most frankly, wholesale or retail. They aren't steady because the men aren't steady. The men are insecure and rattled and the women followed suit. You'd be amazed, Dick, at the people who come along nowadays hinting at abortion. . . ." He mused for a moment and returned to his original draft.

"You think your scientific work is good enough to hold your imagination and carry you on? It opens out, eh? That second paper of yours certainly had a periscope. It ranged. . . . Sometimes I think we biologists may find ourselves coming into politics from our own angle. If things go on as they are going—. We may have to treat the whole world as a mental hospital. The entire species is going mad; for what is madness but a complete want of mental adaptation to one's circumstances? Sooner or later, young man, your generation will have to face up to that."

He stopped and looked at his son's face.

"Those,—what was it we said? —anonymous unsuspected aristocrats," said the younger man and thought.

He leaned forward on the table and picked his way among his ideas as he spoke. "I have an idea, father, a half formed idea, that before we can go on to that sort of thing, there has to be a far more extensive clearing up of the old institution. . . The world needs some sort of scavenging, a burning up of the old infected clothes, before it can get on to a new phase. At present it is enormously encumbered. . . This is just a shadowy idea in my mind. . . Something like breaking down condemned, old houses. We can't begin to get things in order until there has been this scavenging phase. And, you see, what one might call civilized men can't do that sort of rough work."

"I suppose it has to be rough work?"

"What do you think? Conservatism insists on it. The old order of things, the patriots, the priests and the old laws won't deal with reasonable men. They won't hear of it. They're cunning, they're subtle in their way. Subtly stupid. They've got an unintelligent suicidal instinct for what they think is self preservation. They won't stand criticism; they won't adapt. They'll listen and seem to agree and they'll play tricks. They're afraid of any light, any clearness. They fog education. They obstruct. What! Deal with us!! They're much more disposed to deal with the roughs and turn them against us. You've got to capture the rough from them, you've got to use the rough against them,educate him, civilize him—as far as he will stand it."

"A bit roundabout and underhand," said the old man. "Modern Jesuitry. Rather on old Marx's lines, eh? Call these rough 'proletarian' and there you are! Flatter them until you've organized their discipline. Maybe I misunderstood you."

"I'm telling you my ideas, father, as well as I can. You've asked for it. But I see no way out of the present breakup, but 'Let the best rough win.' Then so soon as you've got a top rough in the world, he'll have to organize sufficiently to save himself from the next possible rough, and he'll have to be quick about it. Teh bigger he grows—and you know the next rough may be worldwide—the less of the administration, the less of the planning he and his gang will be able to control, and the more he'll have to use and trust the able, resolute, relatively unambitious type . . ."

"Meaning our sort? Our virtuous sort? Eh?"

"Well—yes."

"After the democracies, the demagogs who become dictators and after them a world civil service? Fabian permeation and all that. And I'm not so sure of that civil service. It may develop a high standard of comfort and a taste for dependents."

The young man reconsidered it. "All sorts of complications and interludes," he said, "but, like it or not, that I take it is the general shape of the story ahead A world civil service if you like—but based, that's the restraining force—on a world public opinion."

"Something of that sort," said the doctor, with a grape in his mouth, "existed in Egypt. In ancient Egypt, which was practically a world in itself, B. C. 2,000 Charming cultivated people."

For a time they gave their attention to dessert.

"Civilization has always been something of a patch-up," reflected the doctor. "You seem pretty convinced that it has to be worse before it is better. I agree . . . This particular earthquake looks likely to be the biggest so far. How do you see it in terms of yourself, Dick? You may not be able to keep out of the way of these what do you call them—scavengers. Concentration camp or prison examination You cannot smash and remake a social system without breaking men—and the chances may pick on you to be broken. It may degrade you, Dick You won't be able to help yourself if your skull gets burst open or your brain or your mind gets exhausted or poisoned. After all, it won't be the end of the world, but it may be the end of your world. That's as may be, you say. . .I agree. . . It will mean you will begin your decay before you are dead. A slight but nowadays not an uncommon inversion of the normal order An end comes to all of us. But until then and while you are yourself, you mean to keep a stiff backbone. Eh? No cringing, no compromise."

"I want that," said his son. "A stiff backbone, I mean. As long as possible I will keep out of money making and politics and the scrambles and stampedes, and go on with my special work You have made it possible. But if a straight challenge comes, if I'm absolutely prevented from working or if I see a plain occasion before me and my sort. . ."

"Working, waiting and watching for something that may call you and compel you. . . Waiting for the time when dictators dwindle and roughs relax. . . You might do worse. . For the life of me, I don't see what else there is to do now."

With a palpable effort not to seem self-indulgent and to throw a sacramental flavor about the gesture, Dr. Carstall poured himself some of his own very excellent brandy.

"Good luck to you, my son. I'm glad we've had this talk."

A Sequal to "Married Comrades"

By Adele Garrison

SYNOPSIS: Madge Graham and her niece Mary Veritzen, plotting to join Mary's husband, Noel, in secret at a New York hotel against the wishes of Noel's father, Philip Veritzen, famous producer have managed to elude detectives, believed in the hire of the elder Veritzen, in their "escape" from the hotel where Madge has been coaching Mary for a star part in a play being produced by Veritzen. Losing the sleuths by their tricks) maneuvers in several department stores, they have gone to the Pennsylvania station to join Mary's nurse, Miss Whitlock, who preceded them from the hotel with their luggage Safely ensconced in the women's room at the station, Madge outlines to Miss Whitlock her plans for keeping Philip Veritzen in ignorance of their whereabouts while they are with Noel.

Miss Whitlock's eyes were eagerly attentive as I began to outline my plan for unsuspected communication between us during the time that Mary and I should be away from the Lansfield. Her expression confirmed a suspicion I had long harbored, that this melodramatic experience was meat and drink to her rather drab life. But I rested content, for I knew her enthusiasm would not pull down her almost perfect efficiency.

"Each night about 11 o'clock," I began slowly, "I would like you to post me a letter from any convenient mailbox—no need to camouflage so ordinary an action."

"No," Miss Whitlock smiled, "especially as I have posted letters every day since I have been here. I have been catching up with my correspondence since I virtually have nothing else to do. My going to the nearest mailbox will excite no comment."

Gives Address.

"Exactly," I returned. "Address the letter to the name I gave you, care General Delivery, Station—. That is near the hotel where we shall be staying, and if our luck continues to hold this afternoon, and the detectives do not find out where we are going, I shall be able to slip out and get the letters unobserved."

For an instant I thought I saw in the nurse's eyes a "Doubting Thomas" look. Then the expression vanished, and I told myself crossly, that, as Dicky would say, "my imagination was working overtime, again."

"That appears very probable," she said with the aversion to hard and fast statement, characteristic of her profession. "And I'll see that they are posted according to schedule. What do you want me to write in them?"

"Everything, no matter how trivial, that has occurred during the day, up to the time you write the letter," I told her. "Telephone calls, even if apparently casual, activities of the hotel attendants—everything is grist to this particular mill. As I said before, if any emergency demanding my presence arises, you must call me as soon as possible at the hotel where we shall be stopping, of course exercising all possible caution to see that you are not overheard."

"Will a call from Mr. Veritzen constitute an emergency?" she asked

"Not unless he's dying," I returned grimly. "Try to convince him that we have gone to friends in South Jersey, and tell him that I did not know their telephone number and told you I would send it to you. Say that I left in such a hurry I did not give you the address, and that I have not yet sent you a letter. Be as convincingly perturbed over my negligence as possible."

Miss Whitlock flashed a whimsical smile at me.

"I can't 'put on an act' to equal Mary's," she said, "but I'll do the best I can to fool him."

Betting on Nurse.

"I'm betting on you," Mary said enthusiastically, "but wouldn't I like to be two little mice in the wall when you hand my darling pa-pa-in-law that yarn! Oh boy! oh boy! will he tie himself up in 40 bow knots? I'm asking you."

"Probably 80," I told her, laughing. "And now, Miss Whitlock, for the last detail. If I have to get hold of you in a hurry, I shall telephone you at the Lansfield, using a disguised voice, ask after Mary and myself as if I were an inquiring friend and wind up by asking you to have me call this mythical friend when I come in. That will be your cue to leave the hotel as soon as possible and telephone me, trusting to providence that no eavesdroppers are near you."

"I meant to tell you before," the nurse returned, "that you need have no fear about eavesdroppers when I telephone. A good friend of mine lives about three blocks from here, and I have a key to her apartment. She has her own telephone, and a call from there to you would be foolproof."

"Oh! but that is wonderful!" I said, infinitely relieved. "That is a great worry off my mind. And now, I suppose, we must break off this conference. If only our luck holds!"

Miss Whitlock's face suddenly held the "Doubting Thomas" look again.

"Have you thought—?" she asked hesitantly, and left the rest of her query in the air.

"Go on," I said. "What is worrying you?"

"Why I was wondering," she said, "whether they may not have thought it worth their while to shadow me here, figuring they might draw you and Mary as a reward."

SPY HYSTERIA.

President Roosevelt seems to be greatly concerned about espionage in the United States and has indicated that a war on foreign spies is to be waged, but without the establishment of an army of secret police. The president gives no substantial reason for his concern. Spy chasing was lumped in with his extensive proposals for national defense.

The presidential promise that no OGPU or Gestapo—famous secret police systems in Russia and Germany—is to be organized in the United States is gratifying. This country wants none of the secret police systems which have been the disgrace of Europe. The present police systems, plus the intelligence services of the army and navy, are adequate for combatting any spy activity in the United States.

This promise does not entirely remove all the unsatisfactory implications of the presidential statement. The president, by his promised war on spies, is encouraging an unhappy psychological situation. The public is led to believe that the country is in serious danger from this source. And yet, beyond the implications of the presidential statement, there is nothing substantial on which to base claims for greater activity in counter-espionage.

The spy trial in New York dealt with a single instance of spy activity, a job that was at best crude and bungling. Moreover high military sources agree that there is virtually nothing that the spy could obtain in this country that is not readily obtainable by foreign military attaches and others in an open and above board manner.

Any situation in which hysteria plays an important part is potentially dangerous to the mass of the citizenry and to the liberty of the individual. President Roosevelt should be underplaying espionage activities in his statements, rather than indulging in even mild exaggeration of their importance.

FASCISM RULES.

A correspondent wants to know the difference between fascism, communism and socialism. About as many definitions for these isms can be secured as persons questioned. Definitions in older books do not appear entirely to fit present day needs.

The communistic idea is that all property should be held in common. There would be no private property in a communistic state. What the people earn would go to the state, and what the people need would come from the state. Socialism, however, leans a bit farther toward the capitalistic idea. Under socialism, as the belief is held by many adherents, there would be some private property. Remuneration for labor performed might vary. Fascism, however, is pure dictatorship. There is little difference in the fascism of Italy and the nazism of Germany. The wills of dictators are carried out. In the case of "red" Russia, the communistic idea seems to have faded, and that country too has become fascist. Whether fascism is good or bad, or occupies a place between the extremes, depends altogether on the dictator in power.

The query comes from one who has become much exercised over reports of the Dies investigation. He believes that Congressman Dies is absolutely sincere and honest in purpose. There may be little argument over that belief. Most people will agree. Most people will agree, also, that if the investigation emphasizes the need for continued restriction of immigration, a good purpose will have been served.

Objection to the work of the Dies committee, however, is that a great many innocent persons have been branded as "red" and that societies that have performed what many believe is needed service have been linked, probably unjustly, with the communistic organization of Moscow.

Greater care must be exercised in the future in the admission of foreign immigrants if this country is to remain American and is to retain its democracy. Many who agree with that proposition will earnestly protest against the smearing of reputable Americans that has been so common in the hearings of the Dies committee.

NO CALL FOR HASTE.

Negotiations are in progress for the purchase of the private power properties in this state by the public power districts. The part of the deal now under consideration is the purchase of the Iowa-Nebraska properties centering in Lincoln and covering a considerable territory in the southeast quarter of the state.

The purchase of the Iowa-Nebraska properties by the power district would remove them from the tax lists. Representatives of the district, however, have said that they are willing to enter an agreement whereby the district would continue payment of taxes at a figure fixed by the last tax payments of the Iowa-Nebraska company. This, however, was not included in the proposition made to the council. The tax bill of the Iowa-Nebraska reaches a considerable sum in this city and county.

Lincoln is asked to agree to a plan thru which purchase by, or gift to, the city of the distribution lines would be possible 30 years from now, after amortized securities have been retired. The city of Lincoln owns a power plant of its own. It has not in the past gone deeply into the fight for business. The Lincoln municipal plant has been regarded more as a rate regulator than as a commercial proposition.

Public power district and banker representatives have been negotiating with the city. They desire an agreement, by which the city, in return for an opportunity to own the distribution lines, will not enter into competition with the public power companies. The city can still serve its own customers and is promised an opportunity to buy current for less than it is now manufacturing it.

City commissioners have been told that whether the Iowa-Nebraska deal goes thru depends on action at Lincoln. There is no emergency requiring quick action by the city. Those engineering the deal have been given months in which to make a study. The city should take its time. Studies now begun of possible economies and rates should be completed and carefully studied by everyone interested.

The present situation does not seem to call for haste. There is much that may be learned by waiting. No definite action at this time would seem to be to the advantage of the city in future negotiations. The city commissioners have properly deferred action. They will continue study of the situation and await developments. The municipal plant, they assure the people, will continue the property of the city.

No expert of any repute is willing to predict war between Italy and France over Tunisia and Corsica and yet there is an ominous mobilization of troops and a growing tension. France probably regrets now that more drastic action was not taken by Britain and herself when Italy invaded Ethiopia, or if not then, at least when Italian army units were moved en masse into Spain. If France and England had shown Dictator Mussolini, in either of these cases, that they did not propose to be trampled under foot, they would have avoided the present unfortunate turn of affairs and even, perhaps, the partition of Czechoslovakia.

The "Stop Roosevelt" rallying cry may be extremely effective. It is not possible to start a boom rolling and have it gain momentum continuously over a long period. But a drive to put obstacles in the path of a person seeking preferment or one already in a position of power is very often very effective. A drive of this kind may not only stop Roosevelt but may stop any sort of governmental progress during ensuing months.

China's open door has been slammed shut with a bang. The Japanese policy is Asia for the Asiatics, now that the nine-party treaty has been shelved by Japan. The Japs have taken action in connection with this treaty in the familiar manner of the totalitarian states. Treaties mean nothing if they stand in the way of a dictator controlled country's progress.

If the American delegates to the Lima conference listened to the radio on their trip down, they must have a complete assortment of advice on how to conduct themselves. Ever since the delegation set off the air has been filled with discussion of the problems involved and advice on how to solve them.

Young Anthony Eden told a large New York audience Friday nigh: that Britain stands for democracy. It has been noticed even from this distance that Britain stands by.

MORE OR LESS PERSONAL.

Senator Burke has announced that he will introduce a proposal for a constitutional amendment on the first day of the next congress limiting presidential tenure to a single term of six years. This is one of the answers of the anti-Roosevelt faction in the democratic party to the talk of a third term for the president. Mr. Burke says that he sees a trend toward more power for the chief executive and that limitation of the presidency to a single term of six years would combat that trend. It will be recalled that a few days ago it was announced from Washington that the president and his advisers were working out a new reorganization bill to be presented to the next congress. Serious defeats for the president in the past have been encountered in his sponsoring of a reorganization bill that would greatly increase the authority of the president and in his proposal to enlarge the supreme court membership.

The Nebraska senator is one of the leaders in the opposition to President Roosevelt and many of his new deal policies. The opposition has made a showing of surprising strength. It began with the circus-like boom for McNutt of Indiana, and was followed by the Missouri meeting to boost Senator Clark for the presidency and the Texas meeting designed to place Vice President Garner in the race.

The University of Omaha wants a new stadium. There has been considerable agitation looking toward securing such a property for the athletic department of that university. The board of regents, however, has announced that no tax moneys for the university will be used for that purpose. If a new stadium is to be built, it must be paid for out of the earnings of athletic events, unless, of course, some wealthy friend of the school desires to make a notable gift. Tax supported schools shy away from the use of tax money for athletic uses. They desire to avoid the criticism of the taxpaying public.

The supreme court did not mince words in the order entered Friday that the claim of a coal contractor against the county of Douglas be judicially investigated thru the vehicle of the action at bar. The coal company sued for $15,000 as the reasonable value of coal delivered and accepted. The county attorney admitted that it got the coal and that $15,000 was the reasonable market value. Naturally judgment was entered against the county. Later the county attorney asked for a new trial saying that he had just discovered excessive prices had been charged. The court said that he should have investigated that before trial and that having admitted the bill was correct he could not introduce evidence to contradict his defense.

Here is where the supreme court stepped in, the county having appealed. The court, in a finding so unusual as to be almost sensational, says that the county attorney, with the facts alleged in his possession, should have asked to have the judgment set aside on the ground of fraud. It adds that with this information before him it was the duty of the court, on his own motion, the county attorney having failed to ask for that remedy, to set aside the judgment as having been secured by fraud. Between ordinary litigants the courts would not have interfered, but it says interference is justified when the agents of the public fail to protect its interests.

The county board feels that it should have an opportunity to investigate the working personnel of the sewing center operated by the WPA before it spends additional money to increase the number of machines to be used. Recently the the city inspector notified the board that the load on the present wiring system is too heavy and should be extended if more machines are to be used. Thursday the WPA authorities notified the board that they could go ahead and investigate the remaining 150 employes after 102 had been cut off the list. The board feels that the county, contributing to the center, should have information as to the persons who are given work at any time and may ask that they be permitted to let their investigators also check up on the persons who are given employment in the future.

Local tax spending agencies are very much at the mercy of federal agencies and the taxpaying public foots the bills. The request of the county board is indicative of the general desire for a greater degree of home rule in cases where local money is spent than has been granted in the past. Of course the county could refuse to pay any bill, but in doing so it would invite discrimination against it and in favor of localities where the desires of federal agencies are not questioned.

FOOTNOTES.

Hard food, rather than soft, is a cause of tooth decay, at least among animals, Dr. Theodor Rosebury of the department of bacteriology of Columbia university told a general session of the Greater New York dental convention, reports the New York Times. Dr. Rosebury based his assertion, challenging generally accepted theory, on a series of experiments with the diets of more than 200 rats, as well as upon observations among the Eskimos of Alaska, where, he said, white man's food and decaying teeth have appeared at the same time. The the primary cause of tooth decay in man is as yet unknown, Dr. Rosebury said, among rats, which have molars similar to those of human beings, hard foods apparently bring about the condition by becoming impacted in the crevices of the teeth.

Detailing dietary experiments with rats, Dr. Rosebury specified as among the foods apparently responsible for decay "hard, compact carbohydrates, such as coarsely ground raw rice or corn or hard biscuit." Two groups of rats were used in the tests, he said, one fed on soft, finely ground and cooked foods, which exhibited no signs of tooth decay, and another on a diet of hard grains, with dextrin and spinach leaves.

"All these diets (of the second group) contained coarsely ground raw rice or corn and all of them produced experimental fissure caries in some degree," he said. "Since no caries was produced in the absence of such foods, we look upon the coarsely ground raw rice or corn as the primary cause of this type of experimental dental caries.

"Nevertheless, the foods which act as primary agents of fissure caries in rats do not seem to correspond with anything in human dietary. This is the missing link which, we believe, some of our more recent findings may have provided."

Among Alaskan Eskimos, Dr. Rosebury pointed out, the foods principally related to decay are sugar and a hard pilot biscuit, with the effects of a biscuit diet particularly significant "because it suggests a parallelism with our findings in experimental animals."

"Both foods are used in the largest amount at Esk, where the incidence of caries was highest, and little or not at all at Kepnuk, where the incidence of caries was lowest," he said. "The amount of sugar used at Esk, however, is not large. It is not as large as the amount of sugar we use, at least in the average.

"We feel that the importance of sugar in the etiology of dental caries probably can be discounted among these people, largely because at Esk they take sugar chiefly in solution in tea, and it seems unlikely that sugar in solution can act as a primary cause of dental caries."

The collection now includes all the European countries and parts of North America and the Orient.

Q. What is the Not Over Fifty club for motorists?

A. It is a non-profit organization of public spirited citizens who are pledged to reduce the killing and maiming of human beings on our streets and highways by driving their cars safely at all times and by limiting their maximum speed on open roads to 50 miles an hour. The club was organized on Sept. 9, 1935, by the Lumbermens Mutual Casualty company.

DAVID LAWRENCE.

WASHINGTON.—Something unique in public expression has appeared in the platform adopted by the congress of American industry conducted annually by the National Association of Manufacturers. It is a frank confession of error, and behind the making of it is an interesting and deeply significant story.

Here is the brief text of this all important formal resolution adopted by the manufacturers:

"America's progress depends upon a united effort of industry, commerce, agriculture and labor in co-operation with government. All of these groups have made mistakes, and we in industry admit our share. All have learned that there is a true harmony of interest between them, and there is a growing demand for intelligent teamwork. If these groups work together for future progress, more jobs and better living can be provided for the 30,000,000 American families."

Now, that sounds like a simple thing for an organization to say. But it is nevertheless true that there were some who wanted to omit saying it, or at least did not relish the frank acknowledgment of "mistakes." Yet in that very attitude of willingness to concede wrong may be the beginning of a really new era of co-operation. For the word "co-operation" has been used again and again without moving the conflicting groups closer together, largely because the groups were unwilling to revise previous courses of action.

The old saying that "confession is good for the soul" has unfortunately been applied as a rule mostly to personal behavior and personal morality when, as a matter of fact, it applies even more poignantly to groups and their leaders, who are responsible for the action of thousands of persons in their membership.

There can be no doubt that an uncompromising position on the part of groups and their leaders has in the last few years made it difficult to surmount the barriers to mutual understanding. Governmental groups have hesitated to admit error for fear of political effect. Leaders of national organizations have been reluctant to admit error for fear of the criticism of their own rank and file as well as outside groups.

But to err is human, and the frank confession of error is extremely helpful, not at all because it enables the critic to note those who have been responsible for mistakes and not at all because it gives anybody the satisfaction of saying "I told you so," but primarily because it is a sign that future courses of action are going to be corrected.

The fact that the manufacturers, for instance, admit their share of the mistakes made in the adjustment of our national economy can by itself have no more than an academic importance if it is only a pious recitation of a bit of unhappy economic history. It becomes of great constructive value, on the other hand, if it means that the same mistakes will not be made again and that a consciousness of the pitfalls of the past has been awakened.

Important, too, is the effect on other organizations. Will labor now frankly concede some of its mistakes? Will governmental leaders concede and recognize the impracticality of some of their schemes? Will agricultural groups be ready now to allow their programs to be weighed in the light of a national interest?

The profound effect of admission of error as a basic and fundamental step in the evolution of national policies can hardly be exaggerated. For it begins to reveal that, to solve the many complex problems in a democracy where volition rather than compulsion is the custom, there is a need for simple honesty in the negotiation and intercourse of groups with one another. Confession of error is thus a first step toward the establishment of an honest atmosphere. Pride sometimes impedes a revelation of error and pride is often a form of individual or group selfishness. When, therefore, the manufacturers and business leaders admit mistakes, they begin to tolerate other points of view than their own. If they now will follow that up with a recognition of what causes mistakes of policy to be made—as for instance, the preoccupation of business men with material rather than human factors—the task of persuading other groups to join in co-operative endeavors for the national good will be correspondingly made easier.

So, as the N. A. M. has begun in manly fashion to confess its business sins, it should be applauded for its courage and stimulated to go farther in order that, by power of example, other groups, governmental, labor, agriculture, will likewise confess to their self centered if not selfish approach and will join with the others in a new era of honest co-operation in the public interest.

THE PUBLIC MIND.

Correspondent Thinks Mr. Reckmeyer Has Gotten Somewhat Outside His Province.

SARGENT.—That Clarence Reckmeyer is an able and intelligent contributor to "Public Mind" I will concede. But he falls into error common to most of us in occasionally attempting discussion upon a subject with which he is unfamiliar. I refer to his article in The Journal wherein he states recent crop failures are erroneously blamed upon drouth when usually lack of soil fertility is the cause. At least this statement fails to apply thru much of the territory where your paper circulates.

Our prairie soils contain some of the most fertile soils in the world. They have been developed under moderate or low rainfall with favorable temperatures, which has and does tend to conserve their fertility and prevent leaching, tending also to prevent excessive crop removal. Over-fertility in the semi-arid regions is hazardous and often detrimental to crop production. For proof of this I would refer Mr. Reckmeyer to pages 680-681 of the current agricultural yearbook (a really splendid publication.)

As one goes east and south rainfall increases and fertility due to closely related factors tends to decrease until fertility rather than moisture plays the dominant role. Here locally we have some sandy soil of low fertility. We also have considerable of the heavier fertile type. Farmers residing on the former soils have in recent years harvested better crops than those residing on the last mentioned type or those who attempted to build up soil by leguminous rotation or manuring. Some of these better soils have this year been put under irrigation from the Loup river. We invite anyone who doubts the role moisture plays to come out and observe the wonderful production possible under irrigation and on the very soils where failures were total during the half dozen preceding years.

DR. BRADY'S HEALTH TALK.

Everyday Refined Diet Requires Supplementing.

Preceding articles have explained why it is essential that our modern diet, consisting largely of refined foods, must be supplemented with adequate daily rations of vitamin B complex in order to maintain anything like optimal health.

In recent years a socalled "smooth diet" has gained wide popularity in cases of peptic (gastric or duodenal) ulcer, intestinal trouble, deranged colon or, as many victims mistakenly call it, mucous colitis—which term is wrong because, first, mucus is not a cause of the trouble, and, second, there is generally no inflammation of the colon present.

To regard colon derangement, due to nutritional deficiency, as "mucous colitis" is perhaps not so serious a mistake, for the patient's welfare, as is the popular practice of adopting a smooth diet and, because the near invalid or actual invalid experiences less difficulty while following the diet, adhering to it for long periods. This ill advised or unadvised practice is accountable for progressive decline in health and vitality in many such cases.

The grave fault with the smooth diet, as a steady diet, is precisely the fault with the everyday refined diet, namely, that it fails to supply the essential vitamins. If the everyday refined diet on which a large proportion of the population subsists, is poor in vitamins, how much worse in that respect is the diet restricted to certain "smooth" foods, food from which various natural components have been carefully removed.

Several ounces of pure wheat germ, or a few ounces of dried brewers' yeast, or one or two ounces of rice polishings, or a combination of all three, if consumed every day, would fairly supplement the everyday refined diet in the essential vitamin B complex. These are the richest known natural sources of vitamin B-1, B-2 or G, and the various other entities or factors of vitamin B complex.

Just last Friday I published a hand received from a St. Louis correspondent, remarking at that time that some merry prankster had slipped over the immortal Mississippi Heart Hand on the unsuspecting contestants at a social duplicate game. I am glad to see that my guess proved correct. Note:

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: After mailing that hand in to you I found out that it was a joke played on us by one of the club members. I have another very interesting hand to submit, but am almost afraid to send it for fear it will turn out to be another prank. However, here it is: I was South.

"As soon as I passed I realized that I should have said four hearts, but my partner was the 'dictator type' and it is almost as much as your life is worth to take a bid away from him. When I laid down the dummy after a lead from East of his fourth best club I feared my partner was going to have a stroke, so I just sat with my eyes glued on the dummy, afraid to glance up.

"North won the opening lead with the club king and led the ace of hearts, East's king falling. The queen then caught the jack. The next lead was a small diamond and East passed it up, never dreaming that the ten spot on the board would hold the trick.

"After running all the hearts and discarding clubs and diamonds [except the ace] from his own hand North took the spade finesse and, lo and behold, ended up with seven no trump! I felt as if I had been given a reprieve from the death-house! —Mrs. B. P., St. Louis."

Well, all's well that ends well. I must say, however, that if I had let three no trump stand I would have been even more scared than my correspondent was. Moreover, holding the South cards, I would jump to four hearts over one no trump whether I was playing with Casper Milquetoast or Attila the Hun!

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE.

Within a few days, Kay received a letter from the Albany employment agency, together with a questionnaire and a request for two dollars. The letter was encouraging. It stated that there should be no difficulty in placing a person of her attainments in a lucrative position.

Kay lost no time in sending the agency her check for enrolment with the filled in form, then waited a whole week in an agony of suspense for something to happen.

Chuck in the meanwhile suddenly left the Sherman camp, and returned to Deweyton to take charge of the newly completed airplane factory. His absence at first was a distinct relief to Kay, but soon she began to feel miserably out of sorts with every one and everything about her. She laid it to Webb Taylor's insistent tagging of her, to the frivolity of the crowd, to the sun, the moon and stars—all but to the actual cause.

Deep in her heart, however, she knew what ailed her disposition, why she had so pessimistic an outlook upon life. It was Chuck's fault. He had left the camp without seeking her out, without bidding her goodbye. Yet why she should have expected him to do otherwise after the way she had treated him, she could not explain.

She only knew he should be here with her, that his road was her road, and that nothing but Chuck would ever be important to her. In shielding him from dishonor, she was being heroic, nearly unbearably so, but her love for him was beyond her control. It had come to her unbidden, it had remained with her, it would remain —always.

Webb was now a bigger nuisance than ever. He tried to be masterful and was only ridiculous; he criticised her every action, he was boastful. Two months! If she could only be lucky enough to find something to do in the business world during that period!

Desperate, Kay entered deeper and deeper into the ceaseless carousal of gayety at the lake. She danced, she swam, she rode surf boards, took trips in speeding motor boats over rough waters, she loved being in a sailboat during a squall. She tried to flirt but had no zest for it, she tried to read, but her mind refused to fasten on the printed words. The story people always came out so right in the end and she was feeling more and more now that her life could never come right in any end.

She at length received a letter from the agency, asking her to come immediately to Albany to meet a client who was looking for a hostess. Nothing further than that was explained in the letter, but it appealed to Kay as a heaven sent opportunity.

She was sparkling that night at dinner and announced her departure in the morning.

Webb Taylor glowered at her from across the table. For a worried second she thought he was going to say something unpleasant, but he only remarked, with a quiet mockery, "A heavy date at Deweyton, I presume."

Her old spirit flared up to meet his challenge. She had had enough of his jealous meddling.

"If it's important for you to know—I'm hoping to fill a business position."

Ohs and ahs came from around the table.

"Business?" Webb laughed but his eyes snapped. "What do you profess to know about business?"

He dashed out his cigaret and rose without excusing himself. Generally he was rude when angry.

Kay allowed him to leave the room without answering him, altho she was slightly perturbed by the way he was acting.

Gloria urged Kay to change her plans about leaving, but when Kay insisted that she must get into the business of making her own living, Gloria accepted the decision as final, was all sympathy, and sent her maid to Kay's room to pack her trunks.

M'LEMORE

Henry Finds Pedestrian Bag Limit Same

BY HENRY M'LEMORE.

HOLLYWOOD. (Copyright 1938 UP). It is surprising that there are as many celebrities in Hollywood as there are.

It is surprising that there are as many persons in Hollywood as there are.

It is surprising—but enough of this suspense; what I am trying to say is that what with the way automobiles are driven out here it is nothing short of miraculous that there are enough able bodied citizens to elect a mayor, fire chief and dog catcher.

Just about this time last year I wrote a story along these same lines, but the Hollywood motorists shrugged their shoulders, said "Let the sissy get out if he can't take it," and went on bagging the legal limit of pedestrians. Every driver is entitled to five pedestrians a year, and there is no stigma attached to hitting 'em while they are standing still. This is the only town I have ever been in where it is considered sporting to flush a pedestrian off the sidewalk.

The Only Reason.

The fact that Hollywood does not top the Indianapolis speedway for fatalities, is due to the remarkable skill of the pedestrian. He is wary as a wild turkey, faster than a fawn, and tougher than a rhino. As for jumping ability, many a kangaroo has returned to Australia in disgrace after jumping alongside a Hollywood citizen.

The traffic authorities, working in conjunction with Rube Goldberg and Joe Cook, have developed some really wonderful traffic gadgets. On one corner there will be a sedate set of red and green lights of the type we all know and love. On the next corner will be four arms, which fly out like cuckoos from a clock, to say "stop and go." These arms give no warning when they start taking their setting up exercises. A pedestrian starts in his simple, trusting way to cross the street on a "go" arm. Midway, caught in the rip tide, the "stop" arm flies into sight and he is fair game for everybody—the drivers who are still going on the "go" sign, and the drivers who have now started up on the "stop" sign.

If that sounds complicated to you, yet me lead you to the next corner where there are four stop signs, one for each intersection. There are never any "go" signs here, so everybody stops at the same time and starts at the same time, causing what Hollywood considers its finest confusion. Even the mousey type of pedestrian, who stays on the side walk at these places, is not safe. He is likely to get hit by flying fenders or hurtling hoods.

At some of the Hollywood corners the signals are equipped with sound, and what a sound! First there is a low buzz. This increases to a sinister whine and then progresses to a sound that has but one counterpart—an infernal machine under water. Only the very bravest pedestrians cross at these corners, because men who came out of the World war with medals and honors have been known to drop on their faces when the signals switch and the noise starts.

But my favorite corner, and the favorite of so many traffic connoisseurs, is the one where, for a reason that no one knows, there is a permanent red light one way, and a permanent green light the other. Men have grown old waiting for that light to change. To cross the red one is to experience the real and genuine "thrill of a lifetime." Because no one has ever made it clear across.

I am now leaving for the Trocadero where I help evenings in the parking lot. But I am going to ride my old horse, Rover, because the equestrian fatalities are not nearly as great as the pedestrian. If you don't hear from me dhy more you will know that —well, you oughta know by now.

BOARD OF CONTROL DEFERS ACTION ON OTHER TOURNAMENTS

Competing Quintets to Get More From District Contests.

BITNER IS CHAIRMAN

Lincoln was awarded the annual Nebraska state high school basketball championships and the golf, tennis and track meets by the board of control in session here Saturday.

The state basketball championships will be held at the Nebraska U. coliseum March 8-11 while the track, golf and tennis meets will be held May 12 to 13.

Scene of the wrestling and swimming championships was deferred and will be announced later, Secy. Lee Webb stated.

The board voted to submit an amendment to the school which would prevent high school players participating in all star games. The group also agreed upon a new financial setup in regard to district basketball tournaments. Under the revised plan the state association will receive 30 percent instead of 40 percent of the receipts; the host school will receive 15 percent instead of 20 percent while the participating teams will receive 55 percent instead of 40 percent.

J. R. Bitner of Fullerton was elected chairman of the board and W. E. Flake of Stanton, vice chairman.

BETHANY HOST TO WYMORE TOSSERS

Havelock Faces Alumni Five Tonight as Cage Season Gets Under Way.

SATURDAY'S SCHEDULE.

Wymore high at Bethany, 8 p. m.
Alumni at Havelock high, 8 p. m.

Bethany and Havelock high school basketball teams will shove off on their annual cage journey Saturday evening, the Maroons bumping into Wymore in what should be a topnotch contest and Havelock entertaining a strong Alumni quintet.

Coach Lyle Weyand's Bethany gang will be slight favorites to down the Zephyrs from Gage county. The Maroons have six lettermen back from last year's team that racked up a third straight class B state championship, including Max Young, high geared guard, and Dale Bradley, another smooth working guard.

Manny Segel's tribe is built around Lyle Mason, tall center, who dunked 26 points singlehanded a week ago as Blue Springs fell, 33 to 23. Other returning veterans include Ham Smith and Keith Stolldorf. Probable starting lineups:

Bethany		Wymore
Armstrong	f	Rudder
Collier	f	Smith
Therien	c	Mason
Bradley	g	Marvin
Young	g	Stolldorf

Coach Lawrence Teply's Shoptowners, one of the smallest teams in the state, will be forced to rely upon speed to down the grads.

Teply has four veterans returning, among them Bill Malone, high scorer who has been moved forward to center.

The Alumni quintet is expected to include such former stars as Bill Wilhelm, now battling for a position on the Nebraska Wesleyan team; Kenneth Carpenter, Dave Hulbert, Chick McNurlin, Bob Bauer and Dale Greenwade. Probable starting lineups:

Alumni		Havelock
McNurlin	f	Bullock
Wilhelm	f	DeBord
Bauer	c	Malone

CARROLL DISCUSSES 1938-39 CAGE CODE

Officials and Coaches Meet for Basketball Clinic at Nebraska U.

Over 100 coaches and officials heard Parke Carroll, sports writer and Big Six conference official, discuss the 1938-39 cage code at the Nebraska U. basketball clinic at the Student Union building Friday evening.

Carroll's interpretation of the rules was preceded by a discussion of officiating problems and qualifications.

Dick Pulliam, Grand Island, spoke on the subject of the high school official while, Coach Browne, in charge of the clinic, discussed briefly the results of a recent basketball questionaire submitted to the leading colleges in the country.

Saturday's all day program will be in charge of Coach Browne, Husker mentor, and Carl B. Hoy, South Dakota coach. Browne will stress offense at the morning session starting at 10 and Hoy, the problems of defense, at the afternoon meeting at 2 at the coliseum.

Alumni Quintet Plasters Links

A team composed of former Lincoln cage stars, who play under the banner of Parson's Drug in the City league, gave Coach Ralph Beechner's Red and Black basketball squad a lesson in the art of basket shooting and emerged on the long end of a 53 to 37 count in a practice game on the Whittier maples Saturday morning.

The tussle was arranged by Beechner in an effort to give his charges the kind of competition they will face during the regular season, especially in their initial mix with Omaha Central next Friday.

Fred Metheny and Floyd Wilkinson paced the losers with 24 points between them, Metheny collecting five buckets and a pair of free throws, with the lanky Wilkinson potting six baskets. Bill Jennings and Henry Retchel followed with three tallies apiece, while Tom Rice had trouble finding the mark, netting only one basket.

The alumni led 19 to 9 at the half, but were able to outscore their younger foes only 34 to 28 in the final half. Summary:

ALUMNI FIVE BUMPS JACKSON QUINT, 31-25

Crack Squad of Grads Pulls Away When Game Gets Wild and Wooly.

An experienced bunch of alumni that knew what to do when the game got into the wild and wooly stage gave Jackson high's cage team the old one-two Friday evening in the Uni Place gym, and walked off with a 31 to 25 decision. It was the first time in many years that the grads had won.

After the game, Coach Merritt Robson asserted, "They got quite a gang of boys together." And that explained it. The grads had plenty on the ball and did just about everything right.

Otto Leads Attack.

A one man show put on by diminutive Floyd Otto enabled the Alumni to grab an early lead and from then on in they never trailed. Waldo Winter potted a pair of side efforts, and the quarter ended, 8 to 7. Ralph Bowmaster went to work in the second period, and Otto and Hitme count was 13 to 9.

The third quarter was the showdown. Winter narrowed the margin to 19 to 16, but then the grads applied the power and scooted off to a 27 to 18 lead at the bell. The Cardinals rallied in the fourth period but couldn't gain enough momentum.

Otto and Dale Bellgman were the ringleaders of the Alumni attack, each accumulating eight markers, Waldo Winter, a vastly improved player, led his mates with ten.

Jackson reserves copped the opener from an older group of Alumni, 33 to 18. Bob Herman led the way for the winners with five points, while Neil Allen pushed in eight for the losers. Summary:

STATE PREP SCHOOLS APPROVE INSURANCE

Mutual Benefit Association to Be Authorized If Enough Support.

That group insurance for high school athletes is meeting with favor in Nebraska was disclosed at the annual delegate assembly Friday when that body authorized a committee to investigate a mutual benefit plan to be put into use at the start of the next fall term.

If a sufficient number of schools agree to insure their athletes a mutual benefit association will be authorized and put into service by the Nebraska High School Athletic association office in Lincoln.

Fourteen states already have adopted some form of insurance for high school athletes.

The group also endorsed an amendment which prohibits high school boys from competing in all star games and elected to submit an amendment to the schools to change the present setup of qualifying track meets to a district plan.

BOWLING.

FEDERAL LEAGUE.

High scoring was confined to one game Friday night as Executive won an odd match decision over Treasury Examiners. Treasury dropped 812 plus for high team game, while Executive's team series was 2,411. Manley contributed a 257 game and a 685 series to the winning score. Treasury Administration won two from Treasury Accounts, Loan Certification took the deciding match from Administration Audit. Employment declared Compensation, Budget and Control rallied to edge out Statistics, and Operations nosed out Finance.

NEBRASKA OPENING CAGE SEASON WITH SOUTH DAKOTA FIVE

Rube Hoy's Team Splits Two Contests With Gophers, Eastern Normal.

INVADERS HAVE VETS

BY WALTER E. DOBBINS.

With two games already under their belts, Coach Carl B. Hoy's South Dakota U. quintet will invade Cornhuskerland Saturday night to inaugurate Nebraska U.'s 1938-39 cage season. The game will start at 8 p. m. at the coliseum.

The Coyotes defeated Eastern Normal in their first start but dipped their colors to Minnesota. Nebraska, making its debut, is pinning its hopes on three veterans —Alton Werner, Bob Elliott and Bill Kovanda—and a pair of flashy sophomores—Don Fitz and Al Randall.

Jimmy Taylor, diminutive forward from Hastings, is ineligible for the Dakota skirmish and possibly for the season.

Top Ten Men.

At this writng, Coach Browne probably considers his top ten men as Fitz, Randall, Werner, Kovanda, Elliott, Thomas, Pitcaithley, Tallman, Grimm and Therien, Duncan or Jackson.

Three games in addition to the South Dakota battle are on the home slate before Nebraska takes off for the Pacific coast on its holiday jaunt. Bradley Tech from Peoria, Ill., comes here next Saturday followed by Minnesota and Wyoming on Dec. 21 and 23, respectively.

Nebraska opens its conference season with Kansas here, Jan. 14.

Maynard Ingalls, senior and forward on the Coyote quint, is one of the scoring leaders in the middlewest. The rest of Coach Hoy's starting five are experienced performers. The probable lineups:

Nebraska		So. Dakota
Werner (sc)	f	Ingalls
Kovanda	f	Snilder
Randall	c	Jacobsen
Fitz	g	Taplett
Elliott	g	Eaberg

Officials: Parke Carroll, Kansas City, referee; Dick Pulliam, Grand Island, umpire.

TOLES WINS DECISION BUT FAILS TO IMPRESS

Detroit Negro Has Gunnar Barlund Helpless But Can't Land K. O.

NEW YORK. (UP). Roscoe Toles, Detroit Negro heavyweight, has regained a little of his lost ring prestige.

Toles, upset about a month ago in Philadelphia by little known Willie Reddish, wanted to make a smashing comeback Friday night against Gunnar Barlund of Finland, a promising heavyweight until he ran into young Lou Nova recently.

The Detroit battler won a ten round decision before a crowd of 5,000 but he was unimpressive.

A powerful hitter, Toles battered the blond Finn thruout, but was unable to score a knockout even tho the Gunnar was virtually helpless during the last five rounds.

Barlund, altho bleeding profusely from a long gash at the corner of his right eye, was on the floor only once—and that trip to the canvas was only a semi-knockdown. He tripped on his own feet while rolling away from a left jab.

Toles demonstrated plenty of punching power but he was awkward. The decision was unanimous. The United Press score sheet showed nine rounds for Toles and one, the fourth, even. The only round in which Barlund was superior was the third and he lost that because of low blows.

Toles weighed 196¾, Barlund 197½.

WEYAND AWARDS 22 FOOTBALL LETTERS AT BETHANY DINNER

Coach Lyle Weyand presented 22 members of his 1938 Bethany high school undefeated, untied team with letters Friday evening at the annual gridiron dinner. Student Manager Joe Farrell also received a certificate.

Monograms were awarded to Lowell Armstrong, Dale Bradley, Russell Therien, Eugene Cottier, Robert Gilmore, Marvin Martin, Robert Johnson, Gerald Spirk, Horace Lang, Ray Smith, Les Hastings, Max Young, Mark Henderson, Robert Watson, Jimmy Townsend, Oliver Wenzel, Phillip Lyons, Jack Brown, Harold Showalter, Wendell Carter, and Bertrand Turnwall.

Miss Phyllis Beatty was elected football queen, replacing Mary Chase.

Emory Priefert awarded his reserve football team with letters, and cheerleaders Phyllis Beatty, Doris McClurg and Naomi Nye were also given certificates.

A CAT'S VISION. A German professor in 1931 established the actual sensitivity of a cat's vision in the dark as being 40 times that of man. That means that a cat's eyes are sensitive to the light that reaches us from the stars of the last magnitude, light so faint that it would make no impression upon the most highly sensitized photographic plate.

Max Remains Uncrowned King of Baer Family, Bulletin Proves

BY JOHN LARDNER.

Copyright, 1938, by the NANA (The Lincoln Journal and other newspapers.)

NEW YORK.—Picking his spot carefully, when the silence in the fight business was so thick you could cut it with a dirty look, Maxwelton Baer, the bonny butcher boy of Livermore, Calif., announced this week that he was prepared to remove Lou Nova's appendix with his bare hands at any time convenient to all parties.

This bulletin is fraught with deep significance, if nothing else, for several reasons, i. e:

1. It shows that Maxie is still alive.

2. It shows that the retired cattle heckler is in good voice. Mr. Baer is the only man in the world who can pin you against a wall and clutch your coat lapel from a distance of 3,000 miles with a telegraph blank.

3. It shows that Max has already picked the winner of next Friday's fight between Lou Nova and Tommy Farr. The survivor of this 15 round difference of opinion is booked to meet Mr. Baer for the ultimate privilege of paying Joe Louis' income tax for 1939.

Max Again Champion.

4. It shows that Max has reclaimed the heavyweight championship of the Baer family. This title has never been formally recognized, but Maxie is the uncrowned king of the division, all right, in view of the fact that his brother Augustus, better known as Buddy, submitted to surgery at the hands of Gunnar Barlund some time back.

Before he subjected himself to the Finn's blunt chisel, Buddy was beginning to be regarded as the best of the Baers. You can call that a hollow compliment, if you like, but a hollow compliment makes a nice home for a family of squirrels in a pinch, showing that there is a use for everything in mother nature's great scheme.

CARDS DRAFT THREE PANTHERS, ALDRICH

Pro League Cellar Dwellers Get Choice of 1938 College Crop.

BROCK AND MILLS.

Charley Brock, center from Nebraska, was drafted by the Green Bay Packers, while the New York Giants picked Bob Mills, Husker tackle.

NEW YORK. (AP). The Chicago Cardinals, last in the Western division of the National Football league, drafted four of the year's outstanding college stars, three of them from the University of Pittsburgh.

The draft, which gives the pro teams exclusive rights to negotiate with the players selected, gave to the Cardinals Marshall Goldberg, Pitt's All America fullback, Ki Aldrich, T. C. U.'s All America center, and Harold Stebbins, back, and Bill Daddio, end, also of Pitt.

The Chicago Bears got Bill Osmanski, Holy Cross fullback, and Joe Delaney, his tackle teammate; John Wysocki, brilliant Villanova end, and Sid Luckman, Columbia's versatile star.

Johnny Pingel, another All America back from Michigan State, went to the Detroit Lions and I. B. Hale, T. C. U. tackle, to the Washington Redskins.

FRED DALE ELECTED HEAD NORMAL LOOP

Annual Track Meet Will Be Held at Wayne on Friday, May 12.

Fred G. Dale, Wayne State Teachers college, was elected president of the Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic conference at the annual winter meeting of the loop Saturday at the Lincoln Y. M. C. A.

Other officers elected were J. A. Jimmerson, Peru State Teachers, vice president and Charles Apel, Kearney State Teachers, secretary-treasurer. Apel succeeds M. S. Pate, also of Kearney, who had been secretary of the conference since 1916.

Wayne was awarded the 1938 track championship and will be the scene of the 1939 meet on Friday, May 12. No award was made in football as Kearney and Wayne tied for the title. Altho Peru won the basketball championship, no official award was made due to the fact that the Bobcats did not qualify in the number of conference games played.

MARINE OFFICER TO COACH NAVY ELEVEN

Captain Larson, Graduate of Annapolis, to Direct Its Team.

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP). Capt. E. W. McKee, director of athletics at the United States naval academy, announced the appointment of Capt. Emery E. "Swede" Larson, U. S. marine corps, as Navy's head football coach for 1939.

Capt. Larson, commander of the Marine detachment at the academy, succeeds Lieut. H. J. "Hank" Hardwick, who will return to sea duty at his own request after coaching the Navy squad for the past two years.

A graduate of the academy in the class of 1922, Larson becomes the frist marine officer ever to coach a Navy football team. In his appointment, the Navy retained its custom of naming academy graduates as head football coach.

NEW YORK (AP) Stocks dug in for a modest rally Saturday with market leaders retrieving fractions to a point or so recent losses Activity picked up a bit on the comeback altho the pace never inconvenienced the ticker tape Transfers were around 450,000 shares for the two hours There was little change in the business picture, which continued moderately cheerful for the long term, but foreign tension seemed to have lessened a bit as a market brake and the notable drying up of tax selling in the past several sessions was thought to have attracted some traders to the buying side

Steels, aircrafts, motors, mail orders and specialties were favored the greater part of the time, altho none stepped very far out in front Rails and utilities hugged a slim groove There were a few fair sized losers in evidence at the close

Steels had to contend with forecasts of another slip up in mill operations next week but a decline would not be surprising in the financial district in view of slackening specifications prompted by inventory periods as the year ends Automotive shares were aided by comments of General Motors officials that this concern probably would maintain its November production rate of 200 000 units thruout December This would represent the second largest December output in the history of the corporation

Wall street seemed pleased with Dalladier s victory in the chamber of deputies, the apparent subsiding of French labor troubles and indications Italian anti-French demonstrations were waning

The federal reserve board disclosed department store sales in the week ended Dec 3 stepped up to within 2 percent of the level for the same week a year ago In four of the reserve districts sales were equal in dollar volume to those of the 1937 week ends Boston showed an 11 percent gain over the preceding year

Improvement in revenues for a number of transportation systems was seen in estimates that southern Railway for November piled up a total of approximately $350 000 the fourth successive month in which the road had a balance after all charges

GRAIN PRICES OFF A SHADE

Moisture Hinted for Winter Belt—Profits Cashed.

CHICAGO (AP) Grain prices backed down slightly Saturday from the crest of a recent upturn which has carried wheat and corn values to the best levels in one or two months Profit taking was a factor but a forecast for unsettled weather in the winter wheat belt over the week end had some effect on selling Trade was quiet, however, and the reaction revived support at fractional net declines

Wheat closed ⅛ to ⅜c lower, Dec 64⅛@68¼c, May 67@67⅛c, corn unchanged to ⅜c down, Dec 51c, May 52⅞@52c, oats ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher

Selling was attracted by the recent 3 cent advance in wheat from 1938 lows and the highest corn quotations since September Traders here took the hint to sell from a ½ to ⅝c decline at Liverpool which reflected reduced miller inquiry The British market however was steadied by reports of unprecedented shedding of unharvested wheat in Victoria province Australia as a result of hot winds Drouth also was reported in northwest India No domestic export Wheat business was reported but sales from the Canadian Pacific coast were estimated at 200 000 to 300 000 bushels

The corn market s recent strength derived from aggressive export demand dwindling supplies in Argentina and operation of the ever normal granary program in this country It has helped to sustain wheat prices traders said Argentine corn advanced more than a cent Saturday but this was ignored here because the recent bulge in Chicago was believed to have reflected for the time being the much improved demand for domestic corn Oats and rye prices showed very little change and trading was quiet

GRAIN NOTES.

CHICAGO (AP) The Modern Miller says Dry weather continues over a large part of the winter wheat belt east of the rockies The crop is reported as deteriorating in parts of Nebraska Kansas Oklahoma and Texas and unless moisture is received shortly a downward revision will be necessary next spring due to low condition The situation in dry areas east of the Mississippi river leaves much also to be desired

Fay Templeton of Thompson McKinnon says Many traders hesitate to buy our corn based mainly on the fact that it is selling as close to wheat We cannot see that it as overvalued in that respect when importing countries are paying practically the same price for 60 lbs of U S No 2 yellow corn at Liverpool as is being paid for 60 lbs of the highest quality wheat in the world Canadian No 1 Manitoba and 10 cents more than 60 lbs of the highest quality U S wheat No 2 dark hard is being offered at C I F Liverpool

LIVERPOOL WHEAT AND COTTON

LIVERPOOL (AP) A late recovery in cotton futures put prices ahead for final week gains of ½ point to 1 point in trade calling and local covering developed an early sympathetic decline with the Egyptian market was cancelled

General realizing in wheat futures followed disappointing action of Chicago prices Friday and values were off ½d to ¾d at the close Milling inquiry was smaller Unfavorable Indian and Australian crop reports improved the market s tone in late trading

HEARS SISTER IN HALL AND BECKONS HER TO COME IN UNWRAPS PRESENT AND DISPLAYS IT BUT WON'T LET HER HANDLE IT
NOTICES THAT IT IS GETTING DIRTY AND TRIES TO CLEAN IT OFF ON SLEEVE, WHICH MAKES THINGS WORSE
CAN'T RESIST SHOWING IT TO FATHER WHEN HE COMES HOME
WRAPS IT UP AND TUCKS IT AWAY, EXAMINING IT DAILY SO THAT BY CHRISTMAS CALENDAR LOOKS LIKE AN HEIRLOOM

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND by EDWARD A. WILLIAMS

CAN YOU INCREASE YOUR POWERS OF OBSERVATION BY CAREFULLY NOTICING EVERYTHING? YOUR OPINION—
3 IF A YOUNG MAN PLANS TO SPECIALIZE IN SOME SUBJECT, SHOULD HE BEGIN BY SPECIALIZING IN IT? YOUR OPINION—
1 IS IT HARDER TO GET A WIFE'S HONEST OPINION ON AN IMPORTANT SUBJECT THAN A HUSBAND'S? YES OR NO—

1 It is except where women wear the—uh—symbols of authority. The average wife is more or less influenced by her husband and what he thinks, and in most matters she feels, even when her real opinions may run contrary to his, she must stand with him or she may injure his standing with his employers or customers The average wife's opinions have usually been greatly influenced by her husband's opinions because this is still largely a man's world

2 Probably not You can apparently only increase your habit of observing particular things When traveling you can develop the habit of observing—and then reviewing—the important things along the journey, instead of spending your time chatting or reading etc The doctor builds up the habit of observing symptoms of disease in everyone he meets but this seems not to improve his observation of financial or legal or political facts or objects in nature It appears that you merely build up a train of habits in one or more special fields but not that your powers of observation in general have been improved

3 No If he does he will never become a good specialist All great things are done by spectators, but they are men and women who have first gained a broad view of human knowledge and then an all-round knowledge of their own field before selecting their particular line of work Even a barber who knows nothing but cutting hair and shaving will always be a poor barber A doctor who had studied only the tonsils would be a highly dangerous man for doctoring tonsils

TARZAN ELEPHANT MEN

Valthor looked out over the sea of humanity swaying atop the lumbering pachyderms "It is a shame to send these inexperienced slaves against a murderous wild elephant," he said "In the old days only we nobles who are true elephant men, rode to the hunt"

"Hi-yah!" a warrior ahead shouted suddenly 'They've sighted the quarry," Valthor explained to Wood, who rode at his side Presently they too saw an elephant emerging from a bamboo forest, a mammoth beast with one great tusk much darker than the other

Valthor whistled "I never saw a bigger one, and he looks as if he might do some real damage Watch out for yourself, Wood! Just keep out of his way, no matter what the guards tell you to do Make believe you can't control your elephant Look at him!"

The huge beast lumbered straight toward the hunters, apparently without fear "He's a bad one, right enough'" Valthor declared Wood nodded agreement, and, as if in confirmation, up went the big beast's trunk He trumpeted angrily. He was about to charge!
